

THE NAPANEE

Vol. XLVII] No 49 -E. J. POLLARD, Editor and Proprietor.

NAPANEE, ONT., CANADA

Robert Light

Manufacturer and Dealer in Lumber, Lath,

Shingles,
Cedar Posts and Stakes, Patent Roofing, Hardwood Flooring.

Doors, Sash,
Blinds,
Mouldings,
Verandah Columns, Stairs and Brackets, and Interior Finish.

Machine Work Done Promptly.

Telephone 53.

Carriage Repair Shop.

Mr. W. J. Normile wishes to announce that he has opened a Carriage Repair Shop for

All kinds of Buggy and Wagon Repairing.

SEWING MACHINE NEEDLES, and supplies for all makes of machines.

at Webster & Boyes old stand W. J. NORMILE, Prop.

OPPORTUNITY. KINGSTON BUSINESS COLLEGE Limited.

KINGSTON, CANADA,
25th Year.

Canada's Leading Business School.
Practical, Progressive, Permanent.
Book-keeping, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraphy, Civil Service.

Special rates to the first twenty-five registering for the Fall or Winter term.
Write or call for particulars.

H. F. METCALFE, J. E. CUNNINGHAM, President. Secretary.

Eyes Tested
Free.

Public Health Notice (Boil the Water.)

For many reasons a number of wells in the town are contaminated and the water in them is totally unfit for use unless it is first boiled. The Board of Health therefore wishes to give notice that all well water should be boiled before being used. The Board also wishes to notify the physicians in the town that all cases of typhoid fever, attended by them must be reported promptly to the Secretary of the Board, and also the source of the infection, wherever it is possible to locate it, in order that the matter may be investigated.

P. GLEESON,

Chairman Board of Health

Dated Nov. 19th, 1908.

49c

Public Health Notice (Small-Pox)

The attention of the public is hereby called to the prevalence of smallpox in the City of Kingston and as a precautionary measure against the spread of the contagion to Napanee and the vicinity, the Board of Health wishes to give notice that the greatest care should be exercised in visiting the infected district, and as a further precautionary measure, the Board would also recommend that all those who have not been vaccinated in recent years, be vaccinated without delay.

P. GLEESON,

Chairman Board of Health

Dated Nov. 17th, 1908

49c

YOUNG MEN and WOMEN!

A Modern Business Education will increase your earning power and make you independent for life.

—THE—

Montreal

Horticultural Society

The Annual Meeting of the Horticultural Society of Napanee, will be held in the Board Room of the Public Library, on TUESDAY EVENING,

DECEMBER 1st, 1908,

at 7.30 o'clock.

The meeting is for the purpose of electing officers and general business, and a full attendance is requested.

JANE E. HAM,
Secretary-Treasurer.

NOTICE OF MEETING.

The County Council

of Lennox and Addington will meet at the Council Chambers, in the Court House, Napanee, on Tuesday, 24th Nov., 1908, at 2 o'clock p.m.

at the call of the Warden.

All accounts must be in the hands of the undersigned, not later than Wednesday, 25th November, 1908, in order that they may be considered.

W. G. WILSON,

County Clerk.

Dated Nov. 9th, 1908.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Public Notice is hereby given that the Council of the Municipality of Denbigh, Abinger and Ashby, in the County of Lennox and Addington, at their next meeting, to be held at the Denbigh House, on SATURDAY, THE FIFTH DAY OF DECEMBER next, intend to pass a by-law authorizing them to sell the unused road allowances crossing or adjoining lots number thirty-four in the seventh, eighth, and ninth concessions of the Township of Denbigh, and lots number one in the seventh, eighth and ninth concession of the township of Ashby.

Any persons objecting to the sale of said road allowances will have to file their objections with the undersigned on or before the Fourth day of December, 1908.

Dated at Denbigh this 4th day of Nov. A. D., 1908.

PAUL STEIN,

Clerk Denbigh, Abinger and Ashby

FAIR VIEW.

Farmers have got their ploughing pretty well under way.

Charles Weese is building a new drivehouse on the Hinch property. Mr. Hodson has moved and is papering his house.

Mrs. Bartley is in Kingston with her daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Bell, who has been very ill.

Mrs. Samuel McNeish and family visited at Mr. Hamby's, Hay Bay, last week.

Robert Hodson is building a drivehouse for Thomas Clancy, near Violet.

Cod Liver Oil Emulsion.

Howard's Emulsion contains fully 50 per cent. pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, and is one of the best Emulsions made, not only that, but it is put up in 25 cent trial sizes. We also have Howard's Pure Oil in 25 cent bottles at Wallace's Red Cross Drug Store.

DESERONTO ROAD.

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chamber,
November 16th, 1908.

Council met in regular session on Monday evening, Mayor H. Meng presiding.

Present—Reeve Symington and Councillors Alexander, Denison, Osborne, Kimmerly, Steacy.

The minutes of the last regular session were read and confirmed.

A communication was received from the Excelsior Fire Brigade, asking for their annual remuneration. Laid on the table until later in the evening.

Moved by Reeve Symington, seconded by Coun. Denison, that the East street sewer, at the northern end, be taken up and excavated to a lower depth in order that residents in that locality may drain into it.

Moved in amendment by Coun. Kimmerly, seconded by Coun. Osborne, that the question be laid over until next session of Council, and that the Steets Committee furnish further information. Carried.

Councillor Simpson entered.

Moved by Reeve Symington, seconded by Coun. Denison, that the sum of $1000.00 be added to the appropriation of the Streets Committee. Carried.

Moved by Reeve Symington, seconded by Coun. Simpson, that the town treasurer give the county treasurer a credit note for $16 for timber purchased from the county for use in town crossings. Carried.

The Fire Water and Light Committee asked for and was granted further time to report on the question of the purchase of a hose wagon for the fire brigade.

The Police Committee asked for and was granted further time to report on the question of an increase in salary asked for by Mr. E. B. Perry, night-watch.

The Poor and Sanitary Committee reported that Mr. John Wickham had been taken to the House of Providence, and that William Appleby would also be sent there on Tuesday. They also reported that Mr. Herb Lasher, who is ill with typhoid fever, had applied for assistance.

Moved by Reeve Symington, seconded by Coun. Simpson, that H. Lasher be transferred to the Kingston General Hospital at the expense of the town. Carried.

The Finance Committee reported that they had investigated the case of Mrs. Irish, confined in the asylum at Kingston, and found that she came to Napanee from Yarker in April last, and was insane at the time of her removal here, and consequently the Township of Camden was responsible for cost of her maintenance in the above mentioned institution. They had consulted the solicitor in reference to account of Ira Jaynes, and recommended that the sum of $1.00 be tendered him in full of account. Re Collector Rankin's account the committee recommended payment, less $28.50, the cost of bonds which Mr. Rankin had to furnish.

The report was taken up clause by clause and adopted, with the exception of the last one, which was referred back to the Committee. The division of the council on the last clause was as follows:

Yeas—Simpson, Alexander, Symington, Denison—4.

Nays—Osborne, Steacy, Kimmerly, Meng—4.

Moved by Coun. Osborne, seconded by Coun. Denison, that the isolation hospital be cleaned out and the roof repaired. Lost.

Eyes Tested
Free.

EXPERT OPTICIAN

Newest Frames.

F. CHINNECK'S

Jewellery Store.

Near Royal Hotel.
Good Quality Store.

China Sale

Last summer we were fortunate enough to secure all the samples of Fine Japanese

China

from the largest importers in Canada, viz, Geo. R. Grigg & Co., and notwithstanding we marked these goods very low—in many cases the regular wholesale price.—We are prepared to give any Japanese Article in the store. Call while our stock is complete and select some lovely goods.

25 Per Cent. Off

A. E. PAUL

The Wallpaper Man.

Next Cambridge's.

APPLES WANTED!

Collier Bros'.
Evaporator

is now running for the season.

Highest Price Paid for Evaporating Apples.

Evaporator near Reindeer Dock.

COLLIER BROS.

41

Lax-ets 5 C Sweet to Eat
A Candy & Laxative.

YOUNG MEN and WOMEN!

A Modern Business Education will increase your earning power and make you independent for life.

—THE—

Frontenac
Business College

Kingston, Ont.

Is a High-Grade Institution, giving thorough and practical courses in all Commercial branches. Students may enter at anytime of the year. Rates are very moderate. Write for our catalog and full particulars.

T. N. STOCKDALE, Prin.

Look at This offer by a responsible financial firm in Toronto.

An opportunity to invest your spare cash in small amounts of $50.00 and upwards.

This will let you in on an investment where you make all there is to be made and you take the place of the man who has always been on the ground floor. It's as Lawson says: "giving the people a square deal."

This opportunity will not last long so act quickly.

All replies will reach us through this paper.

BOX 622.

TO MY WALLPAPER FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS.

I wish to thank you for your past patronage and hope that I have given you good satisfaction and you are satisfied with my WALL PAPERS in regard to Fast Colors and the length of rolls, and the way that I have served you, I hope that I will see all your smiling faces at my store looking for Lloyd's Wallpapers, as they are the best money can buy.

JUST A WORD

I have a good many Samples of 21 inch Paper, meaning a great saving, also

I still sell the Border
by the Roll.

If you do not see my PAPERS you will be sorry when you see your neighbours.

GOT AT

LLOYD'S
OLD STAND.

Eight persons were killed and ten wounded in a fight with a negro desperado at Okmulgee, Ohio.

For Heaves in Horses.

Red Cross Heave Cure, will relieve quickly and finally effect a cure. 15c a quarter pound at Wallace's Drug Store.

Cod Liver Oil Emulsion.

Howard's Emulsion contains fully 50 per cent, pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, and is one of the best Emulsions made, not only that, but it is put up in 25 cent trial sizes. We also have Howard's Pure Oil in 25 cent bottles at Wallace's Red Cross Drug Store.

DESERONTO ROAD.

A quiet wedding took place at the Trinity Church parsonage, Nanapanee, quite recently, when Miss Pearl Kimmerly of this road, daughter of Mr. Austin Kimmerly, was married to Mr. Henry Clement, of Hawley.

A surprise party numbering between thirty and forty arrived at the home of Mr. Austin Kimmerly, on Wednesday evening of last week in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Henry Clement and gave her a kitchen shower of useful articles. A most enjoyable evening was spent by all, the party breaking up shortly after midnight.

Messrs. Grooms and Reeve have finished their season's milk drawing and gone to ploughing.

Mr. C. D. Thompson spent Thanksgiving in the west.

Mr. Billy Madole is at present helping Mr. Henry Clement of Hawley with his fall work.

Mr. William Joyce attended the sale recently held at the Fretts farm, north of Nanapanee.

Alfred Keech and family have moved in with D. M. Kimmerly for the winter. Quite a heavy snow storm visited this locality on Monday and from all appearances winter has fairly set in. Rumor says another wedding soon.

Coughs, colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Cresolene Tablets, ten cents per box. All druggists.

MAPLE AVENUE.

On Friday, Nov. 13th, Mrs. Damon Amey passed away after several months' illness. A husband and two daughters, Mrs. Walton Davey and Mrs. Ross Paul, survive. The funeral service was held on Sunday morning at Odessa, in the Methodist church, by the Rev. Mr. McCamus.

Mrs. William Frink spent last week at D. Amey's.

A number from here attended the Thanksgiving dance at Odessa last Monday night.

Mrs. Elgin Parrott spent a few days at her father's, A. Burgess.

Peter McDonald at Alva Snider's for the past few years, left last week for his new home at James Dawson's, Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hartman have moved to their new home at Camden East.

D. Lucas made a business trip to Silville last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Parks spent Monday at Ira Amey's.

Miss Lulu Burgess and Mr. Roberts, Sydenham, and Miss Effa Lucas and William Lake spent Sunday the guests of Miss Willana Clark, Hemlock Grove.

Mr. Decker, Odessa, and Mr. Gumprecht, of Peterboro, spent Monday at Alva Snider's.

WON HIS CASE.

Doctors Said He Must Die, But He Rallied Under South American Kidney Cure, and Diabetes Was Absolutely Curd.

A prominent legal light in a Canadian Western town treated and dieted for years for what the doctors diagnosed an incurable case of diabetes. He became so bad that he had to quit his practice, other complications setting in, and his sufferings were most intense. Almost as a last resort he tried South American Kidney Cure, and, to his own surprise, immediately began to improve. This is over a year ago. He continued taking this greatest of all kidney specifics, and today he is a well man. (20)

Sold by T. B. Wallace

on the last one, which was referred back to the Committee, the action of the council on the last clause was as follows:

Yeas—Simpson, Alexander, Symington, Denison—4.

Nays—Osborne, Steacy, Kimmerly, Meng—4.

Moved by Coun. Osborne, seconded by Coun. Denison, that the isolation hospital be cleaned out and the roof repaired. Lost.

The collector handed into the council a list of names of persons who had paid taxes on income, for which, owing to a change in the statutes, they were not liable, and on motion the clerk was instructed to enter the several amounts upon the pay sheet in order that the amounts might be returned.

Messrs. F. Chenoweth and E. L. Kenney, appeared before the council on behalf of the Choral Society and asked for the use of the town hall one night a week on the same terms as they had it last season.

Moved by Reeve Symington, seconded by Coun. Simpson, that the Choral Society be allowed the use of the town hall one night a week, said night not to conflict with any other dates which might be made for the use of the hall, and that Mayor Meng be given power to fix the remuneration. Carried.

The request of the Fire Brigade was granted.

ACCOUNTS

The following accounts were dealt with:

L. Vandewater, account of $5, for damage to horse and rig, caused by improper covering of gas main on Bridge street: referred to Streets Committee to report; John S. Chatterson, carriage for taking John Wickham to Kingston, $3.50, paid; J. L. Boyes, clothing for J. Wickham, $1.70, paid; J. G. Oliver, goods for poor, $25.50, paid; W. H. Kelly, goods for poor, $30.50, paid; S. W. Pringle rent for Wickham house, $2.00, $1.50 ordered paid as house had only been occupied one week over month; Canadian Rubber Co., for ten firemen's coats, $50.65, paid; Boyle & Son, $42.95, referred to Town Property Committee to report; Bell Telephone Co. police messages, $4.50, referred to Police Committee to report.

Moved by Reeve Symington, seconded by Coun. Kimmerly, that provided Mr. Thompson takes his team of horses from the fire hall, the Fire Water and Light Committee be empowered to make arrangements for securing a horse to be left at the fire hall. Carried.

Council adjourned.

Lamp Season.

This dark dull weather brings lamps into use. You may as well have a choice, we can show you hundreds of different styles made by the best in the world. All prices from 25c to $25.00.

BOYLE & SON,

A farm hand named Smith, residing near Bath, was at the Kingston police station Wednesday, and was certainly in a heap of trouble, and after careful consideration he decided to come to the police station and seek aid. Smith said that some days ago his wife left him without any just reason, and went to Kingston to live. He said that she changed her name when she went to the city, taking up residence on Division street. The forsaken hubby stated that he had used every means in his power to get her back but all to no avail, and he wanted the police to help him. The chief informed him that they could not force the woman to return if she did not want to, but they would go up and see what was the matter. P. C. Arniel was chosen as peacemaker and with the anxious husband he left for the woman's home to see what he could do about settling the family troubles. The man told the police that he was earning $20 a month and had been quite happy for some time. He could not understand why his better half took French leave.

When in a Hurry.

As people often are when there's sickness in the home, just telephone or send to Wallace's Drug Store, our special messenger will deliver the medicine to you very promptly.

Mr. (Method Rev. N. Arden. Miss guest o Mr. l in Ent Mrs. urday, mother Mrs. few you in honc of Marl Mrs. noon te Mission Mees called c Friday Mr. Sunday Myrtle Mr. l one day Mr. home o Mr. Wl Mace h gratula The (Fred H

Ther on Satu A. F Milling Colebro horse g able an street i Alex. R much d N. W Mrs. law's, v Earl improvi Mrs. sick list to be ot Mr. visiting Mr. a Salisbu Miss man we

In Ever Myrr it's Wa in ever teeth at brush w Wallace

Mrs. from ti with h who hi pendic Johr lumber Rev. preach the Fr Mrs. at Mrs M. Hughe Miss accomy Stalker Mr. S deer hi Gregg's Aust confine able to Robt sick li Anot at the Snider. In ti tives, parents daught was m of Mr. nupria McLan

THE EXPRESS.

CANADA—FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20th, 1908

$1 per Year in advance: $1.50 if not so paid.

Experts at Tailoring

When you want a good fitting, "up-to-date" Suit of Clothes or Overcoat we are in a position to give you every satisfaction, as we carry the largest stock of material shown by any store in Napanee.

We have an Expert Cutter and the Best Staff of Workmen in this Section.

You will remember the good qualities of one of our made-to-order suits after the price is forgotten.

J. L. BOYES,

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

The Pines, Nov. 18th, 1908.

EDITOR OF EXPRESS, NAPANEE.

Dear Sir,—Kindly express through the columns of your valuable paper the warmest gratitude to Mr. F. S. Wartman and Mr. M. S. Madole for their successful efforts in procuring the daily mail for our street. Those that loudly proclaimed it as an election dodge find once more that the present Government and its supporters always keep faith with the people.

Yours truly,
JOHN MAGEE.

BELL ROCK.

F. Carr finished his fall season of threshing and sawing wood last Saturday.

We have quite a winter here now and the merry sleigh bells go jingling by in all directions.

This has been a fortunate hunting season in this district this year, no lives lost either of game or hunter, so far as we know.

Miss Goldie Sanborn spent a day at home recently.

Miss M. Churchill, who was visiting friends here, returned to her home near Montreal last week.

Harmon Yorke, of Beaver Lake, and his sister, Miss Edith Yorke, Toronto, spent Saturday and Sunday at J. Yorke's.

TAMWORTH.

Mr. Gilbert, of Arden, preached in the Methodist church here on Sunday evening. Rev. Mr. Dixon taking his services at Arden.

Miss Tilly York, of Napanee, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ed McAfee.

Mr. Larry Way spent Monday morning in Enterprise.

Mrs. T. M. Barry returned home on Sat-

NEWS NOTES.

The Emperor and dowager-Empress of China are both dead. Prince Pu Yi succeeds.

Mr. Thomas Lawless has been appointed Supreme Treasurer of the Independent Order of Foresters.

Hon. Mr. Evanturel, formerly Speaker of the Ontario Legislature, died at his home in Alfred from pneumonia.

Wallace's Black Cough Knots stop the tickle in the throat, 5c at the Red Cross Drug Store.

Morris Haas, who shot Francis J. Heney, the San Francisco attorney, in the court room on Friday, committed suicide in jail.

The liquidators of the York County Loan Company received an offer of $700,000 for assets valued at about $1,300,000.

Returning Officer Ingram of Brandon, was committed for trial on a charge of having substituted a name in the list of electors.

It has been discovered that of the six Chinamen recently drowned at Buffalo, two were from Toronto and four from Kingston.

Since January, 1902, the United States Government have deported into Canada 131 Chinamen who had been smuggled across the Niagara frontier.

Reports from New Ontario state that large numbers of moose are being slaughtered for the heads alone, and the car cases left lying on the ground to rot.

The disappearance of Mr. H. S. Downing, a well-known Brockville business man, is causing his friends much anxiety. His financial affairs are in good shape.

Herman Billik, a fortune teller, convicted of murdering five members of the Veral family at Chicago, and five times reprieved, has been sentenced to hang on December 11.

Laura Storms, late of Odessa, Ont., aged 72 years, and Joseph Bogart, of Antwerp, N. Y., were married at Watertown this week and are now in Lennox County on their honeymoon.

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

The Toronto News publishes a facsimile of the cheque received by Longboat for his exhibition race in Kingston last Wednesday. The cheque is for $75 and is the Indian's first professional money.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier will leave for Florida at the end of this week. Sir Wilfrid has pretty well recovered from his indisposition, but thinks that a vacation trip would benefit him and remove any ill effects of heavy work he did during the campaign.

The Kingston Whig says: "John Wickham, aged 104, had a narrow escape when his shack burned at Napanee. He was scorched ere rescued. He was at once brought to the House of Providence in that very convenient city of charitable institutions, Kingston.

A man in a neighboring town found a gold watch the other day, and failing to take steps to ascertain the loser, was arrested for stealing. It is not generally known that the law recognizes as theft the keeping of found articles. It is as imperative for the person who finds to seek the loser as for

NEW LUMBER YARD

Messrs. J. R. Dafeo and W. T. Waller, have purchased the lumber stock and business of Mr. M. S. Madole, and have overhauled the machinery of the planing mill and have it equipped for first-class work, and are prepared to supply the following first-class building material:—

Lumber, Lath, Shingles, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Verandah Posts. Also Cement, Sand, Lime, Building Paper, Roofing Drain Tile

in fact anything required in the building trade. Lumber Dressed, and Sash and Doors, Etc. Prepared to order.

When intending to build, give us a call, foot of East Street.

DAFOE & WALLER,

Orders left at T. H. Wallers' Hardware Store, or at J. R. Dafeo's Office will receive prompt attention. Telephone No. 14.

AGENTS WANTED

To canvas your own Neighborhood.

Make Some Money in your spare time.

For particulars apply

BOX 622, NAPANEE.

MILLS FOR SALE—Grist Mill, Saw-Mill, (including power and Shingle Mill) with splendid water privilege. Good dwelling and barn. Estate property and must be sold. Fine chance for man with small capital. Address D. WILLIAMS, Executor, Wilton, Ont.

DESIRABLE FARMS FOR SALE—Choice Lands, Fine Buildings, all size. Some of these are near town. For immediate sale will sell below their real value. Call or write for full information.

W. G. H. BROWN,
Real Estate Agent.
Office, opposite Royal Hotel, Napanee. 38tr

WANTED—A good active fellow to sell Life Assurance for the "Mutual Life Company of Canada," in Lennox and Addington. Very liberal terms to the right man.

Apply S. BURROWS,
General Agent,
Belleville, Ont.

EXECUTORS' NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the estate of Daniel Gleeson, deceased.

No facts hereby given pursuant to Chapter 123, of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, section 38, and amending acts, that all persons having any claims or demands against the estate of Daniel Gleeson, late of the Town of Napanee, in the County of Lennox and Addington, deceased, who died on or about the Thirtieth day of July, A.D. 1908, are required to deliver or send by post prepaid to Hammet Madden Deroche, Napanee Ont., solicitor for Patrick Gleeson, administrator of the estate of the said Daniel Gleeson, deceased, on or before the Fifth day of NOVEMBER, A.D. 1908, their christian and surnames, addresses, and descriptions, with full particulars of their claims or demands duly verified, and the nature of the security (if any) held by them.

And further take notice that after the said

NEW MILLINERY!

We are now receiving our weekly shipment of the latest Millinery Novelties. Felt Hats in the latest shapes and newest shades.

NEW CORSETS AND HOSIERY.

We show special lines in Ladies' Collars, Belts, etc.

Special values in children's White Woolen Toques.

The Leading Millinery House.

DOXSEE & CO.

D. R. BENSON

Graduate Ontario Veterinary College, has opened an office second door south of Express Printing Office, where he may be consulted on all diseases of Domestic Animals. All latest veterinary sciences.

Residence: West Street, near Madden's grocery.

ALBERT COLLEGE, Belleville, Ont.

Conservatory of Music.

Prof. V. P. Hunt, A. A. G. O., Director, Graduate of Royal Conservatory, Leipzig, Germany. Organist and Choir Master of Bridge Street Methodist Church. Teacher of Advanced Piano, Pipe-Organ, Harmony, etc. Prof. Dan A. Cameron, recent Baritone Soloist of Metropolitan Church, Toronto, etc. Has studied under the best masters in London, New York and Boston. Teacher of Voice Culture and Artistic Singing. Full staff of Specialists in PIANO, PIPE-ORGAN, VOICE, VIOLIN, and THEORY OF MUSIC. New Pipe-Organ recently added. Toronto Conservatory and University Examinations held annually in the College Buildings. Over 300 successful Candidates at these Examinations in past six years. Successful in all cases.

TAMWORTH.

Mr. Gilbert, of Arden, preached in the Methodist church here on Sunday evening. Rev. Mr. Dixon taking his services at Arden.

Miss Tilly York, of Nananee, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ed McAfee.

Mr. Larry Way spent Monday morning in Enterprise.

Mrs. T. M. Barry returned home on Saturday, after spending the week with her mother at Nananee.

Mrs. Howard Armstrong entertained a few young people at tea on Friday evening, in honor of her guest, Miss Estella Young, of Marlbank.

Mrs. (Dr.) Wilson entertained to afternoon tea on Tuesday, in aid of Foreign Missions.

Messrs Axford and Wilson, of Marlbank, called on some of their friends here on Friday evening.

Mr. German Valleau of Morven spent Sunday as the guest of his cousin, Miss Myrtle Woods.

Mr. Dan Smith of Kingston was in town one day this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones returned home on Friday evening after attending Mr. Wm. Mace's wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Mace have left on a trip to Ireland. Congratulations.

The G. F. C. met at the home of Mrs. Fred Hall on Wednesday afternoon.

COLEBROOKE.

There was about four inches of snow fell on Saturday night.

A. F. James, agent for the Kingston Milling Co. was watering his horse at the Colebrook Hotel on Friday last. The horse got frightened and became unmanageable and made a lively race up the main street in Colebrook. He was caught by Alex. Riddell. Fortunately there was not much damage done.

N. Walker is building a new stable. Mrs. Kinkley has moved to her son-in-law's, we are sorry to lose her.

Earl Galbraith has been very ill, but is improving.

Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Estes are on the sick list. We hope they will soon be able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Galbraith were visiting at C. Ward's.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walker are at Ira Salisbury's.

Miss Annie Grey and Miss Bertie Huffman were visiting at Norman Boyer's.

In Everybody's Mouth.

Myrrh Tooth paste or Wallace's (be sure it's Wallace's) tooth powder, should be used in everybody's mouth. They clean the teeth and filling too. Ask to see the tooth brush with bristle that won't come out, at Wallace's Drug Store.

VENNACHAR.

Mrs. John Gilmour has returned from the General Hospital, Kingston, with her five-year old boy, Wallace, who had a successful operation for appendicitis.

John Gilmour has returned to the lumber woods with a full gang.

Rev. W. H. Gregory, Gananoque, preached to a large congregation in the Free Methodist church on the 8th.

Mrs. H. and A. Snider, are visiting at Mrs. A. Crankshaw's, Denbigh.

M. Rodger, Odessa, is at George Hughes'.

Miss Goldie Gregg, Clayton, N. Y., accompanied by her cousin, Alexander Stalker, visited at Robert Gregg's.

Mr. Stalker shot a large bear while deer hunting, about one mile from Mr. Gregg's home.

Austin Sweetman, who has been confined to the house for some time, is able to be out.

Robert Connor, who has been on the sick list is able to be around again.

Another new girl has come to stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Snider.

In the presence of a few near relatives, at the home of the bride's parents, Miss Lillie Flake, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Flake, was married to Roy Bebee, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Bebee. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Hugh McLane, Matawatchesan.

It was at once brought to the attention of the Provision in the very convenient city of charitable institutions, Kingston.

A man in a neighboring town found a gold watch the other day, and failing to take steps to ascertain the loser, was arrested for stealing. It is not generally known that the law recognizes as theft the keeping of found articles. It is as imperative for the person who finds to seek the loser as for the loser to seek the article lost.

The city council "swallowed itself" last evening. After defeating a motion to reconsider the board of health's request for compulsory vaccination, it turned around and took advantage of rule 21, upset its previous vote and then decided without a dissenting voice to enforce the vaccination act. It now becomes necessary for every resident of Kingston to be vaccinated or fined twenty dollars every week in default.—Whig.

Wednesday of last week all the men living in Belleville who have been employed at the Belleville Portland Cement Company's plant were paid off until further notice. Those who live in the Company's houses at the Point will be kept on. It is said that the works will not run full blast again until March next. In the interval the machinery is to be overhauled while a number of improvements and additions to the vast plant are contemplated. Seventeen men were laid off at Belleville G. T. R. this week for an indefinite period.

The Postoffice Department has by no means slackened its efforts to lay out rural mail delivery routes since the elections, as stated in certain quarters. Mr. George Ross, General Superintendent, who has charge of the work, is now in Nova Scotia, laying out several routes, and on his return will consult with the department as to further work. While it is expected that there will not be the same rush by farmers to get free delivery in the winter as in the summer, the Postoffice Department is ready to receive applications from any group of farmers along any established mail route, and when received an inspector will be sent over the route to report as to the outlook. If his report be favorable, the free delivery will be started as soon as climate conditions permit.

Something unusual in animal kingdom has just been captured by Prince Edward hunters, and was brought home on Saturday night. It is a white deer, pure white in color save for two small black spots back of its ears. The animal is a fine looking one, of the male species, and weighs about two hundred pounds. It has a magnificent pair of antlers. The hunters returning were reticent as to which member of the camp captured this very unusual species, but it is understood that Mr. Grant Sprague, of Big Island was the lucky shot. The animal was shot in the northern part of Hastings or Lennox and Addington. Another unusual shot made by one of the hunters who returned home Saturday night was a black fox, now a very rare animal, whose skin is indeed valuable.—Picton Gazette.

NANANEE CHEESE BOARD.

285 white and 210 colored cheese boarded at the meeting on Friday, Nov. 13th. All sold at 11/0. The following factories boarded:

	Whites	Colored
1 Nananee.....	40
7 Empey.....	25
9 Phippen No 1.....	30
10 Phippen No 2.....	20
11 Phippen No 3.....	30
13 Forest Mills.....	30
22 Selby.....	50
24 Camden East.....	35
26 Marlbank.....	50
28 Enterprise.....	130
29 Whitman Creek.....	80

No more meetings of the Board will be held until the last Friday in April, 1909.

A Good Fountain Pen.

The Parker Pen (the lucky curve) is undoubtedly one of the best fountain pens made. We are showing the largest assortment of fountain pens in Nananee at Wallace's Drug Store.

any claims or demands against the estate of Daniel Gleeson, late of the Town of Nananee, in the County of Lennox and Addington, deceased, who died on or about the Thirtieth day of July, A.D. 1908, are required to deliver or send by post prepaid to Hammel Madden Deroche, Nananee Ont., solicitor for Patrick Gleeson, administrator of the estate of the said Daniel Gleeson, deceased, on or before the 24th DAY OF NOVEMBER, A.D. 1908, their christian and surnames, addresses and descriptions, with full particulars of their claims or demands duly verified, and the nature of the security if any held by them.

And further take notice that after the said 24th day of November, A.D. 1908, the said administrator will proceed to distribute the assets of said estate amongst the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims or demands of which they shall then have received notice, and will not be responsible for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claims or demands they have not received notice at the time of the distribution thereof.

H. M. DEROCHE,

Solicitor for the said Administrator

Dated this 22nd day of October 1908.

Department of Railways and Canals, Canada.

TRENT CANAL.

LINDSAY SECTION.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Trent Canal," will be received at this office until 10 o'clock Tuesday, 17th Nov. 1908, for the works connected with the construction of the Lindsay Section of the Canal.

Plans, specifications, and the form of the contract to be entered into, can be seen on and after the 15th October, 1908, at the office of the Chief Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, and at the office of the Superintendent Engineer, Trent Canal, Peterboro, Ont., at which places forms of tender may be obtained.

Parties tendering will be required to accept the fair wages Schedule prepared or to be prepared by the Department of Labour, which Schedule will form part of the contract. Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered, unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, unless there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm.

An accepted bank cheque for the sum of $10,000 must accompany each tender, which sum will be forfeited, if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the work, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose tenders are not accepted.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

By order,

L. K. JONES,

Secretary.

Department of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa, October 17th, 1908

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from this Department will not be paid for it.

Lax-ets 5 C Sweet to Eat
A Candy Bowl Laxative.

Paid up Capital and Rest

$2,425,000.00

Head Office,
WINNIPEG, MAN.

Special Attention Paid to Farmers' Business.

With 78 Branches in Canada,—52 in the West,—The Northern Crown Bank has exceptional facilities for handling the business of Farmers, Cattlemen, Grain Dealers and Retail Merchants, as well as that of Manufacturers and Wholesale Houses whose dealings extend throughout the country.

Interest Paid Quarterly on Savings Accounts.

Nananee Branch,
R. G. H. TRAVERS,
Manager.

Enterprise Branch,
W. F. MORGAN DEAN,
Act'g. Mgr.

Odessa Branch,
A. P. S. DONALDSON,
Manager.

Bath Branch,
W. GORDON,
Act'g. Mgr.

Organist and Choir Master of Bridge Street Methodist Church. Teacher of Advanced Piano, Pipe Organ, Harmony, etc.
Prof. Dan A. Cameron, recent Haritono Soloist of Metropolitan Church, Toronto, etc. Has studied under the best masters in London, New York and Boston. Teacher of Voice Culture and Artistic Singing.
Full staff of Specialists in PIANO, PIPE ORGAN, VOICE, VIOLIN, and THEORY OF MUSIC. New Pipe Organ recently added.
Toronto Conservatory and University Examinations held annually in the College Buildings. Over 30 successful Candidates at these Examinations in past six years. Several have taken A. T. C. M. standing with distinguished standing. A. A. C. M. granted on Normal Course for Teachers.
Special attention given to Matriculation. Teachers Course, Education, Fine Art, Physical Culture.
College re opens Tuesday, Sept. 8th, 1908. For Illustrated Calendar, address, PRINCIPAL DYER, M.A., D.D.

THE - DOMINION - BANK NANANEE BRANCH

PAID UP CAPITAL $3,792,000

SURPLUS 4,789,000

TOTAL DEPOSIT BY THE PUBLIC
OVER 35 MILLIONS.

Interest paid on Savings Account
Every Three Months.

DUDLEY L. HILL,

Acting Manager, Nananee Branch.

MERCHANTS' BANK OF CANADA. ESTABLISHED 1864.

PAID UP CAPITAL $6,000,000.

RESERVE $4,000,000

UNDOUBTED SECURITY FOR DEPOSITORS.

SIR H. MONTAGU ALLAN, Pres.
E. F. HEBDEN, General Manager.

Savings Bank Department.

Deposits of $1.00 and upwards received and interest at best current rate paid on same. Interest payable quarterly, on the last days of February, May, August and November. Farmers' Business Solicited and General Banking Business transacted.

Nananee W. A. BELLHOUSE, Mgr.

Yarker E. R. CHECKLEY, Mgr.

Hon. J. B. Agnew, Provincial Treasurer of Manitoba, is dead.

CONSUMPTION'S STARTING POINT

Lies in Weak, Watery Blood. Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills Make the Blood Rich and Red.

Bloodlessness is the starting point of consumption. When your blood is thin and watery your whole health declines. Your face grows pale, your appetite fails and your heart jumps and flutters at the least exertion or excitement. You are always weak and wretched and lose interest in everything. This is the point from which you may easily step into that hopeless decline that leads to consumption and the grave. What is actually needed to bring back health and strength and energy is the new rich blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make. In all the world there is no other tonic medicine like them, and all who feel weak and easily tired should take these Pills at once, and regain new health.

Miss Ada Burke, The Range, N. B., says: "I feel that I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In March, 1907, I was attacked with whooping cough which clung to me for several months, and when the cough disappeared I was left weak and run down. All summer I was ailing, but when the autumn came I seemed to be completely worn out. For a whole month I never moved outside the house, and could scarcely walk about the house I was so weak. I had no appetite, my color was a greenish yellow. I had severe headaches and would be almost breathless at the least exertion. I took several bottles of medicine, but it did not help me, and then my mother got me three boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, when I had used them I was much better and by the time I had taken another three boxes I was again enjoying the best of health, with a hearty appetite, good color and renewed energy."

If you want new health and new strength try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a fair use of this medicine will not disappoint you. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for 2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

REFUSES TO WORK.

This Young Man Prefers to Sit by the Fire.

Much amusement was caused at the Bow County Court in London, England, last week by a young man who had lost three fingers in an accident and who claimed damages under the workmen's compensation act. It was stated that he had been offered work by the firm, but had refused it on the ground that he still suffered from nervousness.

"Are you willing to do any work at all?" inquired counsel.

"No," the young man replied stoutly.

"Do you say you are not willing or not able?" the Judge asked.

"I said not willing," was the unblushing reply.

"Would you rather live your present life at 10s 1d a week than take a job as caretaker or anything of that kind?" counsel asked.

"Yes," said the man with decision.

"You are looking forward to 10s 1d a week for the rest of your life?"

Time Heals Most Wounds

A Tale of Love and Disappointment

CHAPTER III.

"You want to see me," Joel said by way of opening the conversation.

"Yes, Joel. I am going to trespass on your good nature. Sit down, won't you? You will find cigars on the table," the Earl said nervously, and Joel looked up curiously, as he noticed his unusual manner.

"You know that anything I can do—" he began.

"Yes, I know; you've been a good friend to me in the past, and I am grateful, but—"

He hesitated for a moment.

"What is it?"

"I've made a fool of myself. That's all."

"What particular kind of fool? The species is large."

"A financial idiot. I've been speculating."

Joel looked at the Earl in surprise.

"I thought that you consulted me upon your investments," he said slowly.

"Yes, and I wish to Heaven that I had contented myself with doing so. My expenses are great, as you know, and I was not making money, so I plunged."

"Foolish man, but could you not have asked my advice about the plunge? I know something about financial matters—even the gambling side."

"To be frank, I was ashamed to do so. You have been so very good to me."

"Is it serious?"

"That depends upon the point of view. You would say that it is a mere bagatelle, but to me—"

He shrugged his shoulders expressively.

"Have you any accounts here?" Joel asked, but there was no sympathy in his manner, for there was a little personal feeling in the fact that the Earl had ventured without consulting him.

The Earl handed him some papers which he quickly mastered.

"It appears to me that you are involved to the extent of twenty-five thousand pounds," he said gravely.

"That is so, and I don't see my way out of it. The estates, as you are aware, are strictly entailed," the Earl said nervously.

"A fortunate thing for Lord Harecastle."

"Yes, and I don't care to ask him to break the entail."

"I should think not, but he would do it like a shot."

"Yes, Cyril is a good son, but there is a reason that prevents me from asking him, even if I cared to do so."

"And that is?"

"I cannot explain, but it exists," the Earl said listlessly.

He meant the state of his health, which he knew would weigh with Cyril to an enormous extent, and a surprising sense of delicacy made him look with repugnance upon the idea of using this as a lever.

They were both silent. The Earl looked anxiously at Joel as though he was waiting for him to speak.

ly. "I expect him this afternoon."

"A fine fellow—Harecastle, a very fine fellow. He must be nearly thirty," Joel said reflectively.

"About that."

"I wonder he does not marry," Joel continued quietly, but his eyes were fixed on the Earl's face.

"I don't believe he has thought of it."

"It is time that he should consider it. There is the title, you know."

"Harecastle is a little difficult to understand. He is exigent. I suppose he will marry when he meets the right woman."

"He ought to marry money, especially after what you have told me," Joel said pointedly.

"Yes, he certainly ought to marry money," the Earl repeated.

"And if he could combine beauty with the money—"

The Earl suddenly recognized that there lay a meaning in the conversation, and he drew himself up, saying:

"Speak out, man; do you mean your daughter?"

Joel owed his head.

"And would you relieve me of my difficulties?"

"I will make no bargain, but—"

A smile broke over his face, and the Earl approached him with outstretched hand.

"Nothing would give me greater pleasure than this marriage," he said effusively. "I admire your daughter; and I think Harecastle would make her a good husband."

"That is the great thing. I am not buying her a title," he said a little hastily.

"No, I appreciate that Rebekah would adorn any position, even if she were dowless. There is no need for the word 'bargain' in connection with your daughter."

"With reference to your son, do you think he cares for her?"

"They have always been friends, I should think that it is very probable. Harecastle is the kind of man who might jib at your vast wealth. He is very touchy, and would imagine that he would be open to the imputation that it was the money that was the attraction."

"I do not fear that, where Rebekah is concerned," Joel said angrily, for his pride was touched.

"No, of course not."

"I may take it then that this match would meet with your approval."

"Of course, my dear fellow. I will do anything in my power to further it: I will speak to Harecastle to-day."

"You will have to handle him delicately."

"You may trust me. As far as we are concerned, the matter is settled. You can answer for Rebekah."

"I think so, but it is Harecastle who must ascertain her feelings."

"Cyril has always been a good son. I don't think he will be unreasonable," the Earl said, and he looked at the papers which were lying beside Joel.

"Twenty-five thousand pounds will put you straight?" Joel asked.

NEWFOUNDLAND PAYS TRIBUTE

TO THE GRAND WORK DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ARE DOING.

Fishermen Regard Them as a Boon to Mankind—Mr. Frank Banfield Tells How They Cured His Backache.

Garnish, Fortune Bay, Nfld., Nov. 9. (Special).—Among the fishermen here, who through exposure to wet and cold are subject to those pains and aches which come from diseased Kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills are looked upon as a positive boon to mankind. They are never tired of telling how their Backaches and their Rheumatism vanish before the great Kidney remedy.

Among many others Mr. Frank Banfield, after years of suffering, has found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills, and here is what he is telling his friends:—

"I find Dodd's Kidney Pills the best medicine for Backache I have ever used. I only used two boxes and they cured me of Backache I had had for five years. It started through a strain. My father's back also bothered him, and he got some relief from one pill I gave him. They were too precious to give him more. All persons suffering from Backache should use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Why do Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Backache? Simply because Backache is Kidney ache, and Dodd's Kidney Pills positively cure all Kidney aches and ills. This has been proved in thousands of cases in Canada. If you haven't used them yourself ask your neighbors.

"They are different kinds of affection, dearest. I shall not be jealous of the man you love," he said gravely.

"The man I love," she repeated mechanically.

"I believe he exists, Rebekah," he said quietly.

She made no reply, but her face was turned away from him.

"Does he?" Joel insisted.

"I see that aunt has been speaking to you. I am sorry she did so, father. She surprised me, or my secret would still be my own."

"The man you have chosen is suitable in every way. I have the greatest admiration for him."

"It hurts me that we should discuss it, father. Remember that the affection may be only on one side."

"That is nonsense. I am sure that he loves you."

"Please me, dad. Be silent, but first tell me one thing. Have you spoken to the Earl?" she asked in a low voice.

"The Earl has spoken to me," he said evasively.

"I knew it," she cried indignantly. "I will not be discussed in this way. It is undignified. It is as if you were throwing me at their heads."

"The Earl spoke to me," he repeated stubbornly. "He thinks it time that Harecastle married; and he himself suggested that you would make a suitable wife. I agreed with him. That is all. Surely you do not object."

"Is that all, father?"

"Yes."

She sighed with relief. Joel eyed her narrowly. He hated to have to lie to her, but he knew right well that she would be no wiser to

Day
"Y
said it wa hand Then men tucke of th ing o acros chief ders sight happ back thoug much color
"S chief lord and ures chief
b as bl
I lik down ed; i chief of th
nothi
"I corre
one other notor we f from come to be life.
along still may bits,
cies.
"A
kerch
I like there ways neckt
I was for I same the s
"It fort t hard but I dom neckt
my o an ac
"I wear think a ma mind think ties, rich,
the w harm shall that don't I may date come Mrs where Benha thing
It I Frien
Thom its te who f

"No, you say you are not willing or not able?" the Judge asked.

"I said not willing," was the unblushing reply.

"Would you rather live your present life at 10s 1d a week than take a job as caretaker or anything of that kind?" counsel asked.

"Yes," said the man with decision.

"You are looking forward to 10s 1d a week for the rest of your life?"

"That is not much, is it?"

"Won't you get tired of doing nothing?"

"No, sir."

"What do you do with yourself?"

"I sit and watch the fire."

"If your doctor said that you were entirely recovered, would you go back to work?"

"No."

A witness, who took the young man out for a walk daily, said that he was highly nervous. If spoken to roughly he burst into tears.

The Judge said it was impossible for a crippled man to go upon the market, and the firm must pay 10s 1d weekly. "I still think work of some kind would be good for him," he added.

BABY'S WELFARE MOTHER'S CHIEF CARE.

Every mother is naturally anxious that her little ones shall be healthy, good natured and bright. Every mother can keep her little ones in this condition if she will give them an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets cure all stomach and bowel troubles, break up colds, destroy worms and make teething easy. Equally good for the new born baby or the well grown child. Mrs. W. L. Stewart, St. George, N. B., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my little ones for several years and have found them reliable in all emergencies. I cannot praise the Tablets too highly." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Baby's Own Tablets." Now that I have explained you, Bridget, I am going to show you a little train. It is the art of waiting on guests. When my daughter is coming to the house, Bridget, I am going to show you. And how long was it, Bridget?

The delicate flavor and aroma of the tablets is preserved by the use of sealed lead packets. It is not exposed to the sun, dust, dirt, and the surrounding odors and obnoxious influences of other goods as bulk or loose tablets. A teapot test will show the difference.

OUTSIDE HIS LINE.

"I presume, my good fellow, you are a laborer," said a lawyer to a plainly dressed witness.

"You are right, I am a workman," replied the witness, who was a civil engineer.

"Familiar with the use of the pick, shovel, and spade, I presume?"

"To some extent. These are not the principal implements of my trade, though."

"Perhaps you will condescend to enlighten me as to your principal implements?"

"It is hardly worth while. You don't understand their nature or use."

"Probably not," replied the lawyer, "but I am on knowing what they are."

"Brutus, sir."

"I cannot explain, but it exists," the Earl said listlessly.

He meant the state of his health, which he knew would weigh with Cyril to an enormous extent, and a surprising sense of delicacy made him look with repugnance upon the idea of using this as a lever.

They were both silent. The Earl looked anxiously at Joel as though he was waiting for him to speak, but the Jew looked grimly on the ground.

"Can you find any way out of my difficulties?" the Earl blurted out at last, and his breath came quickly as he awaited the reply.

"At the moment, I cannot say that I do. I should like to think it over. Twenty-five thousand pounds is a large sum of money. What do your lawyers say?"

"I haven't dared to tell them of my position, but their cry will be 'Security, security,' and I have none to offer them."

"What will your position be in the event of your not finding this money?" Joel asked with a keen look.

"There can only be one result—bankruptcy," the Earl said with despair.

"That would indeed be a blow. Your family has held up its head for generations. And then, too, some of the inconveniences are personal. You lose your clubs, you know."

The Earl shrank as if struck by a blow, but Joel went on relentlessly.

"Of course there are many who weather a visit to the Courts. But usually they are of the callous breed. A man of honor must feel it keenly."

"Can't you see your way to help me?" the Earl began.

He seated himself beside Joel; his face was pale with anxiety, and his fingers worked nervously.

"My advice is always at your disposal," Joel replied.

"Man alive, I don't mean that. Must I put it into words? You are not usually so dense. Will you lend me the money?" he said desperately.

"It is a large sum, as I said before. I do not absolutely refuse, but I will make no bargain with you. You shall have my decision within an hour. For the present let us leave the subject alone," Joel said firmly.

A gleam of hope came to the Earl's face. He rose, and going to a side-board, mixed himself a stiff brandy and soda, which he drank at a gulp.

"It is not my habit," he said apologetically, "but I feel the strain. I am not so young as I was."

There followed a silence which was very embarrassing to the Earl, and he fidgetted nervously in his chair.

"By the bye, your son is coming down to-day, is he not?"

"Yes," the Earl replied listlessly.

"Twenty-five thousand pounds will put you straight," Joel asked.

"Yes, quite," the Earl replied, as he watched him take out his cheque book.

"I am going to give you a cheque now. Remember I trust you implicitly, and you must not play me false," Joel said quietly.

"You may rely upon me, Joel, I give you my word of honor. You cannot realize what a relief this cheque means to me. My worries were beginning to tell upon me, and now, thanks to you, I can have an easy mind. I expect lunch is ready; shall we go?"

Having got what he required, the Earl was only too glad to terminate an interview that had been embarrassing in the extreme. During the meal he was in the highest spirits, and Joel could hardly recognize the half-broken man who had that morning appealed to him so pitifully.

Rebekah had come downstairs, and all trace of her recent agitation had disappeared, save for the dark rims under her eyes that only added to her beauty. The Earl paid much attention to her, and his wittiest sallies were reserved for her benefit. He succeeded in bringing a smile to her lips, and Mrs. Goldberg gave a significant look at her brother. Her eyes asked a question, and in reply he gave an almost imperceptible nod.

"You will be glad to hear, Miss Rebekah, that Harecastle is coming this afternoon," the Earl said to her.

Her face flushed and for a moment her lips trembled. Joel cursed the Earl beneath his breath, and hurriedly changed the conversation. He looked round quickly, but none of the guests appeared to have noticed Rebekah's confusion.

The conversation became general, and Rebekah recovered her composure. She only wondered why the Earl had addressed the remark so pointedly to her. There seemed to be a strange significance in his voice.

When the meal was over, she took her father by the arm, and led him out on to the terrace.

"It is a long time since we had a stroll together, dad. Let us wander for an hour," she said eagerly.

"Very well, dear. Run and fetch my cigar case," he said indulgently.

Joel Josephs had never been known to refuse a request of his daughter, even although his accomplishment caused him some personal inconvenience.

For a time they walked along in silence, for there was that relationship between them, when speech is not necessary to companionship.

"How old are you, Rebekah?" he asked suddenly.

"What a question," she cried merrily. "Surely you know."

"Is it twenty-one or twenty-two?"

"Twenty-two and a half, if you require extreme accuracy."

"I wonder I have not lost you before this," he remarked with his eyes fixed straight before him.

"It is not for lack of opportunity, dad, but I am content to remain with you. I must meet the man that I like better than yourself," she said nervously.

"I think so, but it is Harecastle who must ascertain her feelings."

"Cyril has always been a good son. I don't think he will be unreasonable," the Earl said, and he looked at the papers which were lying beside Joel.

ISSUE NO. 43-08.

time that Harecastle married; and he himself suggested that you would make a suitable wife. I agreed with him. That is all. Surely you do not object."

"Is that all, father?"

"Yes."

She sighed with relief. Joel eyed her narrowly. He hated to have to lie to her, but he knew right well that she would be no party to the bargain that he had made that morning. Yes, to himself he owned that he had made a purchase—the possibility of happiness for his daughter, and he did not repent having done so. He was glad that she referred no more to the subject. Ere long they retraced their steps, and he knew her thoughts. They were of Harecastle and the coming meeting.

(To be Continued.)

A Small Pill, but Powerful.

They that judge of the powers of a pill by its size, would consider Parmelee's Vegetable Pills to be lacking. It is a little wonder among pills. What it lacks in size it makes up in potency. The remedies which it carries are put up in these small doses, because they are so powerful that only small doses are required. The full strength of the extracts is secured in this form and do their work thoroughly.

Before a thunderstorm, the Australian humming-bird covers the top of its nest with cobweb, which is a non-conductor of electricity.

A FIRE SPREADS in dry grass, so does an inflammation in the throat grow down into the lungs. Deal promptly with a cold as with a fire, and when you begin to cough use Allen's Lung Balm.

There are in Quebec to-day descendants of Wolfe's Highlanders, who stormed the place; but, though Scottish in everything else, they speak French, and do not know English.

They are Carefully Prepared. — Pills which dissipate themselves in the stomach cannot be expected to have much effect upon the intestines and to overcome costiveness the medicine administered must influence the action of these canals. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are so made, under the supervision of experts, that the substance in them intended to operate on the intestines is retarded in action until the bowels.

There is nothing more uncertain than a woman—except another woman.

Two young ladies were talking the other day about a third who had just become engaged to a widower, who plays the cornet, and has four children. "What could be worse," exclaimed one, "than four children and a cornet?" "Nothing," said the other, "except, perhaps, six children and a trombone."

settled. You can answer for Rebekah?"

"I think so, but it is Harecastle who must ascertain her feelings."

"Cyril has always been a good son. I don't think he will be unreasonable," the Earl said, and he looked at the papers which were lying beside Joel.

"Twenty-five thousand pounds will put you straight," Joel asked.

"Yes, quite," the Earl replied, as he watched him take out his cheque book.

"I am going to give you a cheque now. Remember I trust you implicitly, and you must not play me false," Joel said quietly.

"You may rely upon me, Joel, I give you my word of honor. You cannot realize what a relief this cheque means to me. My worries were beginning to tell upon me, and now, thanks to you, I can have an easy mind. I expect lunch is ready; shall we go?"

Having got what he required, the Earl was only too glad to terminate an interview that had been embarrassing in the extreme. During the meal he was in the highest spirits, and Joel could hardly recognize the half-broken man who had that morning appealed to him so pitifully.

Rebekah had come downstairs, and all trace of her recent agitation had disappeared, save for the dark rims under her eyes that only added to her beauty. The Earl paid much attention to her, and his wittiest sallies were reserved for her benefit. He succeeded in bringing a smile to her lips, and Mrs. Goldberg gave a significant look at her brother. Her eyes asked a question, and in reply he gave an almost imperceptible nod.

"You will be glad to hear, Miss Rebekah, that Harecastle is coming this afternoon," the Earl said to her.

Her face flushed and for a moment her lips trembled. Joel cursed the Earl beneath his breath, and hurriedly changed the conversation. He looked round quickly, but none of the guests appeared to have noticed Rebekah's confusion.

The conversation became general, and Rebekah recovered her composure. She only wondered why the Earl had addressed the remark so pointedly to her. There seemed to be a strange significance in his voice.

When the meal was over, she took her father by the arm, and led him out on to the terrace.

"It is a long time since we had a stroll together, dad. Let us wander for an hour," she said eagerly.

"Very well, dear. Run and fetch my cigar case," he said indulgently.

Joel Josephs had never been known to refuse a request of his daughter, even although his accomplishment caused him some personal inconvenience.

For a time they walked along in silence, for there was that relationship between them, when speech is not necessary to companionship.

"How old are you, Rebekah?" he asked suddenly.

"What a question," she cried merrily. "Surely you know."

"Is it twenty-one or twenty-two?"

"Twenty-two and a half, if you require extreme accuracy."

"I wonder I have not lost you before this," he remarked with his eyes fixed straight before him.

"It is not for lack of opportunity, dad, but I am content to remain with you. I must meet the man that I like better than yourself," she said nervously.

Men should look for this Tag on Chewing Tobacco. It guarantees the high quality of Black Watch

Ben thin
It
Frie
Tho
sma its who qua
he, frie
is c it w
I nes of sup Ye to l gove tam
TI Gra shov chil give Inst
TI a w age,
Mor
exti
T Lac ali ing
The ban
"T de low che TI
tert
a d
M ing mu sole for out No
plac say t clorg
a law es a pull
"T judi
che
C Hol troi amc
A
"fo mor
bac Mor sub like thei
One age bor dre to s to—
A "Di
retu

THE MIDDLE AGED MAN.

Day of the Colored Bordered Handkerchiefs Recalled.

"You know there was a time," said the middle aged man, "when it was the fashion for men to carry handkerchiefs with fancy borders. Then it was also the fashion for men to carry their handkerchiefs tucked in the outside upper pocket of their coat, with a corner sticking out.

"Well, the other day I came across in my possessions a handkerchief with one of those fancy borders; and do you know that the sight of it pleased me greatly. Perhaps it was because it carried me back to days when I was younger, though I don't think it was that so much as because I have a liking for color.

"Some of the colored handkerchiefs were gaudy and foolish, with borders stamped in various blues and in grotesque patterns or figures; but then we had handkerchiefs that had a narrow hemstitched border of a single solid color, as blue or red; and I am free to say I liked those; and for that matter I have had handkerchiefs with downright fancy borders that I liked; and finding that old handkerchief the other day, which was one of that sort, and rather fiery, was nothing less than a pleasure to me.

"I suppose that really the only correct thing for a handkerchief is one all white, but, like so many other things in life, they are monotonous. True, as we grow older we form fixed monotonous habits from which we hate to depart. We come to a time when we don't like to be disturbed in our routine of life. We are best satisfied keeping along in our settled ways. But still we may have fancies, and it may be one of our comforting habits, indeed, to cherish these fancies.

"And I always liked the handkerchiefs with the colored borders. I like the colors. Staid as I am, there was a time when I wore always red neckties. Yes, sir, red neckties; though I now realize that I was a creature of habit even then, for I wore always neckties of the same sort without regard to what the style might be.

"It was a pleasure and a comfort to me to wear them. I worked hard and never lost sight of the job, but I permitted myself this freedom and luxury of wearing red neckties. In that I let myself have my own way, and I think that was an actual help to me.

"I don't know but what I should wear red neckties now if I didn't think they'd look sort of queer on a man of my years. We are so mindful of what other people would think. But still I like red neckties, and I guess that when I get rich, when I can, without setting the world at defiance, indulge my harmless fancies more freely, I shall again wear them, though by that time—for just now the riches don't seem to be coming very fast—I may have become so extremely sedate that red neckties will have come to seem to me a superfluity."

Mrs. Benham—"Was the hotel where you stopped homelike?" Mr. Benham—"Very. There wasn't a thing on the bill-of-fare fit to eat."

It Retains Old and Makes New Friends. — Time was when Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil had but a small field of distribution, but now its territory is widespread. Those who first recognized its curative

Mrs. Gertrude McKiernan.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER PRAISING PE-RU-NA.

MRS. GERTRUDE McKIERNAN, 216 Neosho street, Emporia, Kas., writes:

"I suffered very much with a severe cold in the head and was always complaining of feeling tired and drowsy. When my mother suggested and insisted on my taking a few bottles of Peruna, I did so, and in a short time I felt like a new person. My mother praises it very highly and so do I."

Confidence in Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. M. F. Jones, Burning Springs, Ky., writes:

"We have been using Peruna for some time and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the thousand and one ailments of humanity."

"From a personal test I shall not hesitate to recommend it, especially to all suffering women."

"Peruna has gained full confidence and a permanent stay in our home."

A Great Tonic.

Mrs. Anna Linder, R. R. 5, Dassel, Minn., writes: "I took Peruna and am well. I would not be without that great tonic for ten times its cost."

A witness who had given his evidence in such a way as to satisfy everybody in court that he was committing perjury, being cautioned by the justice, said at last: "My lord, you may believe me or not, but I have stated not a word that is false, for I have been wedded to truth from my infancy." "Yes, sir," said the justice; "but the question is, How long have you been a widower?"

Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is agreeable to the taste, and is a certain relief for irritation of the throat that causes hacking coughs. If used according to directions it will break the most persistent cold, and restore the air passages to their normal healthy condition. There is no need to recommend it to those familiar with it, but to those who seek a sure remedy and are in doubt what to use, the advice is—try Bickle's Syrup.

IN BURLY LONDON TOWN.

In this huge city the West is the seat of wealth, learning and fashion; the East a vast area black with factories and interminable streets of depressingly squalid aspect, stretching to a series of immense docks crowded with ships of all nations, the City of London proper (ancient London) lying between the two. On the one hand the Heights—where the rich bask in the shine of their flood of gold, where the sun lingers long before the night begins to blaze for the indolent and the idle; on the other the Abyss—that seething, stifling pit of filth and the hungry, where throat is pitted against throat, amidst conditions inconceivably mean, where life, though rancid, still deems itself worth while, where the sun quits early and the night benignly hides the rude, bleak gloom of it all.

AMPLE GROUNDS.

A little boy, aged five, had been severely punished by his parents for disobedience, and the next day, without a word to anyone, he hurried off to the family legal adviser, who happened to be a particular friend of his.

"Well, Johnny," said the man of law, after he had shaken hands with him, "what can I do for you?"

"Please, Mr. Brown," said the young litigant, "I want to get a divorce from our family!"

HEVIDENTLY HUNEDICATED.

Scene—Soldiers' barrack-room at dinner-time.

Orderly officer (inspecting men's dinner) asks: "Any complaints?"

Voice from the end of the table:

"Yes, sir."

Officer—"Well, what is it?"

Voice—"Spuds is bad, sir."

Officer—"Spuds is bad! haw-er," turning to sergeant. "Spuds is bad! Haw! what does he mean by spuds, sergeant?"

Sergeant (glaring at culprit) —

"The man is higherunt, sir."

"E means 'taters.'"

A woman's idea of good medicine is any kind that doesn't taste good.

The willow is one of the most adaptable of plants. If a shoot is broken off and stuck in the ground it will almost always take root and grow.

First Stranger—"Excuse me, but that's my umbrella you have."

Second Stranger—"I don't doubt it. Just wait here till I call a policeman."

First Stranger—"What for?"

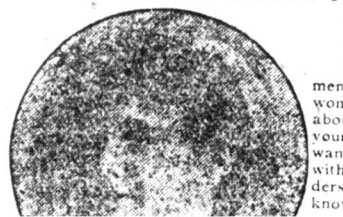

Second Stranger—"Burglars broke into my house the other night and left this umbrella."

A LITTLE QUIET is the best of all flat, yet it will not make bone and muscle but "Perovum" will. Try it. All drug and general stores. $1 bottles.

1,000,000 RAW FURS WANTED

Highest prices paid. Write for price list. Address: Stillman Knishaw, Deep Brook, Annapolis Co., N.S.

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

BIG MONEY

for agents selling our toilet soaps. Lots making $5.00 a day. Write at once for full particulars to the SOAP SUPPLY CO., Box 332, Toronto

THESE RINGS FREE

Try Selling only 15 Packages of our magnificent high grade Art & Comio

Picture Post Cards

Six for 10c. for six.

SEND NO MONEY just your name and address. We mail cards post paid. Sell them at 10c a Page, and send us our $1.50 and you will receive by return mail your choice of these Warranted 14K Solid Gold

Laid Rings we have as equal quality beautiful styles and many other de-scribable Premiums to choose from.

Do not delay. Write to-day and get a complete Catalog from Canada's Greatest Premium House. Address

Colonial Art Co., Dept. 53, Toronto

FEATHER DYEING

Cleaning and Curling and KID Gloves cleaned. These can be sent by post, 10 per oz. the best place is BRITISH AMERICAN DYEING CO.

MONTREAL

ARE YOU SICK?

Ask for particulars remedies. Sure cure in every case. 25 years' experience in Germany, England and Canada. The Excelsior Chemical Works, 195 Benton Street, Berlin, Ontario.

Bell PIANOS

ARE

CANADA'S

BEST

AND EVERYBODY

KNOWS IT PAYS TO BUY

THE

BEST

Send for our Free Catalogue No. 75.

The Bell Piano & Organ Co., Ltd., Guelph, Ont.

Makers of Bell Pianos, Bell Organs and Autonola Player Pianos.

Large Manufacturing

FLAT

TO LEASE

67-71 Adelaide St. West

About 40x200, lighted by thirty-five windows, the entire length of three sides, also from ten large skylights, most up-to-date manufacturing flat in central part of Toronto; rental includes power, steam heat, water, electric light, at 10 per cent. less than city rates; lowest insurance rate; immediate possession; low rental to high-class tenant.

S. FRANK WILSON

OWNER

73 Adelaide Street West

TORONTO, ONT.

FREE TO YOU AND EVERY SISTER SUFFERING FROM WOMEN'S AILMENTS

I am a woman. I know a woman's sufferings. I have found a cure. I will mail, free of charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from women's ailments. I want to tell all women about the cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourself at home, without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than

Joel
ed to right ty to that own-ase—or his epent
l that bject.
steps.
They
oming

d. — rs of sider
to be nder
a size remeup in y are does gh of form
y.

Aus the which ity.

oes an into the a fire,
's Lung

y de-id-rs, rough they know

d. — es ined to stines
s the influaals.
re so of ex-them intes-until ertain

r wo-ag the o had ower, four orse, ildren

' said
s, six

d is n g lt of n

72

where you stopped homelike?" Mr. Benham—"Very. There wasn't a thing on the bill-of-fare fit to eat."

It Retains Old and Makes New Friends. — Time was when Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil had but a small field of distribution, but now its territory is widespread. Those who first recognized its curative qualities still value it as a specific, and while it retains its old friends it is ever making new. It is certain that whoever once uses it will not be without it.

Lady—"I am looking for a governess for my children." Manager of Intelligence Office—"Didn't we supply you with one last week?" "Yes." "Well, madam, according to her report, you don't need a governess. You need a wild beast tamer."

The superiority of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is shown by its good effects on the children. Purchase a bottle and give it a trial.

CHEERS AT A FUNERAL.

Instructions of Deceased Carried Out to the Letter.

The body of M. Pierre Lacroix, a wealthy bachelor, eighty years of age, was interred at Amilly, near Montargis, France, last week, amid extraordinary scenes.

To comply with the wishes of M. Lacroix there were no mourners, all those attending the funeral being dressed in their gayest clothes. The hearse was preceded by a brass band, which played selections from "The Geisha" and "Les Cloches de Corneville," and the coffin was lowered into the grave with loud cheers.

The guests were afterwards entertained at a banquet, followed by a dance at a local hotel.

M. Lacroix left a will bequeathing his fortune of $20,000 to the municipality of the town, with the sole stipulation that his instructions for the funeral should be carried out to the letter.

NO SUBSTITUTE for "The D & L Menthol Plaster, although some unscrupulous dealers may say there is. Recommended by doctors, hospitals, clergy and everybody, for stiffness, pleurisy, etc.

"What is the matter?" said the lawyer to his coachman. "The horses are running away." "Can't you pull them up?" "I am afraid not." "Then," said the lawyer, after a judicial delay, "run into something cheap."

Corns cause intolerable pain. Holloway's Corn Cure removes the trouble. Try it, and see what amount of pain is saved.

INSULTED.

Andrew Thomas was a great "forgetter." He forgot to pay the money he owed, and to give people back the things he borrowed. Moreover, he was "touchy" on the subject, so that few of his friends liked to hint that he had any of their property in his possession. One day one of them took his courage in his hand.

"Where's that five dollars you borrowed me last month, Andrew?" he asked. "I don't want to seem tight, but I've just got to—"

Andrew replied with dignity, "Did you ever see anything I didn't return? No, I guess you didn't."

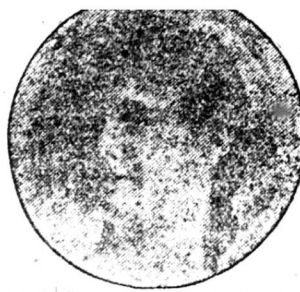

will break the most persistent cold and restore the air passages to their normal healthy condition. There is no need to recommend it to those familiar with it, but to those who seek a sure remedy and are in doubt what to use, the advice is—try Biekl's Syrup.

WELL, WHAT OF IT?

When a girl gets married she is practically the whole show. The man only plays a sort of bridegroom obligato.

ONE OF THE BEST old time remedies for all skin affections, such as Eczema, Ringworm, Scalds, and similar affections is Weaver's Cerate. It is an ointment that has brought relief to thousands.

"I wouldn't fight, my good men!" said the peacemakers. "But he called me a thief, sir!" exclaimed one of the combatants. "And he called me a lazy loafer!" cried the other. "Well," said the peacemaker, serenely, "I wouldn't fight over a difference of opinion; you both may be right."

I know a woman's sufferings. I have found a cure. I will mail, free of charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from women's ailments. I want to tell all women about the cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourself at home, without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for all female weaknesses peculiar to our sex.

I want to send you a complete 10 days' treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you should wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week, or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer, if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER," with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it, and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says "You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all, old or young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually cures Painful and Irregular Menstruation in young Ladies. Plumpness and health always result from its use.

Wherever you live I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this Home Treatment really cures all women's diseases and makes women strong, plump and robust. Just send me your address, and I will free ten days' treatment is yours, also the book. Write to-day, as you may not see this offer again. Address: MRS. M. SUMMERS, Box 103, Windsor, Ont.

Sample Boxes Free!!

Every mother, every father, every head of every local home, is now given an opportunity to test the finest household balm the world knows! Chapped places, eczema, ulcers, scalp sores, scalds, cuts, bruises, burns, face blemishes, sores due to blood-poisoning—all are healed by Zam-Buk.

Send this advertisement, the name of this paper and let a sample to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, and we will mail you free sample box.

ZAM-BUK

THE GREAT SKIN-CURE.

First it soothes the pain; then its antiseptic essences kill all disease germs on a wound. Then it builds up new tissue. Mothers have proved it best for the delicate skin of babes. It is purely herbal, never goes rancid, never stains, is free from the usual animal fats, and mineral poisons. It is used the world over! Why? Once you try it you will know. All stores and druggists, 50c. box or post free, Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

A BRIGHT BOY.
"Say," queried the father, "can't you give my boy a position in your store?"
"I don't know," rejoined the grocer.
"What can he do?"
"Well," rejoined the parent, "I don't suppose he could do much at first, except buy and sell goods and manage your business for you, but later on when he gets a little experience and sense he might be able to sweep out, do up packages and run errands."

SAMPLE COPY FREE
Would you like to have a sample copy of The Farmer's Advocate and Home Magazine?
THE BEST AGRICULTURAL AND HOME PAPER on the American Continent. No progressive farmer can afford to be without it. Published weekly. Only $1.50 per year. Drop post-card for free sample copy. Agents Wanted. Address:
"THE FARMER'S ADVOCATE"
Mention this paper. London Ont.

A. J. PATTISON & CO.
33-35, SCOTT ST., TORONTO,
Stock Brokers and Financial Agents
COBALT and other stocks bought and sold on commission. Correspondence invited. Orders may be wired at our expense.

PRINTERS
A CAMPBELL PRESS
TWO REVOLUTION
43x56 inch bed, cost $2,300,
Will be Sold for $400 Cash
In order to make room for larger and faster machines. It is in good running order, as it has just been thoroughly overhauled by a competent machinist.
The Wilson Publishing Co., Limited
73 Adelaide St. West, Toronto.

"PORTLAND FATTY" CAUGHT

He Is Wanted for Robbing a Bank at St. Raphael, Quebec.

A despatch from New York says: When several Central Office detectives at once were strolling through Chinatown the other night looking for suspicious characters, they took into custody a party of four men because they had recognized two of them as safe-blowers. One of the strangers, who described himself as George W. Monroe of Cumberland, Maine, made a plea for freedom, saying he knew nothing of the men in whose company he had been found.

On Wednesday Monroe, or as the police say he is better known as "Portland Fatty," was in a cell awaiting the call of Canadian officials, who wish to take him across the border to tell what he knows of the robbery of a bank in Quebec. In the pockets of the prisoner the police found a number of certificates marked "La Banque Provinciale, St. Raphael, Quebec, Canada." Inquiry showed that the bank was robbed on October 23. The Canadian authorities were notified of the arrest of "Portland Fatty," and two officers are here to attempt to bring about his extradition to Canada.

YOUNG FOLKS

THE LAUNDRYMAN.

When everything had been played with twice, Bob came to a standstill. "I don't want to be here any longer. I want mother to come," he said.

Grandmother made no answer. She tied the end of her ball of yarn to the top of her rocking-chair. She unwound it till it reached across the room, broke it off, and tied the other end to aunt's chair.

"That's a new clothes-line," she said, as she seated herself in her rocker, "and you're the laundryman."

"But I haven't any clothes to wash," answered Bob.

"If I had that newspaper over here," said grandmother, "I'd soon make you some. Thank you."

Bob watched her scissors snipping their way through the paper. "O grandmother," he cried, "you're cutting a stocking! I see its toe and its heel."

"It's a pair," said grandmother, taking them apart. "Here they go into the tub." She tossed them into grandmother's chair. "You'd better wash them."

Bob saw that the leather seat was a wash-board almost as good as Norah's. Keeping the stockings out flat, so as not to tear them, he rubbed them up and down on it.

"What's this?" asked grandmother, holding up a funny piece of paper she had been cutting.

Bob laughed. "It's my shirt!" he said. "There are the sleeves. I'll wash it, too."

Next grandmother made a queer thing with dangling legs.

"Trousers!" cried Bob and washed them in grandfather's chair, too.

"Why don't you hang that tubful up to dry now?" suggested grandmother. "They look clean."

Bob set to work. He had to fold each garment over at the top so it would hang.

"There they are," he said, at last. "Oh! The trousers have fallen off. I don't want them to do that. O dear!"

"I know. I rocked my chair a little by mistake," grandmother explained, "and that made the clothes-line move. But you know often a breeze comes and blows the been accepted as a juror in a previous trial of Abraham Ruef and afterwards removed, it having been shown in court by Heney that Haas was an ex-convict, a fact not brought out in his examination as a venieman. The shooting of Heney occurred in the presence of many persons in the courtroom during a recess on the trial of Abraham Ruef, on trial for the third time on the charge of bribery. At 6 o'clock at night Mr. Heney, who regained consciousness and will likely recover, said: "I will live to prosecute Haas and Ruef." The physicians in attendance on Heney expressed the opinion that the assistant district attorney would live.

HAAS SUICIDES IN CELL.

Maurice Haas, who on Friday attempted to assassinate Francis J. Heney, committed suicide on Saturday night by shooting himself in the head with a pistol he had concealed in his shoe.

WILLIAM BETTS KILLED.

Horses Ran Away and He was Dragged Some Distance.

A despatch from St. Catharines says: William Betts, 72 years of age, who had been a resident of Beamsville but one week, was killed near his home on the lake shore on Thursday. He had been to town and was driving along the lane leading to his house when the horses took fright and bolted. The unfortunate man was thrown over the dashboard, and, becoming entangled in the gearing of the wagon, was dragged some distance. When the team was stopped by the hired man Mr. Betts was unconscious, being severely bruised about the head and body. In the evening, despite medical aid, the injured man expired without regaining consciousness.

VISCOUNT KILLS GUIDE.

Fatal Accident to William Prettie Near Kenora.

A despatch from Kenora says: An unfortunate shooting accident, with fatal result, occurred on Friday, the victim being William Prettie, aged 32, a hunter and trapper of this district. A shooting party consisting of Major Hon. Jeffrey Vereker, his nephew, Viscount Gort, with William Prettie and George Gilbert, guides, left on Thursday to go moose hunting. While following the trail, Viscount

THE WORLD'S MARKETS

REPORTS FROM THE LEADING TRADE CENTRES.

Prices of Cattle, Grain, Cheese and Other Dairy Produce at Home and Abroad.

BREADSTUFFS.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Flour—Ontario wheat 90 per cent. patents quoted at $3.60 to $3.65 in buyers' sacks outside for export. Manitoba flour, first patents, $5.80 on track, Toronto, second patents, $5.50, and strong bakers', $5.10 to $5.20.

Wheat—Manitoba wheat $1.08½ for No. 1 Northern and at $1.05½ for No. 2 Northern, Georgian Bay ports.

Ontario Wheat—No. 2 white is quoted at 52c outside; No. 2 red Winter, 52c, and No. 2 mixed, 91½ to 92c outside.

Oats—Ontario No. 2 white quoted at 39 to 40c outside, and at 42c on track, Toronto; No. 2 Western Canada oats quoted at 42c, Goderich.

Rye—No. 2 77c outside. Barley—No. 2, 56 to 57c, and No. 3 extra at 55 to 55½c outside.

Buckwheat—51 to 54½c outside. Peas—No. 2 85½ to 86½c outside.

Corn—No. 2 American yellow nominal at 80c on track, Toronto New No. 3 yellow quoted at 71½c Toronto.

Brans—Cars are quoted at $18 to $19 in bulk outside. Shorts quoted at $22 in bulk outside.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Apples—Winter store, $2.50 to $2.50 per barrel for good qualities, and at $1.50 to $2 for cooking apples.

Beans—Prime, $1.50 to $1.85, and hand-picked, $1.50 to $1.95 per bushel.

Honey—Combs, $2.25 to $2.75 per dozen, and strained, 10 to 11c per pound.

Hay—No. 1 timothy quoted at $11 to $11.50 a ton on track here, and No. 2 at $7 to $8.

Straw—$6.50 to $8 on track.

Potatoes—60 to 62c per bag. Delawares, 75 to 80c per bag on track.

Poultry—Chickens, dressed, 8 to 9c per pound; fowl, 6 to 7c; ducks, 9 to 10c; geese, 8c per pound; turkeys, 11 to 12½c per pound.

THE DAIRY MARKETS.

Butter—Pound prints, 23 to 24c; tubs, 22 to 23c; inferior, 19 to 20c. Creamery rolls, 27 to 28c, and solids, 25½ to 26c.

Eggs—Case lots of storage, 22 to 23c per dozen, while new laid are quoted at 28 to 30c per dozen.

Cheese—Large cheese, 13½c per pound, and twins, 13½c.

HOG PRODUCTS.

Bacon—Long clear, 12 to 12½c per pound in case lots; mess pork, $19 to $19.50; short cut, $23.50.

Hams—Light to medium, 14 to 14½c; do., heavy, 12 to 13c; rolls, 11 to 11½c; shoulders, 10 to 10½c; backs, 16½ to 17c; breakfast bacon, 15 to 16½c.

Lard—Tierces, 13c; tubs, 13½c; pails, 13½c.

BUSINESS AT MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 17—Canadian Western No. 2 white oats are selling at 45 to 45½c, No. 3 at 44½c.

TWO WOMEN FOUGHT ROBBER.

Shocking Affair in Lonely Hut in Cobalt District.

A despatch from Cobalt says: On Thursday, about 4.30 o'clock in the afternoon, two women living alone in a small log shack about a mile east of Argentite were attacked by a man evidently bent upon robbery, but he may have a murder charge to face if captured. The two women are Ethel Stone and Carrie Smith. Ethel Stone is able to be out of the hospital, although she has two bad cuts on the side and the back of the head. Carrie Smith had both jaws broken, her head cut in several places, and her recovery is doubtful. Their assailant escaped through the woods and the police are still on the trail.

OIL NOT UP TO STANDARD?

Manitoba Government Investigating Price and Quality.

A despatch from Winnipeg says: An investigation by provincial and Dominion authorities into the quality, price of oil and the general oil industry of the West began on Wednesday. Officers went to Swan River, where a family of eight perished last week through the explosion of inferior oil. Oil is selling in Winnipeg at 40 cents a gallon, whereas it is on sale 50 miles south of the border at 12 cents. The Standard Oil officer at Winnipeg swears the price is maintained by the local guild and that his company sells to them at 12 cents. The great feature, however, is the charge being pressed that the oil is not up to the legal standard by 40 points and that this has caused many deaths in Manitoba recently.

BOUND TO EXCLUDE THEM.

Restrictions on Oriental Immigration May be Increased.

A despatch from Nelson, B. C., says: Speaking on Tuesday night, Hon. Frank Oliver declared that if the five hundred dollar head tax would not exclude the Chinese, the Government would raise it as fast as the Chinamen's wages had lately been raised. Similarly, Hindus, although they were British subjects, were not to be admitted unless they had two hundred dollars. This was meant to be prohibitive, and if the amount was not sufficient to be prohibitive it would be made so.

DEATH OF DR. WITHROW.

Prominent Methodist Editor and Author Passes Away.

A despatch from Toronto says: Following an attack of paralysis sustained on Thursday the 15th instant, Rev. Dr. William H. Withrow of the Methodist Publishing House, author, editor and traveler, passed away shortly before 12 o'clock on Thursday night at his home, 244 Jarvis street. As a man high in the councils of the Methodist Church and one whose kindness endeared him to many hearts his unexpected demise comes as a shock.

HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

Yardman Blamed for Fatal Wreck at Brantford.

A despatch from Brantford says: Joseph Maguire, late Grand Trunk yardman, who was held by the company as partially responsible for the recent wreck in which one passenger and two Canadians

COND

RAPPE

Telegra

Grain

The local of John Lindsay Friday.

Assess man pla 287,201.

Dr. F timber, as is ge

A mu was arr passing

A rich country Francis real.

Ten (quor ac have b at Win

Frank been se months way em

A tru against for mai sewage

The been in at Gu

lic nuis tion.

Repor that la being alone,

on the Both

cial Go an inq oil beir o' rece

The (electric tunnel

Thursd the nev ed.

It is sand er Railwa, ternati indeper fax.

A C Bell H Mechar strictu of the C.

The appoint Mr. are sai unempl Lord t turn to no pre immigr

Mr. speakir cable i surest world's

The deficit

each garment over at the top so it would hang.

"There they are," he said, at last. "Oh! The trousers have fallen off. I don't want them to do that. O dear!"

"I know. I rocked my chair a little by mistake," grandmother explained, "and that made the clothes-line move. But you know often a breeze comes and blows the clothes off on the ground. Just rinse the trousers out again. And here are some more clothes to be washed with them."

"Mittens!" cried Bob, as he put them into the chair-tub. "I see the thumbs! And those with fingers are gloves. And what's this big one? Oh, a nightgown, with long legs and feet, just like mine! And what a pretty handkerchief, with rounds on the edge!"

Soon these new clothes were washed and on the line.

"Now," said grandmother, "sit in aunt's chair and make a gentle breeze blow, so that they'll dry. Laundrymen always want their clothes to dry fast."

Bob rocked a little, and the clothes-line tied to the chair dipped, and the paper garments swung and flapped. "See the wind blow. Hurrah!" he cried.

"Now you make some clothes," said grandmother, giving him his round-mounted scissors.

Bob found he could cut belts and neckties and handkerchiefs and towels, and even sheets for Teddy Bear's bed. Generally he did not like to sit in a chair, but it was fun to cut clothes and to make the breeze blow. Now and then he rocked very hard, and shouted, "Look out! An awful wind's coming! There goes my washing into the mud!"

Of course it had to be washed and dried again; and then more garments had to be cut. But by supper-time, when mother came, there was a wheelbarrow load of all sorts of clothes, all clean and dry, and ready for the next game—Youth's Companion.

THE PROSECUTION SHOT.

Attempt to Assassinate F. J. Heney in San Francisco.

A despatch from San Francisco says: Francis J. Heney, a leading figure in the prosecution of municipal corruption in San Francisco, was shot and seriously injured at 4:22 o'clock on Friday in Judge Lawlor's courtroom by Morris Hans, a Jewish saloon-keeper, who had an unfortunate shooting accident, with fatal result, occurred on Friday, the victim being William Prettie, aged 32, a hunter and trapper of this district. A shooting party consisting of Major Hon. Jeffrey Vereker, his nephew, Viscount Gort, with William Prettie and George Gilbert, guides, left on Thursday to go moose hunting. While following the trail, Viscount Gort slipped on a large stone and fell, the rifle going off, the bullet entering Prettie's leg and going right through. He was brought to the Jubilee Hospital here, but died on Saturday. Viscount Gort is the eldest son of Lord Gort, and came to Canada to visit his uncle a few weeks ago and to hunt large game.

ALL PEEN IN MOURNING.

Emperor and Empress Died Less Than Two Days Apart.

A despatch from Peking says: Kuang-Hsu, the puppet Emperor of China, died on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and his death was followed at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon by that of Tzu-Hsi-An, the Dowager Empress, the actual ruler of the country. Prince Pu-Yi, the three-year-old son of Prince Chun, succeeds to the throne, and his father is appointed regent until he assumes the reins of power. An edict to this effect was issued on Sunday morning.

SHERIFF OF ESSEX DEAD.

Passed Away at His Home in Sandwich on Friday.

A despatch from Sandwich says: J. C. Her, for many years Sheriff of the county of Essex, died at his home here at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon. Sheriff Her, who was several weeks.

THREE KILLED AT CROSSING.

Run Down by Grand Trunk Train at Kingscourt Junction.

A despatch from London says: David Loughhead, his wife and little daughter, were killed near Kingscourt Junction on Sunday afternoon by a Grand Trunk passenger train No. 3. Mr. Loughhead was driving home from church and was crossing the track when the train suddenly came into view. Before he could get the rig over the track the engine struck it. The three occupants of the buggy and the horse were instantly killed.

CHINA NOT AFRAID OF JAPAN

Men Are Being Trained for the Inevitable War Between the Two Nations.

A despatch from Philadelphia, Pa., says: Declaring that the youth of China, the younger and more progressive element in the nation, would in a great revolution overthrow the present dynasty, Rev. William Christie, a missionary at the Christian and Mission Alliance, stated that great disturbances were about due in the Celestial Empire, and also that a war with Japan was in contemplation. Mr. Christie said:

"The object of the revolutionary movement is the overthrow of the present dynasty, which is hated for its conservatism and feared for its power. During the past year there have been three abortive attempts, each time before the movement was ripe. The unrest is being fostered by the student element.

"China is not afraid of Japan. The Government is working night and day in the training of men for the war with the Japanese that eventually will come. All this talk of conciliation between Japan and China in the event of another war with the western nations, is ridiculous."

11 to 11½; shoulders, 10 to 10½; backs, 16½ to 17½; breakfast bacon, 15 to 16½.
Lard—Tierces, 13c; tubs, 13½c; pails, 13½c.

BUSINESS AT MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 17.—Canadian Western No. 2 white oats are selling at 45 to 45½c, No. 3 at 44½c, extra No. 1 feed oats at 44½c, and No. 1 feed at 43½ to 44c, Ontario No. 2 white at 44½c, No. 3 at 43½c, and No. 4 at 43c per bushel, ex store. Flour—Manitoba Spring wheat patents, firsts at $6, seconds at $5.50; Winter wheat patents, $5 to $5.25; straight rollers, $4.50 to $4.60; do., in bags, $2.10 to $2.20; extras, $1.75 to $1.85. Feed—Manitoba bran, $21; shorts, $21, Ontario bran, $21.50 to $22; middlings, $25 to $26; shorts, $24.50 to $25 per ton, including bags; pure grain mouille, $26 to $27; milled grades, $25 to $26 per ton. Provisions—Barrels short cut mess, $13.50; half-barrels, $11.50; clear fat backs, $23; dry salt long clear backs, 11c; barrels plate beef, $17.50; half barrels do., $9; compound lard, 5½ to 9½c; pure lard, 12½ to 13c; kettle rendered, 13 to 13½c; hams, 12½ to 14c; breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c; Windsor bacon, 15 to 16c; fresh killed abattoir dressed hogs, 39.25 to 39.50, alive, $6.25 to $6.50 per cwt. Cheese—Western, 12½ to 12½c. Butter—27 to 27½c in round lots; 55c in jobbing lots. Eggs—Sales of new laid were made at 29c, selected at 29½c, No. 1 at 22c, and No. 2 at 17½c per dozen.

UNITED STATES MARKETS.

Duluth, Nov. 17.—Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.05½; No. 1 Northern, $1.06½; No. 2 Northern, $1.05½; Dec, $1.04½; May, $1.05½; Nov, $1.06½. Minneapolis, Nov. 17.—Wheat—Dec, $1.04½ to $1.04½; May, $1.05½ to $1.05½; cash wheat, No. 1 hard, $1.05½; No. 1 Northern, $1.06½; No. 2 Northern, $1.05½; No. 3 Spring wheat $1.03½ to $1.04. Bran—$17.50 to $17.75. Flour—First patents, $5.40 to $5.50; second patents, $5.15 to $5.40; first clears, $4 to $4.30; second clears, $3 to $3.20. Buffalo, Nov. 17.—Wheat—Spring firm; No. 1 Northern, carloads, $1.10½; Winter firm. Corn—Laster No. 3 yellow, 69c; No. 3 corn, 61 to 62c. Oats—Higher; No. 2 white, 53½ to 54c; No. 3 white, 52 to 53c; No. 4 white, 51 to 52c. Rye—No. 2 on track, 80c.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Choice butchers' cattle brought $4.85 per cwt., while a straight load of choice cattle changed hands at $4.65 per cwt. Good cattle were worth $4 to $4.40, according to weight and finish and medium were quoted at $3.50 to $4. Few good butchers' cows were on the market. Their sales ranged at from $3 to $4 per cwt. Heavy continue in demand at high figures for good steers. These sold at $3.80 to $4 per cwt. Bulls were sold at $2.85 to $3.10. The prices of good stockers were quoted from $3 to $3.80 per cwt. Dealers report limited offerings of springers and milch cows. Calves were slow of sale. The bulk of the offerings were not of extra good quality. Hogs continued steady at $6 per cwt. fed and watered, for selects.

Four men were killed by an explosion of dynamite at Port Daniel, Quebec, on Saturday.

HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

Yardman Blamed for Fatal Wreck at Brantford.

A despatch from Brantford says: Joseph Maguire, late Grand Trunk yardman, who was held by the company as partially responsible for the recent wreck in which one Brantfordite and two Londoners were killed, was, on Wednesday, committed for trial at the next High Court Assizes on a charge of manslaughter. His counsel made an effort to have the charge reduced to neglect, but the Crown refused, and will press the case against him.

MUSTN'T ENTER SALOONS.

Harriman Railways in West Want Temperate Employees.

A despatch from Portland, Oregon, says: Ralph Blaisdell, auditor of the Harriman system of the railroads in the northwest, has "for the good of the service," issued an order forbidding employees in his department visiting saloons or liquor houses for any purpose whatever. The order affects about 500 employees. Several months ago Blaisdell discharged all the women clerks and stenographers in his department and replaced them with men on the ground that men are more efficient.

GEN. LAKE TO STAY IN CANADA.

War Office Has Extended His Term for Several Years.

A despatch from Ottawa says: It is understood that, in consequence of a request sent to London by the Canadian Government, the War Office has consented to allowing Major-General Sir Percy Lake to remain in Canada, as Inspector-General of the forces for another two or three years, the Imperial Government promising to safeguard his rights of promotion and seniority in the army while he is serving in Canada.

IRISH PAINTINGS BURNED.

Council Chamber of Dublin City Hall Was Damaged.

A despatch from Dublin says: The Chamber of the Dublin City Hall was gutted by fire on Wednesday and the City Hall itself had a narrow escape from destruction. All the paintings in the rooms of the Council Chamber, many of which were of historic interest, including the well-known picture of Daniel O'Connell, were destroyed in the flames.

SLIPPED UNDER THE ICE.

Alfred W. Harvey Drowned at Saskatoon, Sask.

A despatch from Saskatoon, Sask., says: While skating with a party of friends on Wednesday night on the Hudson's Bay slough Alfred W. Harvey fell heavily on his head near an air hole, breaking through the ice and skidding for some distance beneath. Not knowing the depth of the water, which subsequently proved to be only two feet, his friends formed a chain, and after some ten minutes' distressing work succeeded in getting the unfortunate man to the bank, by which time, however, it was too late. The deceased was about twenty-four years of age, and came here some years ago from London, England.

CONDENSED NEWS ITEMS

HAPPENINGS FROM ALL OVER THE GLOBE.

Telegraphic Briefs From Our Own and Other Countries of Recent Events.

CANADA.

Grain carriers report business very brisk on the lakes.

The town of Trenton will vote on local option in January.

John Campbell, brakeman, of Lindsay, was killed at Orillia on Friday.

Assessment Commissioner Forman places Toronto's population at 287,201.

Dr. Fernow says that Canada's timber wealth is not nearly so great as is generally supposed.

A mulatto named Robert Collins was arrested at St. Catharines for passing forged checks.

A rich find of iron in Rainy River country is reported by Messrs. G. Francis and D. Matheson of Montreal.

Ten charges of violating the liquor act by selling on election day have been laid against one hotel at Winnipeg.

Frank Arkles of Owen Sound has been sentenced to jail for three months for selling liquor to a railway employee.

A true bill has been returned against the corporation of Guelph for maintaining a nuisance at the sewage disposal plant.

The Grand Trunk Railway has been indicted by the Grand Jury at Guelph for maintaining a public nuisance, referring to the station.

Reports from New Ontario state that large numbers of moose are being slaughtered for the heads alone, and the carcasses left lying on the ground to rot.

Both the Dominion and Provincial Governments have instituted an inquiry into the quality of coal oil being sold in Manitoba, in view of recent accidents.

The Grand Trunk took over the electric system at the St. Clair tunnel from the contractors on Thursday, and the inauguration of the new system was duly celebrated.

It is reported that eight thousand employees of the Intercolonial Railway have seceded from the International Union and formed an independent organization at Halifax.

A Calgary despatch says Mr. Bell Hardy has resigned from the Mechanics' Union on account of the strictures contained in the report of the committee that investigated the C. P. R. strike settlement.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Bishop of Stepney has been appointed Archbishop of York.

Mr. Asquith and Mr. John Burns are said to have fallen out over the unemployed question.

Lord Milner, interviewed on his return to England, said he had found no prejudice against the English immigrant in Canada.

Mr. John Henniker Heaton, speaking in London, urged cheap cable and telegraph rates as the surest method of maintaining the world's peace.

UNITED STATES.

The United States has a postal

TWO-POWER STANDARD.

Mr. Asquith Tells the Commons What He Means by It.

A despatch from London says: Premier Asquith set forth in the House of Commons on Thursday what was meant by the two-power standard of naval strength of Great Britain, and his announcement brought out hearty cheers from all sides. Up to the present time Mr. Asquith has been non-committal concerning a radical definition of this standard which the Government is pledged to maintain. The Premier informed Arthur Lee, a Conservative member of the House, that the Government accepted the two-power standard as meaning a preponderance of ten per cent. over the combined strength in capital ships of the two next strongest naval powers. This statement is taken to confirm the belief held in naval circles that at least six additional warships of the Dreadnought type will be provided for in the next naval estimates.

MOUNTAIN OF IRON ORE.

Immense Deposits Discovered in Gloucester County, N. B.

A despatch from Moncton, N. B., says: That there exists in Gloucester county a literal mountain of iron ore, the deposit extending eighty feet in the air and at least 400 feet beneath the surface in vast quantities, is the report brought to this city by Mr. W. J. Pride, who has been visiting the iron deposits which were recently acquired by the Drummond Company. Mr. Pride brought with him a few pieces of the ore. He says that at the present time there are some thirty men at work at the mine, which is about twenty miles from Bathurst. Several buildings are being erected. The ore will be hauled to Red Pine, a distance of twenty miles, from the deposit, and shipped.

DISHONESTY IN PACKING.

Apple-Pickers not of Sufficient High Character.

A despatch from Toronto says: At a meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association, held last week, a debate on packing and packages provoked an interesting discussion. Mr. Elmer Lick, of Oshawa, affirmed that a man must have both skill and character to be a good apple packer. An apple should be handled like an egg, and not as if it were a stone or a turnip, as was the custom with the average packer. With regard to character, he knew that young men would not go with the average apple gang or be associated with it, and in many cases the men could not get board because they were such a rough crew. And if packing was to be good a grower must employ men whom he could implicitly trust. The result was, as in a case he had in mind, where a man brought in 126 barrels of apples and got less than $25 for them.

RADICAL LABOR CABINET.

Will Undertake the Government of Australia.

A despatch from Melbourne says: Mr. Fisher, one of the radical Labor leaders of Australia, will form the new Australian Cabinet. The House defeated the Premier, Alfred Peakin, on the division. The Laborites withdrew their support be-

LEFT CHINAMEN TO DROWN

Six Orientals Lost Their Lives on the Buffalo Sea Wall

A despatch from Buffalo says: Several suspects have been arrested here in connection with the investigation being made by the Buffalo police with a view to finding out what white men smuggled from Canada to this port the ten Chinamen, six of whom were drowned and four rescued at the Government breakwall here early on Thursday morning. So far none of the suspects arrested has been identified by the four survivors. Chief of Police Taylor of Buffalo said he did not believe any white men lost their lives in connection with the case. The bodies of the last two of the six Chinese victims were recovered on Thursday afternoon. It is said that in the pockets of one of the drowned men were found the name and address of Marks Co., 687 Yonge street, Toronto. The name of this victim is not known. Two boats in which the ten Chinamen had crossed from the Canadian shore were wrecked against the breakwall, half a mile east of Michigan avenue, at an early hour on Thursday morning, probably about 1.30. The sea was running high and the men were thrown into the water and dashed again and again against the rocks. How the survivors came through the terrible hours that followed is a mystery, for it was not till quite 3.30 that Ralph White, a watchman on the stone boat Atlas, which was working on the breakwall, heard a cry in the darkness. He landed to investigate and met a bruised and bedraggled Chinaman crawling toward the boat. White helped the chattering man aboard and then roused the crew to help him look for others. In a short time three more Chinamen had been pulled over the rocks and set down to dry and toast beside the engine. The four men said they had come from Toronto, and gave their names as: Mock Quong, aged 42; Pong Sing, 25; Ching Jing, 22, and Chin Jon, 19.

The crew of the Atlas could find no more survivors, and though they sent repeated signals to the life-saving station, no boat was sent out till daybreak, by which time the gasoline launch and rowboat in which the Chinamen had crossed from the Canadian shore had been dashed to splinters. The life-savers could do nothing when they arrived, but attempted to extricate the six bodies, which had been beaten in among the rocks of the breakwall, and were showing here a bare stiff arm, with clenched fist thrust up; there a frozen yellow leg, and again a bundle of sodden rags and flesh tightly wedged in a rock crevice. Four of the bodies were recovered, the others remaining tightly fastened in the rocks.

HEALTH

MILK-SICKNESS.

This is a disease affecting both dairy cattle and man. It formerly prevailed extensively in some parts of what was then called the West.—Ohio, Indiana and Illinois,—but more particularly in the northern part of Ohio—the Western Reserve. The disease disappeared with the growth of the country, and in later years doubt arose whether there ever was such a malady. Recently, however, an affection, presenting the very symptoms described by the older medical writers as those of milk-sickness, has appeared in New Mexico.

In cattle the disease is called the "slows" or the "trembles," the latter name being given because of a peculiar muscular tremor which is a conspicuous symptom. The animal appears listless and refuses to graze, but drinks eagerly if water is offered, and keeps by itself away from the rest of the herd. Soon the trembling comes on, the animal is no longer able to stand, its breathing becomes slower and slower, its eyes are dull and glazed, its legs cold, and death follows in two or three days. Constipation is usually marked throughout the entire course of the disease.

The malady prevails especially in marshy districts and along the borders of rivers with low banks. Post-mortem examination of animals dead of the "trembles" shows a but do not tie it, just put the stocking on with the soap a little in front of the toes, because when the shoe is put on it will push it back.

Cough Syrup.—Put a large lemon in the oven and allow it to remain until thoroughly baked. When done it will be soft all the way through. Add enough honey to the pulp to make a thick syrup. Keep the syrup warm and take a teaspoonful every half hour. It will relieve hoarseness in a short while and is useful where there are small children.

For the Convalescent.—When recovering from sickness and about ready to sit up, practice sitting straight up in bed if only for a moment at a time and then lean back on the pillows. Do this every fifteen minutes if possible and you will find when able to get out of bed that the giddiness or uncomfortable feeling in the head has entirely disappeared.

Toys for Convalescents. — Mothers are often at a loss for playthings for children convalescent from a contagious disease, as they must be burned later on. Cheap play materials, such as wooden beads to be strung on shoestring, colored pegs to be fitted in peg boards, paper chains, etc., may be obtained at the kindergarten supply houses.

EIGHTY YEARS IN WATER.

Large Quantity of Pine to be Recovered From Rideau Lakes.

A despatch from Kingston says: A great quantity of sunken pine in the Rideau Lake section has been secured by the Ogdensburg, N. Y. S. S. D. Co. and will be no prejudice against the English immigrant in Canada.

TER. Mr. John Henniker Heaton, speaking in London, urged cheap cable and telegraph rates as the surest method of maintaining the world's peace.

Wreck

UNITED STATES.
The United States has a postal deficit of $16,910,279 for the fiscal year ending June 30th last. In the year ending June 30th last 3,764 persons were killed in railroad accidents in the United States.

A ten-year-old negro boy has been convicted of murder in Georgia, and has been sentenced to life imprisonment.

CNS. A rush of emigrants from Europe to America has already begun. The Hamburg-American Liner Amerika is bringing 1,600.

Want
The strike of the men in the employ of the International Paper Company, which has been on since August 1, has been settled.

Eight persons were killed and ten wounded in a fight with a negro desperado at Okmulgee, Oklahoma, on Saturday.

A company capitalized at $75,000,000 is being organized to take over the fertilizer business of the Armour and Swift Packing Companies.

C. W. Morse, the ice trust promoter recently sentenced, has sworn that he has not enough of his great fortune left to pay his honest debts.

NADA
E. H. B. Mackey, an insane stenographer, attempted on Monday to assassinate the Postmaster of New York city, and then committed suicide.

s Term
GENERAL.
The death of the Emperor of China, which is believed to be near at hand, will probably bring about a contest for supremacy between the Chinese and Manchus. It is reported in Calcutta that rifles and revolvers are being imported into Bengal in cases labeled "sewing machines" or "cotton."

NED. TWO MEN INSTANTLY KILLED.
in City Derrick Boom Crashed Down on Workers.

A despatch from Trenton says: About 10 o'clock on Friday morning, at the construction of the Trent Canal, near Glen Miller, about three miles north of Trenton, two men were instantly killed by the falling of a big derrick. One of the men was the foreman in charge of the work, and his home is in Trenton. His name is Wm. Cronen, a middle-aged man of forty odd years. The other man killed was an elderly Italian workman, whose name is unknown.

LOVERS KILLED BY TRAIN.
Burial of Earl Crandell and Alma Miles at Sandy Creek.

A despatch from Ottawa says: Lying side by side in their caskets, the double funeral of Earl Crandell, aged 28, and Miss Alma Miles, his affianced bride, aged 18, took place at Sandy Creek, near Brockville, on Wednesday. Lovers through life, they were not parted in death, and the last rites were said over the altar banked with flowers where the two white caskets rested. Driving together and discussing their coming marriage, their carriage was struck by a train and both were instantly killed.

RADICAL LABOR CABINET.
Will Undertake the Government of Australia.
A despatch from Melbourne says: Mr. Fisher, one of the radical Labor leaders of Australia, will form the new Australian Cabinet. The House defeated the Premier, Alfred Deakin, on the division. The Laborites withdrew their support because the Government has not pushed labor measures radical enough to suit them. This will be the second time the Labor party has been in power in the Australian Federal Parliament. J. C. Watson, another of the Labor leaders, was Premier for a short time in 1904.

MINERS TOSSED BY QUAKE.
Death Valley Region is Visited by Severe Shocks.
A despatch from San Bernardino, California, says: Death Valley and the surrounding country are in the throes of a series of earthquakes, which occurred Wednesday, causing consternation. Many miners and prospectors have fled from the region. For three weeks there have been one or two rumblings daily. The dismal crags of the Funeral Range seemed to totter when a more severe shock came last week. Miners were tossed from their bunks, camp equipment was scattered about, horses and mules stampeded, and immense boulders were thrown down.

JAPAN CUTS DOWN EXPENSES.
The Budget Shows a Weeding Out of $18,000,000.
A despatch from Tokio says: The budget for the year 1905-10 which has been nearly completed, shows receipts of 545,650,000 yen, that figure including a surplus of 52,210,000 yen; expenditure, 513,650,000 yen, including disbursements made on the special war account of 11,910,000 yen. Expenditures postponed from the previous year amount to 14,600,000 yen. Premier Katsura states that the larger percentage of postponements belongs to the army and navy. Particular stress is laid upon the amount of the decrease in expenditures, amounting to 37,000,000 yen ($18,000,000).

ELEVEN WERE KILLED.
Rear-End Collision at Littlewoods, Near New Orleans.
A despatch from New Orleans says: Eleven persons are dead and a score or more injured as the result of a wreck on Wednesday on the New Orleans & Northeastern Railroad at Littlewoods, twelve miles from New Orleans. Between Slidell and New Orleans the tracks of the New Orleans & Northeastern Railroad are used by the Great Northern Railroad, and it was a suburban train of this road from Covington that crashed into the rear of a local Northeastern train from Hattiesburg, Miss., telescoping the four rear coaches.

HEALTH HINTS.
A splinter can be extracted without any pain in this manner: Nearly fill a wide mouthed bottle with hot water; place the injured part over the mouth, and press tightly. The suction will draw the flesh down, and in a minute or two the splinter will come out.
Corn Salve:—Take about a teaspoonful of common yellow soap. Put the soap on a strip of cloth about two inches wide and two inches from the end. The strip should go around the foot twice.

A violent earthquake shock caused a panic on Thursday at Spa, Belgium.
As compensation for the annexation by Austria of Bosnia and Herzegovina, Serbia demands a grant of territory and an outlet to the Adriatic.

PLY HOUSES.
EIGHTY YEARS IN WATER.
Large Quantity of Pine to be Recovered From Rideau Lakes.
A despatch from Kingston says: A great quantity of sunken pine in the Rideau Lake section has been secured by the Ogdensburg, N. Y., Soda Pulp Company, and will be raised by means of dredges and taken to Ogdensburg for use in the mills. The pine, though under water for some eighty years, is sound, and it is thought some 500,000 cords can be recovered. The timber was left while lumbering operations were undertaken in the Rideau region.

HON F. E. A. EVANTUREL DEAD.
Was Former Speaker of Ontario Legislature.
A despatch from Montreal says: Word was telephoned here on Sunday of the death of Hon. F. E. A. Ewanturel, clerk of the Canadian senate, and formerly M.L.A. for Prescott and Speaker of the Ontario Legislature. Death was due to pneumonia.

Earl Spencer tells some amusing anecdotes of his sojourn in Ireland in the days of his Viceroyship. He represented an unpopular Government and often went about at the risk of his life. But the Earl showed no fear, and transacted both business and pleasure as usual. Once he was out with the hounds and as he was crossing a line observed a funeral cortege approaching. Fearful of offending the mourners by crossing the track, the Earl drew up his horse in a copse until they should have passed. But just as the procession filed by the baying hounds, close upon their quarry, burst through a hedge and across the road. To the surprise of Earl Spencer the mourners dropped their burden and, taking up the cry of the huntsman, joined in the chase. Nor did they return to their mournful office until the fox had been laid by the heels.

The movement in opposition to the personal rule of the Emperor has spread to the German army.

THREE HUNDRED MEN LOST
Greatest Mine Disaster of Many Years in Germany.

A despatch from Hamm, Westphalia, Germany, says: The greatest mine disaster in many years in Germany occurred on Thursday morning at the Redbad mine, three miles from here. There was a very heavy explosion in the mine about 4 a.m., and almost immediately the mine took fire. Of 350 miners only six escaped without injury. Thirty-five were taken out badly injured, and 27 bodies were brought out. The remaining 302 have been given up for lost. The explosion destroyed one of the shafts, which had to be partly repaired before the rescue work was begun.
Heartrending scenes were enacted at the mine when the dead and wounded were brought to the surface, and there were similar scenes in the town when the injured were transported through the streets to the hospitals.
Finally the fire had made such great headway that it was decided that any further attempts to rescue the entombed men were vain, owing to the impossibility of entering the galleries. At the same time an order was issued to flood the mine. First reports indicated that the accident was the result of an explosion of coal dust, but the statements of the injured men render this impossible.

My Hair is Extra Long

Feed your hair; nourish it; give it something to live on. Then it will stop falling, and will grow long and heavy. Ayer's Hair Vigor is the only genuine hair-food you can buy. It gives new life to the hair-bulbs. You save what hair you have, and get more, too. And it keeps the scalp clean and healthy.

The best kind of a testimonial—
"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.
Also manufacturers of:
Ayer's SARSAPARILLA.
PILLS.
CHERRY PECTORAL.

The Napnaee Express

E. J. POLLARD.
EDITOR and PROPRIETOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 50 per line for each insertion, if in ordinary type. In black type the rate will be 10c per line each insertion.

E. & J. HARDY & CO.

Advertising Contractors and News Correspondents.

Fleet Street, London, E.C., England.

A file of this paper can be seen free of charge by visitors to London, to whom advice gratis will be given, if required.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

CHANGE OF CLUB RATES.

On and after 1st December, 1905, the following will be the Club Rates:

THE NAPNAEE EXPRESS and the Weekly Globe.....	$1.50
THE NAPNAEE EXPRESS and the Family Herald and Weekly Star.....	$1.65
THE NAPNAEE EXPRESS and the Semi-Weekly Whig.....	$1.65
THE NAPNAEE EXPRESS and the Weekly Witness.....	$1.50
THE NAPNAEE EXPRESS and the Weekly Sun.....	$1.65
Any three of the above papers.....	$2.40
THE NAPNAEE EXPRESS and the Daily Toronto Star.....	$2.25

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion from whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms for Canada, $3.75 a year, postage prepaid. Sold by all newsdealers.

POLITICAL NEWS!

The campaign is over, the evidence has been heard and the verdict rendered. The verdict is in favor of the Government and a significant protest against methods involving vilification, slander, and unsupported charges of wrong-doing described as graft.

What Happened.

It is interesting to trace the course of events. For several sessions the Opposition, led by Geo. E. Foster, have carried on a system of obstruction to the public service by introducing to the House long arguments in support of the contention that certain transactions of the Government were detrimental to the interests of the people, and scandalous, in that public men were said to be involved in collusive dealings with officials of the Government.

As each transaction was exploited it was met by evidence of the most convincing character that displayed the affair under discussion in its true light, and the so-called scandal, so far as Parliament was concerned, died a natural death.

As the time for elections approached, these various matters were assembled in the form of campaign literature. They were not presented to the people with the evidence in rebuttal, but only the case as presented by the Opposition and this literature was given a wide circulation throughout the country.

Ontario the Battleground.

The main battleground was decided upon as in Ontario and in that province the main forces of both sides clashed, and the issues were fought to a finish.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier took the position from the beginning of the campaign that slanders which had been disposed of in the House, were not worth attention outside of it, which led the people to analyze the subjects as presented on both sides. The result was that what might have been expected, plain truths were more convincing than distorted facts, a clear explanation was more acceptable than a general statement unsupported by evidence.

The Evidence.

As the campaign progressed, the people heard with patience the charges of extravagance, grafting and improvident dealing with the public domain. When the Liberal side of the subject was advanced it was easily demonstrated that what was described as extravagance was a legitimate increase in the expenditure of a growing country with expanding commerce.

It was shown that there had been no grafting, and that no charge had been brought against the Government involving any member in a dishonest or corrupt act.

The records proved that the lands had found their way into the hands of the settlers, and not those of the speculator.

The Verdict.

When the electors heard the general charge upon the one hand, and the explicit contradiction given in convincing detail from the official records, they had no difficulty in forming an opinion and arriving at the conclusion that the Opposition, having no policy had substituted scandal, and that scandal had failed.

Slanderers Rejected.

It is a very significant fact, not to be disregarded, that Fowler, Lefurgey, Bennett and Pope, have been rejected by the electors, and the stamp of disapproval has been placed upon their methods in the House, and their actions outside of it. Mr. Foster alone

100 DROPS

CASTORIA

A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of

INFANTS - CHILDREN

Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral. NOT NARCOTIC.

Recipe of Old Dr. SAMUEL FITCHER

Pumpkin Seed -
Aloes - Rhubarb - Anise Seed - Peppermint - Sassafras -
Worm Seed - Clarified Sugar -
Nutmeg - Flavour

Perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.

Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fitcher
NEW YORK.

At 6 months old
35 Doses - 35 CENTS

EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says: "Put it on the label if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good!! Hereafter, for this very reason, mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure

"ALL DEALERS"

and to parade them in the future should not be tolerated.

Never before in the history of Canada was there such a campaign of baseless slander. The English papers have received an erroneous impression of our public life, by reason of the reiterated allegations of grafting and malfeasance in office, made by the Conservatives. The fact that the chief slanderers have been rejected by the people of this country may never be generally known in England, and this country has been placed in a false light before the world and much in-some operations without fear of fiscal disturbances, and the ordinary affairs of life may now be resumed with absolute knowledge that five more years of prosperity face the people.

Congratulations in Order

The people of Canada have great occasion for rejoicing that the leading obstructionists of the House have been left at home. The public business should now proceed without delay and at a much less cost to the country at large.

New Rules Necessary.

It must be evident to the most casual observer of political history that the people have registered a protest against obstruction and the obstructionists. Should there be any more of it, the Prime Minister would be justified in introducing amendments to the rules of the House so that an instant stop can be placed on it. This was found to be a much required rule last session, and should it be applied by the new Parliament it would meet with the approbation of the people.

Politics Not Gossip.

The people of Canada want good, clean politics, not baseless slander; they want good, clean progressive Government, and this Sir Wilfrid Laurier will give them. The future of Canada is bright, and under the leadership of the Prime Minister it will be still brighter as the days go by. With the completion of the great undertakings to which the Government is pledged will come increasing prosperity and greater contentment. The people will not submit to any wrongdoing, but they will require evidence

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion from whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the

Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms for Canada, $4.75 a year, postage prepaid. Sold by all newsmen.

MUNN & CO. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

An Awakener.

An Irishman, more patriotic than clever, enlisted in a dragoon regiment with the intention of becoming a gallant soldier. The fencing instructor had experienced rather a difficult job in the matter of explaining to him the various ways of using the sword.

"Now," he said, "how would you use the sword if your opponent feinted."

"Bedad," said Pat, with gleaming eyes, "I'd tickle him with the point to see if he was shamming."

He Didn't Qualify.

"Is that you, Frank?" asked Mrs. Tippins in a nervous voice as she heard some one moving about in the next room in the darkness.

"It is," replied Mr. Tippins.

"You gave me such a shock. I thought at first there was a man in the house."

Not Arithmetic at All.

Teacher—So you can't do a simple sum in arithmetic? Now let me explain to you. Suppose eight of you have together forty-eight apples, thirty-two peaches and sixteen melons. What would each one of you get?

"Cholera morbus," replied Johnny.

Passing Away.

"They tell me the craze for bridge is dying out."

"Yes; a friend of mine says it has gone on the shelf with pingpong and toothpick shoes."

Slanderers Rejected.

It is a very significant fact, not to be disregarded, that Fowler, Lefurgey, Bennett and Pope, have been rejected by the electors, and the stamp of disapproval has been placed upon their methods in the House, and their actions outside of it. Mr. Foster alone succeeded in retaining his seat. It is well to remember throughout the campaign this gentleman was never found on the same platform with Mr. Borden, who utilized his services but declined to associate with him.

From this time on the slate has been cleared. Every so-called scandal has been submitted to the arbitrament of public opinion, and the electors of Canada have pronounced upon them in no uncertain way.

From now on no member of the Opposition has any right to waste the time of the House in exploiting dead issues for the purposes of manufacturing campaign material.

No Dead Issues.

From this time on the leader of the House will be justified in preventing Mr. Foster, and such followers as he may have, from wasting the time which should be devoted to public issues. Any attempt to resurrect issues and scandals of the past should be put down at once with a strong hand. The people have heard both sides of the story up to date, and the matters have been disposed of. They are dead, by the voice of the people,

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

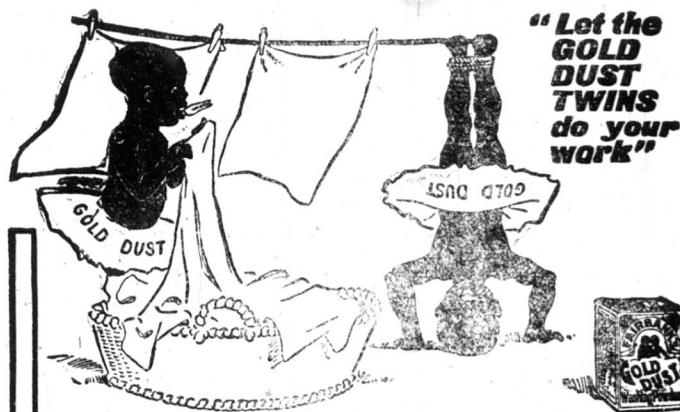

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.

WALDO, KINNAN & MARVIN,

Wholesale Druggists Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

Gold Dust Stands Alone

in the washing powder field—it has no substitute. You must either use

Gold Dust Washing Powder

or something inferior—there is no middle ground.

Buy GOLD DUST and you buy the best.

OTHER GENERAL USES FOR GOLD DUST

Scrubbing floors, washing clothes and dishes, cleaning wood-work, oil cloth, silverware and upward, polishing brass work, cleaning brass room, pans, etc., and making the finest soft soap.

Made by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY, Montreal, P. C.—Makers of FAIRY SOAP.

GOLD DUST makes hard water soft our public life, by reason of the reiterated allegations of grafting and malfeasance in office made by the Conservatives. The fact that the chief slanderers have been rejected by the people of this country may never be generally known in England, and this country has been placed in a false light before the world and much injury has been done the fair fame of Canada.

Premier's Dignified Attitude.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier gave a dignified tone to the campaign, and the Liberals followed his lead, with the result that the party stands high in the esteem of the citizens of this country, and members of it have demonstrated their ability to meet slander with well-considered argument based upon facts, and the result, as demonstrated at the polls, proves the wisdom of their course.

With the new Parliament will come new duties, new responsibilities, new departures. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a far-seeing, courageous statesman. He follows up his ideals in a practical manner, and the country receives the benefit.

Laurier's Work.

The first great work of the Government will be the rapid completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. The question of the Conservative was "Shall Laurier finish his work?" The unmistakable answer was: "Laurier must finish his work." This is the first great work to finish, Canada's great national railway and to that the energies of the Government will first be directed.

Hudson Bay Railway.

A railway to Hudson Bay is one of the next great undertakings to which the Government has been pledged, and which will be carried out. Surveyors are this very hour in the field and not a moment will be lost in completing this additional facility for moving the crops of the Northwest. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has pledged his word that the road will be built, and built it will be at the earliest moment.

Georgian Bay Canal.

The Georgian Bay canal is an enterprise as to which the Government has expressed the opinion that the necessities of the country require that it should be undertaken. There has been a clear expression of opinion as to this. The Georgian Bay canal must be built, the people whose interests will be affected by it have made their wishes known in this regard, and the Georgian Bay canal is an enterprise that the Government will give attention to without any undue delay. The people want it, and it will be part of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's work to see this canal built and given over for the use of the people.

All-Red Route.

The All-Red Line is another project which has now received the sanction and endorsement of the people. In due time the commerce of Great Britain to the antipodes will pass through Canada, which will be the occasion of an impetus to Canadian commerce, and enlighten the world more as to the riches and resources of our own country.

The attention of the Government will still be given to the improvement of harbors and waterways and the lighting of the channels. The settler will be encouraged to settle in the West, and every facility will be provided so that the increasing crops will find easy access to market.

There will be no disturbance of the fiscal policy. Business men may re-

CASTORIA.

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

leadership of the Prime Minister it will be still brighter as the days go by. With the completion of the great undertakings to which the Government is pledged will come increasing prosperity and greater contentment. The people will not submit to any wrongdoing, but they will require evidence of any charge brought against the administration; they will not act upon the ravings of ambitious politicians.

Slanderbund Dead.

The slanderbund is dead, let there be no resurrection. From the time the new Parliament opens there must be no repetition of the disgraceful scenes which brought the Conservative party into contempt last session. The Liberal party has the confidence of the people, and should act up to its strength, and the mandate given to it to perform the public business and submit to no obstruction. The people want their business handled promptly and efficiently and this cannot be done if Foster and men of his stripe are allowed to absorb the time of Parliament by senseless harangues directed at the gallery. These men must be put down with a firm hand and kept within the proper limits of Parliamentary privilege.

Significant Facts.

One point stands out very prominently and it is this, that of all the men on the Liberal side against whom allegations were made, almost without exception they are re-elected. On the Conservative side however, the men who made the charges have been relegated to political obscurity. This is a lesson that should sink deep into the comprehension of the one-time obstructionists and prove salutary to them.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was the great central figure around whom the campaign revolved. To his own personality the victory is largely due. His supporters proved themselves better men than their adversaries, and the verdict of the people was not altogether a surprise.

All the Requirements.

"You want to marry my daughter, do you? Now I ask what chance you have for getting on in the world?" "I have an automobile, a yacht and an airplane."

"Well you seem to have every means for getting on. She's your's, my boy."

Warm and Dry To Stay Well.

Advice of Noted Authority. Also Gives a Simple Prescription.

Now is the time when the doctor gets busy, and the patent medicine manufacturers reap the harvest, unless great care is taken to dress warmly and keep the feet dry. This is the advice of an old eminent authority, who says that Rheumatism and Kidney trouble weather is here, and also tells what to do in case of an attack.

Get from any good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Sarsaparilla. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

Just try this simple home-made mixture at the first sign of Rheumatism, or if your back aches or you feel that the kidneys are not acting just right. This is said to be a splendid kidney regulator, and almost certain remedy for all forms of Rheumatism, which is caused by uric acid in the blood, which the kidneys fail to filter out. Anyone can easily prepare this at home and at small cost.

Druggists in this town and vicinity, when shown the prescription, stated that they can either supply these ingredients, or, if our readers prefer, they will compound the mixture for them.

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nerve. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife, would, it is believed, seldom have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended. A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.

The One Condition.

By MARTHA COBB SANFORD.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Beth was reading the bargain sales announced in the Sunday paper.

"We can get a morris chair, Nell, for five-eighths-nine," she cried enthusiastically. "It's the opportunity of a lifetime!"

"Any bargains in lace waists?" Nell asked irrelevantly.

Beth laid down the paper in disgust. "You're changing, Nell Stafford," she said sternly, "and not for the better. You used to be crazy over fixing up this little flat. Now all you think of is clothes, and you know we agreed that clothes shouldn't count until we got everything we wanted in the way of household furnishings."

"But there's no end to it, Beth," Nell pleaded. "The flat looks well enough. In fact, it's beginning to look better than we do. It's time we began to live up to our surroundings."

"I suppose you mean Dick Wheeler," Beth interpreted. "I notice he constitutes your surroundings most of the time."

Nell ignored the innuendo. "Everything I possess is old fashioned and unbecoming," she continued. "I've been awfully patient, Beth; really I have. I just love pretty clothes, and I'm going to have some if we never have a morris chair, so there!"

As Nell grew excited Beth became calmer.

"Considering what close friends we are, Nell," she said quietly, "I think you?"

Elizabeth hesitated. She saw complications ahead. Nevertheless, because there was no time to analyze possible consequences, she accepted.

"The lace waists," she explained to Nell that night, "were such wonderful bargains that I got two of them."

"Two?" exclaimed Nell. "What on earth did you think I wanted with two of them?"

"One is for myself," Beth enlightened her.

Nell looked such volumes of astonishment that Beth felt obliged to make further explanation.

"The five-eighths-nine morris chair looked common," she said loftily. "I shan't get one till I can afford leather cushions. And, anyway, I've been thinking about what you said yesterday—about the flat looking better than we do. There's some truth in it."

Nell could hardly believe her ears—Beth, who took life so seriously and spelled Career with a capital letter, yielding to the temptations of personal vanity. There must be some compelling reason for it.

Beth's next remark supplied it. "I think I'll put my waist on tonight, Nell, if you'll help me. Gilbert Taylor's coming to call."

"Not the man you refused on account of your career?" gasped Nell.

"Did I ever mention refusing any one else?" Beth retorted, a bit impatiently.

"It's as cozy as it can be," Gilbert exclaimed, looking around the artistic living room. "And it's so—so home-like." He hesitated for the proper word to express his feelings. "But I can see where a leather cushioned morris chair would be the crowning touch," he added laughingly. "Only what will you do with it, Beth; without a man in the family?"

Beth flashed a look of defiance at him. It reminded Gilbert of the old days when she had held out so persistently that she had as much right as he to an independent life of her own and meant to claim it.

"I suppose you have a notion," she answered him, with a fine show of superiority, "that morris chairs, like all other creature comforts, were invented for masculine monopoly."

"The average man is a selfish beast," he admitted good naturedly, "but I'm not. You shall sit in the morris chair every night, Beth. I won't say a word—if you'll."

At this critical moment Nell darted in, securing a refractory hatpin in transit.

Beth introduced Gilbert.

"I was just complimenting Elizabeth on your attractive little place here, Miss Stafford," he said easily. "She thinks it needs a morris chair to make it complete, and I had the stupidity to ask what she'd do with one without a man to occupy it. You've come just in time to settle the question."

"I'm afraid I'm what you might call prejudiced, Mr. Taylor," Nell answered lightly. "I really believe in both, if you can get them. When it comes to choice—well, Beth knows my sentiments. Dick's downstairs," she added, turning to Beth, "and I mustn't keep him waiting. Good night."

She gave Gilbert an encouraging smile as she closed the hall door, but Beth was unaware of it.

"I take it Miss Stafford has matrimonial intentions," Gilbert remarked when they were alone again. "That's going to upset your little ménage, isn't it, Elizabeth? What are you going to do?"

It was a brutal mistake. He knew it as soon as the question had escaped him.

But there was no audacious reply from Beth as he expected. Instead,

Vapo-Resolene

Established 1879

Whooping Cough, Croup, Bronchitis
Cough, Grip, Asthma, Diphtheria

Resolene is a boon to Asthmatics

Does it not seem more effective to breathe in a remedy to cure disease of the breathing organs than to take the remedy into the stomach? It cures because the air rendered strongly antiseptic is carried over the diseased surface with every breath, giving prolonged and constant treatment. It is invaluable to mothers with small children.

Those of a consumptive tendency find immediate relief from coughs or inflamed conditions of the throat.

Sold by druggists.
Send postal for booklet.
LEWIS, MILES & Co., Limited, Agents, Montreal,
real, Canada. 397

The Pursuit of Happiness and Comfort

compels everyone when suffering with headaches, etc., etc., to consult a good honest competent Optician or Oculist. Oculists charge as you do not and promise to tell you if necessary to go to a specialist.

Most Expert Testing Free.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded everytime, bear in mind.

F. CHINNECK, Jeweller

Near Royal Hotel.

HERRINGTON, WARNER & GRANGE.

Barristers, etc.

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATE

Office—Warner Block, Opposite Post Office.

T. B. GERMAN,

Barrister and Solicitor.

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOWEST RATES.

OFFICE: Grange Block, 60½ John Street
26m Napanee

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.

Physician Surgeon, etc.

Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.

Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets, Napanee. 51v

DEROCHE & DEROCHÉ.

H. M. Deroche, K. C., C. C. A.

H. M. P. Deroche, B. A.

Barristers Etc.

MONEY TO LOAN

Mr. H. M. P. Deroche will be in Tamworth every Wednesday.

W. G. WILSON,

BARRISTER,

Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer, Etc

P. O. Box 620. Telephone No. 83.

OFFICE—North Side Dundas Street, Napanee, Ont.

DR. C. H. WARTMAN

DENTIST.

It will be impossible for me to continue the out of town visits, but if our friends at Yarker and Tamworth will do me the favor of coming to my office in Napanee, I will do my best to please them. All work guaranteed first class.

Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte Steamboat Company, Limited.

1000 ISLANDS-ROCHESTER

Steamers

North Vinn & Georgian

MAKING BOOK PLATES.

An Invention That Was Long After Printing Press.

It was within half a century from the invention of printing that book plates were introduced as identifying marks to indicate the ownership of the volume.

Germany, the fatherland of printing from movable type and of wood cutting for making impressions in ink on paper, is likewise the home land of the book plate.

The earliest dated wood cut of acknowledged authenticity is the well known "St. Christopher of 1423," which was discovered in the Carthusian monastery of Buxheim in Suabia.

It was to insure the right of ownership in a book that the owner had it marked with the coat-of-arms of the family or some other heraldic device. Libraries were kept intact and passed from generation to generation, bearing the emblem of the family.

The first book plate in France is dated 1574; in Sweden, 1575; Switzerland, 1607, and Italy, 1623. The earliest English book plate is found in a folio volume, once the property of Cardinal Wolsey and afterward belonging to his royal master.

The earliest mention of the book plate in English literature is by Peires, July 16, 1585. The first known book plate in America belonged to Gov. Dudley. Paul Revere, the patriot, was one of the first American owners of the book plates and a designer of great ability.

Toothsome Pains.

A strange case has just occurred at Portbeach, showing the effect of the inoculation in causing disease and cure. A professional man on a visit there took out his four false teeth while shaving, but, forgetting the fact and failing to find them later, suddenly concluded that he must have swallowed them accidentally. At once he began to suffer pains. A doctor was sent for to whom he described his agonies. Emetics were administered, but in vain, and the tortures made him twist his body convulsively. Then a maid brought the teeth, which had dropped behind the dressing table, and instantly the pains ceased.

Some Names.

"Alligator" is merely another form of the Spanish "el lagarto," the lizard. Shakespeare classed the alligator as a fish, to judge from Romeo's description of the contents of the apothecary's shop. "An alligator stuff'd and other skins of ill shaped fishes," somewhat like "alligator," the lizard, the "hyena," which merely means sow, and "ostrich," which comes from the Latin word for bird and a Greek word that means either a sparrow or an ostrich, as the case might be—any bird in fact. The Everything a possess is a moral and unbecoming," she continued. "I've been awfully patient, Beth; really I have. I just love pretty clothes, and I'm going to have some if we never have a morris chair, so there!"

As Nell grew excited Beth became calmer.

"Considering what close friends we are, Nell," she said quietly, "I think you might tell me the truth."

Whereupon Nell, breaking into tears, confessed her engagement.

"It wasn't that I didn't want you to know," she sobbed, "but I couldn't bear to break up the little home, Beth."

Beth pulled herself together heroically.

"It isn't going to be broken up," she said, with determination. "Of course, here the t be nes arty Li- the its so it and ople pty lone s al- liated it be kept non-min- the hom out the men rele- s is the ob- to reat am- son- His ster the- loder, you t- ight- very ir's, ell.

Also

ector cine un- um- the- rity, Kil- also k-

tion Ex- and und sing- ful mix- ism, that, they redy ch is high yone id at nity, ated in- fer, for when they were alone again. "That's going to upset your little menage, isn't it, Elizabeth? What are you going to do?"

It was a brutal mistake. He knew it as soon as the question had escaped him.

But there was no audacious reply from Beth as he expected. Instead, her eyes filled, and she buried her face in the cushions, sobbing as if her heart would break.

Gilbert had never before seen Beth unequal to a situation. Her helplessness touched him deeply.

"Beth," he said gently, "I have an idea. Suppose I buy out Nell's domestic interest?"

No answer, only fewer sobs.

"You shall sit on a cushion and"—

"No; I won't sew a fine seam. I hate sewing," came a muffled reply from the pillow depths.

At that Gilbert gathered her to him, laughing joyously.

"She shall just eat strawberries, sugar and cream, then," he amended, with indulgent tenderness. "All that I insist upon is"—

He paused, and Beth, flushed and disheveled, flashed him a challenging look.

"That she shall love me," he finished softly.

And Beth accepted the one condition.

"I HATE SEWING," CAME A MUFFLED REPLY FROM THE PILLOW.

It won't be the same without you, Nell, but if you've got courage enough to commit matrimony after all we've said against it, why, then I guess I've got courage enough to carry out my convictions alone. Was it lace waists you asked the price of?"

This being the way Beth took the news, it was characteristic that she pursued her original intention of visiting the furniture sale during her Monday noon hour.

She had just settled down with an air of relaxation in a green cushioned morris chair, "sale price $5.89," when she was rudely startled out of it.

"This is the only one we have with green cushions, sir," a salesman declared pompously to some one on his right, bringing his hand down by way of emphasis upon the crown of Beth's hat.

Apologies, greetings and explanations followed, during which the offending salesman tactfully disappeared. It was obvious that three made no party to this chance meeting.

"Will business keep you in the city long?" inquired Beth. The question indicated more courtesy than interest.

Gilbert Taylor's eyes twinkled.

"It has kept me two years so far," he answered soberly.

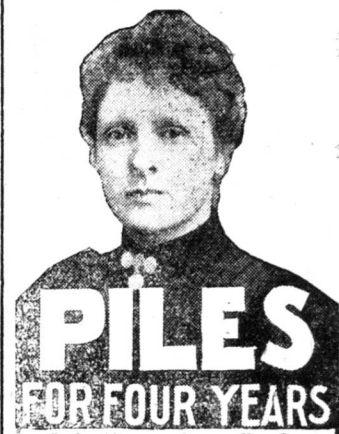

"I hadn't heard," Beth said rather coldly.

"And you?" he asked. There was no doubt that his interest was genuine.

"Ah, I'm an established household-er," Beth informed him with no little show of pride. "A business chum and I have a little flat together. That explains my monopoly of this morris chair. We need one, or, rather, we want one. But I've just about decided to wait until I can afford leather cushions. They're so much more aristocratic. Don't you think so?"

Gilbert agreed.

"But I'm awfully interested in this housekeeping experiment of yours, Elizabeth," he said earnestly. "I'm thinking of trying something of the sort myself. You can give me a lot of pointers. Take lunch with me, won't

PILES FOR FOUR YEARS

Only those who suffer from piles can know the agony, the burning, throbbing, shooting, stinging pain which this ailment causes and the way it wrecks the sufferer's life!

Zam-Buk is blessed by thousands who used to suffer from piles, but whom it has cured. One such grateful person is Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor of Greenwood Avenue, Toronto. She says: "For four long years I suffered acutely from bleeding piles. During that time I spent an immense amount of money on 'remedies' and doctor's prescriptions but I got no cure. Zam-Buk was different to everything else I had tried and it cured me. I am grateful for the cure, and as I have never had piles since, I know the cure is permanent."

Another thankful woman is Mrs. A. E. Gardiner, of Catelina, Trinity Bay. She says: "In my case Zam-Buk effected a wonderful cure. For 12 years I had been troubled with blind, bleeding and protruding piles. I had been using various kinds of ointments, etc., but never came across anything to do me good until I tried Zam-Buk which cured me! That this may be the means of helping some sufferers from piles to try Zam-Buk is the wish of one who has found great relief."

Zam-Buk is a purely herbal balm and should be in every home! Cures cuts, burns, bruises, eczema, ulcers, blood-poisoning, itch, cold sores, chapped hands and all diseases and injuries of the skin, etc. All druggists and stores at 50c box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

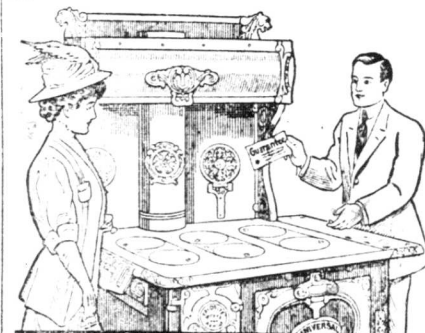

description of the contents of the apothecary's shop. "An alligator stuffed and other skins of ill shaped fishes," somewhat like "alligator," the lizard, the "hyena," which merely means sow, and "ostrich," which comes from the Latin word for bird and a Greek word that means either a sparrow or an ostrich, as the case might be—any bird in fact. The ostrich is just the "bird bird," according to etymology.

COVERED WITH ECZEMA.

The good sisters of St. Joseph's Infant Home say of Dr. Agnew's Ointment—"We give it our highest recommendation. We use it freely and find it a great cure."

St. Joseph's Infant Home, South Troy, N.Y.: "If you sell Dr. Agnew's Ointment in pound boxes we wish you would send us your lowest price for it by buying in large quantities. Many children are brought to our home covered with Eczema, and of all the treatments and ointments we have used we find Dr. Agnew's Ointment the most satisfactory—it has made some great cures for us. We give it our highest recommendation." 35c cents. (17)

Sold by T. B. Wallace

"Yes! this Range is Guaranteed to Cook and Bake perfectly."

Universal Favorite

HOW TO SELECT A RANGE

When you buy a Range you want to get one that will give you the best service at a reasonable cost. You want a Range that will heat quickly, bake evenly and last a lifetime. You want every part of that Range to be made as perfectly as skilled hands can construct it. You want it to be made of the very best material and with all the latest improvements and conveniences. You want a Range that is pleasing in appearance and easy to keep clean. And last of all, you want a Range that is backed by a binding GUARANTEE of absolute satisfaction from the makers to you.

The UNIVERSAL FAVORITE is the one Range possessing all the above qualities.

Manufactured by FINDLAY BROS. CO., Limited, Carleton Place, Ont.

For Sale by BOYLE & SON, Napanee, Ont.

POSITIVELY FREE!

Trial Package Postpaid, "Hennequin's Infant Tablets."

Any Address, Send Post Card. Write your Address plainly.

Hennequin's Infant Tablets

Save Babies' Lives. For Babies and Small Children. (Made in France.)

Dr. Hennequin's Infant Tablets saved our little girl's life. Three doctors said she could not live. The Tablets cured her.—Mr. E. R. McBRIDE, Napanee, Ont.

My baby was so weak from sickness that he could hardly walk. We thought he would die. We could find nothing to help him. I was given a sample package of three Hennequin Tablets; we used them; I saw a change at once. We secured the Tablets and our baby improved every day, and is now a bright, fat, good natured boy; you could not believe he was the same child. They certainly cured my baby and saved his life. I believe them to be the best medicine ever sold for babies. Mothers if your babies are not well take my advice and try these Tablets.—Mrs. JAMES RIDDELL, Barrydale, Ont.

We have hundreds of such letters. If the Tablets were not what you need we would not offer to give them away and prepay them. If your baby is not well send for trial package. All dealers, 25c per package, or 5 for $1.00 sent postpaid to any address.

DOUGLAS & CO., Wholesale Agents, Napanee, Ont., Can.

Mfgs. of DOUGLAS' EGYPTIAN LINIMENT, Coleman's Paste, A. A. A., etc., etc.

When writing please mention this paper.

"ONLY MEDICINE THAT DID ME ANY GOOD"

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Backache After Doctors Failed Utterly.

"I have received most wonderful benefit from taking 'Fruit-a-tives.' I suffered for years from backaches and pain in the head and I consulted doctors and took every remedy obtainable without any relief. Then I began taking 'Fruit-a-tives' and this was the only medicine that ever did me any real good. I took several boxes altogether, and now I am entirely well of all my dreadful headaches and backaches. I take 'Fruit-a-tives' occasionally still, but I am quite cured of a trouble that was said to be incurable. I give this testimony voluntarily, in order that others who suffer as I suffered may try this wonderful medicine and be cured."

Mrs. Frank Eaton, Frankville, Ont.

Be wise. Profit by Mrs. Eaton's example, and start with "Fruit-a-tives." They will quickly relieve Pain in the Back, and stop Headaches because they keep bowels, kidneys and skin in perfect order and insure the blood being always pure and rich.

"Fruit-a-tives" is now put up in the new 25c trial size as well as the regular 50c boxes. All dealers should have both sizes. If yours does not, write Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

A Family of 60,000,000.

According to the scientific authorities, the average female oyster deposits at least 16,000,000 eggs during a single spawning season, and it is said to be no uncommon occurrence for an individual oyster to have 50,000,000 and even 60,000,000 to her credit. Comparatively few of these eggs, however, reach the fertilization stage, and of those that do few survive it, for many and fatal are the dangers that threaten. Sudden changes of temperature, cold rains, greedy fish—all contribute to further the ends of nature. An oyster egg has less than one chance in two millions of reaching maturity.

Her Lost Piano.

"I just left a young woman friend of mine weeping over her lost piano," said the man. "It was like this. She was engaged to a chap who was awfully fond of her. He sent her up a piano as a birthday present, also for their flat later on. After awhile the engagement was broken off for some reason or other. You know how those things are. Well, any way, my friend thought she had her piano.

"But that was just what she didn't have. In about a week some piano people called for it and took it away with them. The chap had made one payment on it only."

TASMANIAN RICHES.

Mineral Deposits Are Money-Producing and Varied.

The mining industry of Tasmania is exceedingly important. From seven shillings to ten shillings a day are the usual wages earned by working miners on the mining fields, and boundless opportunities lie within the reach of the persevering prospector. For its size, the island may claim to be the richest country in the world in regard to mineral wealth. Within the space of about thirty years Tasmania, with the population of an English provincial town, has actually produced minerals to the value, according to the latest official figures, of twenty-six million, two hundred and thirty-five thousand, two hundred and thirty pounds, and more than half the quantity has been obtained within the last ten years. The total for the year 1906-7 has been two million, three hundred and thirty-eight thousand, two hundred and fifty-two pounds. The list of minerals worked includes gold, silver, tin, copper, lead, zinc, wolfram, bismuth, iron, coal and asbestos—practically all of the most commercially valuable minerals that the world requires. In tin and copper the island is particularly rich, and the Tasmanian production of the former metal will most likely within the next twenty-five years equal that of the Straits Settlements. Large coal fields and enormous bodies of first-class iron ore are known to exist, but difficulties of transport prevent their utilization. If but a fraction of the British capital invested in Argentina and on the Rand were directed here both shareholders at home and colonies abroad would be equally benefited.

Curious Case of Mirage.

M. Flammarion, the French astronomer, has written much on mirages and has actually photographed the bridges over the Seine, with the river and the buildings in the immediate vicinity, seen from Paris, inverted in the sky. He also records a curious case of mirage experienced by French troops in Algiers. What appeared to be a number of Arab horsemen were suddenly seen moving toward the French camp from the horizon, and scouts on horseback were at once sent forward to reconnoiter, but when they had gone about a mile they became curiously distorted and seemed to be giant horsemen riding horses several yards high. On their return they reported that the Arabs proved to be a flock of flamingoes moving by the side of a lake, which at a certain distance, owing to the curious state of the air, were changed out of all resemblance to themselves and assumed the exact appearance of the Arab horsemen they were at first believed to be.

A PAIN CRIPPLE.

Tortured and Tormented with Rheumatism and Sciatica—South American Rheumatic Cure Works the Wonder.

Mrs. John Fisher, Woodstock, N.B., writes: "I had been suffering for over three years from muscular rheumatism and on one occasion I had a very acute attack of sciatica. For several weeks I was unable to walk or attend to my household duties. Tried several remedies, and physicians failed to give me relief. I saw South American Rheumatic Cure advertised and bought a bottle. It did me a wonderful lot of good. Four bottles effected a perfect and permanent cure." (18)

Sold by T. B. Wallace

Under the Apple Tree

By JANE LUDLUM LEE.

Copyrighted, 1906, by Associated Literary Press.

"Come along, Patsy; let's away from this piazza crowd and hie ourselves to the hills," suggested Belinda Bowers, stooping close to the little terrier snuggling against her freshly laundered frock.

Patsy wagged his abbreviated tail and set his ears up very straight in reply.

"The piazza crowd," according to Belinda's light, was the aggregation of somewhat colorless and uncertainly aged summer boarders, whose fingers could barely keep pace with their tongues as they embroidered and talked on the wide veranda of the Cedarvale inn.

Belinda and Patsy strode down the village street and stopped in front of the dilapidated postoffice for mail. The gray haired postmaster peered through the small opening, his eyes shining above the gold rims of his glasses.

"COME HERE THIS MINUTE, YOUNG MAN," SHE CALLED IN A STERN VOICE.

"There's a letter here for 'B. Bowers.' Be that you?"

"Yes, Miss B. Bowers," affirmed Belinda.

"Well, there ain't no 'Miss' on it, but reckon it's yours, all right," and he handed her the letter.

Belinda was too happy day dreaming to open the uninteresting looking legal envelope. It might be a bill, so she thrust it between the leaves of her magazine. When she and Patsy reached a shady apple orchard, surrounded by a low stone wall, Belinda settled herself comfortably and opened the missive.

"Dear B.," it ran, "hope this finds you wide awake and that you've discovered something doing in Cedarvale. I understand there's nothing doing in Cedarville. I understand there's nothing in the line of females up there under sixty, except one queen, named Belinda Bowers. I met her last winter at Mrs. Alston's. Stop painting foot pictures and see if you can't get next to her royal highness. Ta, ta."

"BUZZ."

Belinda's eyes were beaming with the humor of the mistake. She looked again at the envelope. It certainly bore her name, yet the letter was evidently meant for other eyes. Who was

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women or received so many genuine testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every one you meet has either been benefited by it, or has friends who have.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., any woman any day may see the files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, and here are the letters in which they openly state over their own signatures that they were cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs, without drugs, and is wholesome and harmless.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the feminine organism, restoring it to a healthy normal condition.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

"Did you ever read what people thought about you?" asked Belinda.

"Yes, I read a short article about myself once written by one of my dearest friends, Buzz Murray," he acknowledged. "But I must say in defense of my friend that it was never intended for my eyes."

"Do you mean Mr. B. Z. Murray—Mrs. Alston's friend?" inquired Belinda.

"That's the man. We nicknamed him Buzz at college." Then, fumbling in his pockets, Hazzard produced a well worn letter. "Here's the article," he announced as he handed her an envelope addressed to himself.

Belinda read aloud:

My Dear Miss Bowers—I hear you are in Cedarville, and I wish you would send a card to my old friend Hazzard. His people have a cottage there. He's the dearest old slob in the world. There is only one thing against him—insanity has developed in him, taking the form of painting, but it is a harmless type. His other endearing qualities will quite outweigh this, however, and I fancy you two would find each other most congenial.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE.

Eastern Standard Time.

No. 30

Taking effect Oct 19th, 1906.

Bannockburn and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.

Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Bannockburn.

Stations Miles No.12 No.40 No.4 No.6 A.M. A.M. P.M. P.M.

Stations Miles No.1 No.41 No.5 No.5 A.M. P.M. P.M. P.M.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE.

Eastern Standard Time. No. 30 Taking effect Oct 10th, 1906.

Bannockburn and Tamworth to Napanee, Deseronto and Napanee to Tamworth and Bannockburn.

Stations		Miles No. 12 No. 40 No. 4 No. 6
		A.M.		P.M.
Lve	Bannockburn	0
Lve	Albion	1
Lve	Queensboro	2
Lve	Bridgeport	3
Lve	Tweed	4
Lve	Tweed	5
Lve	Stono	6
Lve	Larkins	7
Lve	Marbank	8
Lve	Brinsville	9
Lve	Tamworth	10
Lve	Wilson	11
Lve	Enterprise	12
Lve	Mudlake Bridge	13
Lve	Moscow	14
Lve	Gallbraith	15
Lve	Yarker	16
Lve	Yarker	17
Lve	Camden East	18
Lve	Thomson's Mills	19
Lve	Newburgh	20
Lve	Strathcona	21
Lve	Napanee	22
Lve	Napanee	23
Lve	Deseronto	24

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto, Deseronto and Napanee to Sydenham and Kingston.

Stations		Miles No. 1 No. 3 No. 5 No. 6
		A.M.		P.M.
Lve	Kingston	0
Lve	G. T. R. Junction	1
Lve	Glenvale	2
Lve	Murvale	3
Lve	Harrowsmith	4
Lve	Sydenham	5
Lve	Harrowsmith	6
Lve	Frontenac	7
Lve	Yarker	8
Lve	Yarker	9
Lve	Camden East	10
Lve	Thomson's Mills	11
Lve	Newburgh	12
Lve	Strathcona	13
Lve	Napanee	14
Lve	Napanee	15
Lve	Deseronto	16

LOCAL WORKING TIME TABLE.

NAPANEE TO DESERONTO and PICTON.

PICTON TO DESERONTO and NAPANEE.

TRAINS		STEAMERS
Leave	Arrive	Leave	Arrive
Napanee	Deseronto	Deseronto	Picton
2 10 a.m.	2 30 a.m.	7 00 a.m.	8 30 a.m.
7 10 "	8 10 "	7 00 a.m.	8 30 a.m.
10 30 "	10 50 "	1 40 p.m.	3 00 p.m.
12 05 p.m.	12 25 p.m.	5 30 p.m.	7 00 p.m.
1 25 "	1 45 "
4 30 "	4 50 "
6 50 "	7 10 "	7 00 a.m.	8 30 a.m.
8 15 "	8 35 "

Daily. All other trains run daily. Sundays excepted.

WALTER RATHBUN President.

H. B. SHERWOOD Superintendent.

MILES McKEOWN, Despatcher.

at Mrs. Alston's. Stop painting fool pictures and see if you can't get next to her royal highness. Ta, ta.

"BUZZ."

Belinda's eyes were beaming with the humor of the mistake. She looked again at the envelope. It certainly bore her name, yet the letter was evidently meant for other eyes. Who was "Buzz?"

"Patsy, old doggie," said Belinda as she patted him affectionately on the head. "There's something in Cedarvale at last, and methinks we're it." Patsy barked with delight at the sudden turn of affairs. Then something on the other side of the wall attracted his attention, and he bounded over, barking incessantly. Belinda followed him with her glance and discovered that an artist was sketching about fifty feet away. The dog paid no attention to her recalling whistle, and she followed him.

"Come here this minute, young man," she called in a stern voice.

The artist rose. "At your service," he murmured as he bowed before her.

"I was calling the dog," explained Belinda, much embarrassed.

"I realize that," parried the man, "but since the dog refuses I thought I might do."

Inwardly Belinda told herself that decidedly he would do, but for answer she gave him an irresistible laugh.

"Won't you sit down under the shade of my apple tree, Miss Bowers?" suggested the man, suddenly turning host.

Belinda made herself comfortable, and the man dropped down beside her.

"How did you know that I was Miss Bowers?" inquired Belinda finally.

"How did I know?" echoed her companion. "Cedarvale is a small place, and when a beautiful girl lands in our midst the whole town talks of nothing else." He laughed aloud at the thought, and then, with more seriousness, he added, "May I go on?"

Belinda was interested and gave her consent.

"Well, to be frank with you, I saw you the night you and your mother arrived, and I've been hankering for an introduction ever since. Why, I've even hung about dark lanes hoping to rescue you. I've gone to dances where I've been the only man present in hopes that some of the antediluvians might introduce me. But all efforts were futile until this disobedient pup has made me his everlasting debtor."

"In case Patsy wants to send in a bill for services rendered," cooly demanded Belinda, "what's the debtor's name?"

"My name's Hazzard — Bellington Forbes Hazzard. Never heard of me, did you?"

"Well, I once read a short article about you," acknowledged Belinda, her eyes snapping with delight. "That's an awfully long name of yours, though," she continued. "What do your friends call you when they are in a hurry?"

"Just 'B.," he informed her, and Belinda actually giggled.

Two hours later the trio were back on the hotel piazza, and Belinda had not mentioned the letter. The next day and every day thereafter found the three companions taking long walks, and Belinda realized that she was doing very little reading, while Hazzard left his canvas in a most unfinished condition.

The season at Cedarvale was almost at an end, and the trees in the orchard were laden with gorgeous red fruit. Patsy was chasing birds, while Belinda was curled up at the foot of a favorite tree, and Hazzard was beside her. This morning there seemed to be long, unaccountable pauses in the conversation, and for some reason Belinda felt a premonition of what was forthcoming.

Belinda read aloud.

My Dear Miss Bowers—I hear you are in Cedarvale, and I wish you would send a card to my old friend Hazzard. His people have a cottage there. He's the dearest old stob in the world. There is only one thing against him—ingenuity has developed in him, taking the form of painting, but it is a harmless type. His other endearing qualities will quite outweigh this, however, and I fancy you two would find each other most congenial. Sincerely yours, B. Z. MURRAY.

"But this letter was intended for me," cried Belinda. "Why didn't you give it to me?"

"For the same reason that you did not return the one intended for me," announced Hazzard. "Of course, Buzz got his envelopes mixed, but I for one am willing to forgive him."

"But—"

"And I want you to forgive him, too, Belinda," interrupted Hazzard as he looked long into her eyes. "These past few weeks have been heaven on earth to me, and—and may I hope—just a little hope—that you, too, have been happy?"

Patsy rushed around the tree, barking and dancing on his tiny feet.

"At least Patsy is happy," parried Belinda.

Bellington picked the terrier up in his arms and held him tightly for a moment. But Patsy saw a stray cat and was anxious to be off again.

"What did my letter say of you?" asked Hazzard.

"Oh, some awfully silly things," answered Belinda.

"Well, may I hope, Belinda—here under the old apple tree that has lent us its friendly shade all these happy weeks—may I have my answer here and now?"

"Answer to what?" she almost whispered.

"Will you be my wife, Belinda?" he murmured as he drew her closely to him. And, lingering in his embrace, she gave her answer.

New York's Working Girls.

Before the great arc lights have begun to fizz and glow processions of work girls, of shopgirls, of professional girls, have passed up and down this great avenue of the city, which in variety of interest and in claims to one's attention forms a strong rival to the Paris boulevards.

These young women are typical of New York and indeed of the whole American continent. In independence, in fearlessness, in ability to act and think for themselves, they are clearly daughters of the new world, but in the taste and elegance of their clothes there is something of the Parisian spirit, of that peculiar faculty for combining colors and blending effects which is certainly the heritage of the "ouvriere" and yet seems by some mysterious means to have become wafted across the broad bosom of the Atlantic. You feel an atmosphere of well being, of solid contentment, prosperity and self esteem about the common people in the States. This is typified by these well gown'd, bright and pleasing young women who carry out so large a part of the daily routine of Uncle Sam. You see no dejected countenances. Why be dejected when you have the chance or at least the sweet illusion of being one day called to the highest destinies of the country?—Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of J. C. H. Fletcher

BLOOD DISEASES

Guaranteed Cured or No Pay.

If you ever had any contracted or hereditary blood disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been removed from the system. You may have had some disease years ago, but now and then some symptom alarms you. Some poison still lurks in your system. Can you afford to run the risk of more serious symptoms appearing as the poison multiplies? Beware of mercury or mineral drugs used indiscriminately—they may ruin the system. Twenty years experience in the treatment of these diseases enables us to prescribe specific remedies that will positively cure all blood diseases of the worst character, leaving no bad effects on the system. Our New Method Treatment will purify and enrich the blood, heal up all ulcers, clear the skin, remove bone pains, fallen out hair will grow in, and swollen glands will return to a normal condition, and the patient will feel and look like a different person. All cases we accept for treatment are guaranteed a complete cure if instructions are followed.

Reader if in doubt as to your condition, you can consult us FREE OF CHARGE. Beware of incompetent doctors who have no reputation or reliability. Drs. K. & K. have been established over 20 years.

WE CURE Nervous Debility, Varicocele, Stricture, Blood and Secret Diseases, Kidney and Bladder Complaints. Consultation Free. If unable to call write for a Question List for Home Treatment.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan & Griswold Sts. Detroit, Mich.

LIFE OF THE SPANIARD

THEY TAKE THINGS EASY IN ANDALUSIA.

During Breakfast the Callers Arrive and Each Sits Down to the Table and Partakes of Cigarettes and Sherry—Four O'clock Ends First Meal, Dinner at Eight and Theatre at Ten—A Gossippy Watchman.

In the houses we knew in Andalusia the men obliterated themselves all day, the ladies went to mass in the morning and spent the rest of the time sitting in flower decked balconies, fanning softly and talking to canaries and cockatoos.

After weeks of travel the prospect of rest in such an environment was not unattractive, and I contemplated adapting myself to the ways of the household and the balcony with much pleasure. With some good novels bought in Madrid, fate could not harm for a few days at any rate. But while dressing in my cushioned and scented boudoir it was borne in upon me that the atmosphere of this palacio was not so serenely dull as the houses of Andalusia. The smart freshness of the house was too obvious, and certainly the dona did not look like a woman who found canaries intellectually satisfying.

Waiting for us in the drawing room with the don and dona was a young man introduced simply as "Mariano," the nephew of somebody. Nor do I know to this day what was Mariano's other name. That was a trivial detail, but his ancestors were very serious. He represented one of the old Moorish families who for reasons of love or money had remained in Spain after the fall of Granada, and his solemn eyes and blue black hair and beard made him a rare example of the persistence of race type. Paquita, a pretty young girl, was a semidetached member of the family, the dona's goddaughter, living on another floor of the palacio, who had come in "to see us eat breakfast."

On the don's arm I went the length of the house to the dining room, where the table was prettily laid with a few flowers, picturesque wine bottles and primly arranged fruit baskets. It was appalling to find ourselves placed at the head and foot of it, but they proved to be literally seats of honor, with no duties attached. Everything was served by two little maids as pretty as their names, Serafina and Lijandra, in peasant costume, and the dona went through-out the meal a look of restful unconcern.

We were hardly seated before visitors began to arrive. Each shook hands with every one present, including a superannuated housekeeper on a divan in a far corner, then joined us at the table, taking cigarettes and sherry. Nothing else was offered them, while we enjoyed course after course. At first we rose when introduced, but they always protested vehemently, and seeing that the family remained seated, we did likewise and found it the only reasonable plan, as during the meal we had half a dozen callers, and each one shook hands all around twice. We were still at the table when the tarta was announced at 4 o'clock.

The fine arts exhibition was the centre of social interest, and we were plunged without warning into the midst of it, spending the afternoon in a chaos of introductions, music, pictures and light refreshments.

Dinner at 8, except for a few more sweets and visitors, was like the previous meal. At 10 we hurried to the theatre, and I was hardly thankful to leave at midnight, though the play was not over and a gay party protested against our going so early.

Arrived at the palacio, the don clapped his little gloved hands, and

PLAYING HAVOC WITH PATENT MEDICINES

An Old-fashioned, Home-Made Mixture which Cures Kidney and Liver Troubles.

A prominent local druggist states that since the celebrated prescription of a distinguished specialist has become more or less known it is interfering with the sale of secret medicines, especially the patent or advertised kidney pills. The prescription, which first appeared in a leading health journal, is reproduced here, just exactly as originally written:—

Fluid Extract Cascara..... ½ oz.
Carriana Compound 1 oz.
Syrup Sarsaparilla 6 oz.

Directions: One teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Any good druggist can dispense this, or, even better, a person can buy the items separately and mix them at home by shaking them well together in a bottle. It is stated that the ingredients being vegetable, are harmless and simple. It has a gentle and natural action, and gradually tones up the eliminative tissues, leaving the kidneys in a perfectly healthy condition.

A merchant well known in public affairs states that this recipe cured his rheumatism. Save the prescription.

"DAT OLE PIPE"

"I say brudder, I thought you belonged to de Church."

"So I does."

"Den why are you suckin dat ole pipe?"

"Can't a feller smoke a pipe and belong to de Church?"

"Well, yes, he may belong to de Church buildin, but neber to the Church triumphant."

"I should like to know how you make dat out."

"Well, brudder, look at it in dis way; how would you look walkin de golden streets ob de New Jerusalem wid dat ole pipe in yo mouf?"

"I would jus snatch it out berry quick."

"Yes but what would you do wid it? You could not find any place to frow it out ob sight; no place to hide it; no way to get rid ob it. You hab been giben a nice white garment to put on, and dere aint any pocket in it to put de ole pipe, so you will hab to hide it in yo hand."

"I say Brudder Jones, you are gettin a feller in a bad fix wid de ole pipe, de way you are puttin it."

"But dat aint all; by and by you will want a smoke, and you will walk de golden streets trying to find a place to hide, so you can smoke; and the streets of dat city is about fifteen hundred miles long, and if you should get to the end ob de street you would fetch up agin de wall dat is made ob jasper, and so high you can't clime ober, and no hole to stick yo head through for a smoke and you will want a smoke so bad you will almost make up yo mind to smoke right in de golden city. Den you will begin to think ob gettin a match to light de ole pipe; and den it will come ober you all ob a sudden dat dare aint no matches in yo new close. Den you would wish you was back in dis ole worl again wid de ole close, wid de matches, and de ole pipe so you could take some comfut."

"I say, Brudder Jones, I can't stand dat. I can't afford to lose dem golden streets for de ole pipe, so here it goes, de pipe, de tobacco, de matches, and all."

"Dat is de right way. If you was goin to a wedden, where would you fix up?"

"I would fix up at home, ob course."

EAGLE HILL.

The woods are full of hunters, but deer seem to be scarce at Thirty Island Lake, and several gangs of hunters have moved to other parts for the remainder of the season.

Samuel Lane, of Denbigh, has a gang of men working on the new road to be made at Massannog Lake. The road is badly needed.

Vira May, the five-year-old daughter of Edward Vaneff had to be removed to Kingston General Hospital, Friday last, to have an operation for appendicitis. The little girl had been ill two weeks and with no doctor in this locality. Dr. Allison of Dafee hunting camp was called in and ordered her removed at once.

Dr. R. E. Sparks, Kingston, is spending a few days, hunting at Thomas Irvine's.

S. Dysdale, of Garden Island, has returned after spending a few days at H. Pottier's, Elm Flats.

Joseph Marquardt had the misfortune to have his knee badly hurt at S. Lane's lumber camp, White Lake.

Rev. W. Irvine, of Clinton, held divine service in the school house, Wednesday evening. He was accompanied by Mrs. Irvine and Miss Agnes Mary, who spent a few days visiting at Pleasant Valley.

Miss Myrtle Youmans was the guest of Miss Pearl Ready, last week.

Inspector Nesbitt visited the school last week.

Mrs. John Pettifer and her two children, Bernice and Barbara, are spending a few days at her old home on the hill.

Miss Fanny John was the guest of her friend, Miss L. Grant on Sunday last.

What Other Papers Say.

Kingston Standard (Con).

Goosebonists in rural sections predict a hard winter. That's what they get for electing the Laurier Administration!

Halifax Chronicle.

The Marine Department seems to have been a fairly satisfactory place to work, with salaries from so many sources.

London Advertiser.

The Laurier Government is the first and only one to strike a blow at the patronage system. The fact must be placed to its credit.

Milwaukee Sentinel.

General Booth says that only one sin in eighty is found out. Then, judging from the number that are found out, this is a mighty tough old world.

Guelph Mercury.

A conservative candidate at the recent election in Quebec, has been presented with triplets. The papers are also announcing that he is asking for a recount.

Collier's Weekly.

"There can be no doubt that every available prejudice was brought into action against Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and the fact that Ontario stood up so well is beyond praise."

Ottawa Free Press.

How would you like to be iceman? Not much, when the iceman's name is C. W. Morse, rated a year ago at $20,000,000 and to-day a convict under sentence of fifteen years.

Toronto Telegram.

MRS. JOHN HENDERSON

WAS SO RUN DOWN LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING.

A Few Bottles of Peruna Restored Me to Health.

Mrs. John Henderson, 20 Overdale Ave., Montreal, Can., writes:

"I was much distressed with neuralgia and was so run-down that life was not worth living. I tried a great many remedies, but all to no effect.

"I met a friend of mine, and told her of my ailment. She advised me to try her remedy, Peruna.

"Although I had no faith in Peruna, I took her advice, and am pleased to state that the neuralgia has entirely left me, and have gained so in health that I feel just like my old self again.

"I am enjoying the best of health.

We have on file many thousand testimonials like the above. We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements Dr. Hartman is receiving.

BETHEL.

Roy McWilliams spent Thanksgiving at his home here.

Our teacher, Miss Fannie Forrester, went home to Bath for her holidays, and Mrs. J. W. Perry visited all week with her brother George Galbraith, Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Salsbury visited Saturday and Sunday with his sisters at Hay Bay.

John W. Galbraith has erected a new wind mill which adds much to the appearance of his place. We are sorry to learn that Mr. Galbraith fell from a horse and was hurt quite seriously.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Salsbury spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Curl, Jr.

Earl Galbraith is slowly recovering. Camden East cheese factory closed for the season on Friday last.

Harry Robinson at Centreville.

Archib. Aikenbrack is again under the doctor's care.

George Smedley was in Kingston on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Emberly at her father's at Wilton for a few days.

Cover your hands with a pair of mitts from Boyle & Son's, they sell good ones cheap.

SYDENHAM.

A few from here drove into Kingston on Saturday afternoon to attend are send this

the has of His outtwo nial.
VY.
for you did me," Buzz
one too, s he these a on pe-have arkried
p in or a cat ou?"
ane unit us appy here whis-
" he y to race, bes of onal this va-one's the d of hole ence,
and early
the thes isian
com-fects
the mystified atic.
eing,
and eople these oung part Sam. nces.
the ision chest Fall

in a chaos of introductions, music, pictures and light refreshments.
Dinner at 8, except for a few more sweets and visitors, was like the previous meal. At 10 we hurried to the theatre, and I was simply thankful to leave at midnight, though the play was not over and a gay party protested against our going so early.
Arrived at the palace, the don clapped his little gloved hands, and a voice from the distant darkness called "Voy corriendo." ("I come running"), though the steps were slow and shuffling. In my impatience it seemed as if the don might have carried his own latchkey until the vigilante produced it from a bunch containing the keys of all the houses in the block, each weighing about half a pound.
He also provided a lone wax taper to light us upstairs, and after firmly refusing anything more to eat or drink we made our elaborate good night speeches, shook hands with every one in sight and retired.
The day seemed to be over, but we had yet to reckon with the sereno, falsely so called, who walked up and down, tapping the street with his staff, proclaiming the hour, the state of the weather or anything he thought might entertain the people he was keeping awake. Ellen Maury Slayden in Century.
Envious Inference.
"What a happy, good natured, jolly girl Maud is! She's always smiling and laughing."
"Yes; she has pretty teeth and dimples."

with de tobacco, and de pipe so you could take some comfort."
"I say, Brudder Jones, I can't stand dat. I can't afford to lose dem golden streets for de ole pipe, so here it goes, de pipe, de tobacco, de matches, and all."
"Dat is de right way. If you was goin to a wedden, where would you fix up?"
"I would fix up at home, ob course."
"Just so. Now if you spect to go to heaven you must get ready down here, for de Church triumphant is de folke dat triumph ober all dar sins, by de help ob de Lord; ober all dar nasty habits, and lib just as pure as possible, and hab no wrong thing about dem: for de Word says, 'Let him dat is filthy be filthy still' so you see you will be just what you are when you fotch up in dis worl: so if you lube to use de debbil's colone, you will hab to go where de brimstone kinder kills de smell; you neber can get in de Golden City, habin on you de smell ob 'Dat Ole Pipe.'" Covansville, Que., Observer, Con.
G. W. Fowler, of wine, women and graft fame, has been defeated down in New Brunswick. The defeat was deserved. He made charges against members of parliament in an indefinite way, and refused to go further. He would not tell on the liberals, because the liberals did not tell on him. A man of that stamp should be given a job somewhere boiling soft soap.

well is beyond praise."
Ottawa Free Press.
How would you like to be iceman? Not much, when the iceman's name is C. W. Morse, rated a year ago at $20,000,000 and to-day a convict under sentence of fifteen years.
Toronto Telegram.
Flags are flying at half-mast from the local Celestial laundries and the usual pipe has been cut out as a mark of respect for the demise of the emperor, whose name sounds like a head-on collision.
St. John Sun.
If the French treaty negotiated by Messrs. Fielding and Brodeur was such a giveaway to France as the Conservatives have said, the refusal of the French Senate to ratify it is somewhat remarkable.
Ottawa Journal.
So far the Liberals in Ontario have prepared no less than eight protests against election in which Conservatives were successful. The defeated Liberal candidate probably finds it hard to see why, when the country was at it, it did not make it unanimous.

George Emmerly was in Kingston on Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Emmerly at her father's at Wilton for a few days.
Cover your hands with a pair of mitts from Boyle & Son's, they sell good ones cheap.
SYDENHAM.
A few from here drove into Kingston on Saturday afternoon to attend the rugby match.
William Godfrey moved into the house by the post office Monday and C. E. Taylor moved into the house vacated by W. Godfrey.
On Tuesday evening last, Sperry Snider, Harrowsmith, and Maggie, eldest daughter of Jackson Dowsley, of this place, were united in marriage by the Rev. Mr. Hanna, at the Methodist parsonage in the presence of a few of the immediate friends. Miss Alberta Snider, sister of the groom, attended the bride, while Percy Dowsley, Kingston, cousin of the bride, ably supported the groom. Afterwards the happy couple repaired to the home of the bride's father, where a sumptuous dinner awaited their arrival. About midnight Mr. and Mrs. Snider drove away to their new home at Star Corners, amid the best wishes of their many friends here.
CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Pritchard
The kind you have always bought

Sent on Request
Only

If you do not find what you want for Christmas in our Big Fall and Winter Catalogue

Write for the CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE
To-day.

EATON'S

Christmas Catalogue

now ready

Fill in this blank.

Name

Post-Office

Name of Newspaper

THE T. EATON CO. LIMITED
TORONTO. CANADA

FASHIONS FOR CAPTIOUS SWEET

IN THE average American home to-day the phrase "sweet sixteen" is without meaning. The much-petted American girl comes into her kingdom so young these days that sixteen is more apt to be capacious and aggressive than demurely sweet.

Miss Sixteen of 1908 knows what she wants, how she wants it and when she wants it, and, alas, very few mothers know how to temper her demands with a firm hand. In ninety cases out of a hundred the girl of sixteen or thereabouts, especially in cities, dresses too elaborately, too expensively and too strikingly for her years, and if her mother protests, the latter is accused of being vain and wishing to keep the daughter in short frocks and braided hair to preserve her own youthful appearance. Therefore Miss Sixteen demands and gets what she wants because her mother would not be vain-glorious for the world, and Miss Sixteen is the worse for the yielding.

This little homily was suggested by the fact that the styles in frocks and frills for girls this season are bound to appear either a trifle youthful or altogether too grown up. There seems to be no happy medium, but the wise girl and her wise mother will choose the younger models. The Directoire styles are not for the girl of sixteen. She must stick to princess effects for day wear and Empire lines for evening frocks.

Be careful in the selection of materials for the girl who would look youthful. Satins, which are now so fashionable, have no place in the wardrobe of the girl still in school. Let her have evening clothes by all means, but they should be evolved from soft, inexpensive and simple materials, cashmere, lansdowns, voiles, and a hundred and one novelty goods which appear under as many fancy names.

Every young girl needs a smartly tailored suit for street wear, and serge or cheviot is by far better choice than a soft finished cloth. These rough materials will stand all kinds of weather and many cleanings. The little suit which we show today is becoming to the average figure. The coat is semi-fitted and has oddly shaped pockets, which will be the joy of every girl who wears it, while the very full box-pleated skirt will relieve her of that "lanky" appearance. Browns and blues are the best choice of colors. The jacket should be lined in matching satin. The buttons are covered with satin, crossed over and over with narrow silk braid, and the trimming braid used should match the cloth in color exactly. The difference in the texture of the cloth and braid will be sufficient contrast.

With a suit of this character a young girl needs two or three blouses, one of soft French flannel in harmonizing colors, one in matching silk, and perhaps a wash waist or two.

MISSIE FANCY BLOUSE.

For indoor wear, the one-piece dress is certainly the smartest. The very thin girl, however, should avoid this style and effect the fluffy blouses. The semi-princess dress trimmed with large buttons, which is here illustrated, is a very practical model for the house dress of a girl of sixteen. Cashmere would be a charming material or a light-weight broadcloth, trimmed with satin covered buttons and a simple gulf of tucked net. For a girl of sixteen I would prefer that the sleeves be made of material like the dress with just the yoke of net. The dress could be made a bit more elaborate by piping each seam with satin folds, or if the color of the gown be a pale one, each seam could be outlined with narrow insertion of imitation Irish lace and yoke to match. To make a house dress like this model for a girl of sixteen requires about five yards of double-width goods.

Sailor suits, or as they are sometimes called "Peter Thompson Suits," are still reigning favorites for school and every-day wear. The pleated skirt is much more youthful than the gored models, and with these suits are worn long, popular "dregs" just ne or Fren a suit. by ham color, 1 braid color n The should girls a ing sin day co fullness coming no bet could t take t this bl smart s mirably the blo over th simply There the rag sents a shepher black, s stripe c nant c tion w French and wh shades known gown a black t through Amor shops i Large turning style. trimmir ribbon Wind made o are wo or any Dogel wear. ton—a as the practices Ready and go found t These silk or A nee eral fa crease rather i make t place.

MISSIE SEMI-PRINCESSE DRESS.

Good Carriage the Secret of "Style"

DEAR, worried woman, in the throes of changing styles and a corset transformation, stop worrying about the decrees of Dame Fashion and the whims of corsetiers, and look to your carriage, your walk. The modiste does not live, the corset fitter has not yet been born, who can give you the lines attained by standing and walking correctly. Try as these two experts will, they cannot hide the defects which follow a "sloppy" carriage and a slouching and keeping your shoulders absolutely on a level.

You never fail to glance in a mirror as you pass it in elevator, store, or shop window. And what do you study? The angle of your hat, the set of your veil? Let them go from this time on, and take a quick glance at your figure. See how you are carrying yourself. Just about three or four of these illuminating views of yourself as others see you, will set you to thinking about your carriage. The angle of your hat,

WHAT a lot of pleasure in life the girl owes to her men friends—yet how many perplexities these same men friends occasion! You will notice that I do not refer to the heart-aches men can cause, because they form another story. To-day we are going to talk just about men friends—not the men you girls really, truly love or who love you.

You see, I receive many, many letters from girls asking how to treat men in their own homes and in public, what presents they may accept or give and scores of similar inquiries. Often I wonder if all these girls are motherless, or is the American mother so absorbed in making both ends of the family income meet or getting through with the fall sewing, that she cannot be troubled with questions.

Just for a half-hour I mean to usurp the place of these mothers who must be so very, very busy, and talk frankly

Then the dreadful problem of calls from men—how many girls write about that!

"May I ask a man to call upon me?" Certainly you may—but not the first time you meet him, unless it is at a house party or week-end stay where you become friendly at this, your first visit to a mutual friend. Generally a girl waits until she has met a man several times before extending the favor, for as a favor she must regard it.

The man who asks the privilege of calling may place the girl in a most embarrassing position. For some reason she may not desire to have their acquaintance advance further, and yet she dislikes to appear inhospitable. A man will show in little ways his desire to continue the acquaintance. A girl does not invite a man who is clearly indifferent to her. And the simplest mode of invitation is to say, "We are always home Sunday afternoon and evenings," or whatever time you and your mother arrange to be at home together.

If the man, your parents, retire f or still certain all Ame certainly in case is social But if this cha always and the America eligner. No yo tations from a home. ing her In bo der two men un to rests play. If a 3

YOU AND YOUR MEN FRIENDS

Of course transformation, stop worrying about the decrees of Dame Fashion and the whims of corsetiers, and look to your carriage, your walk. The modiste does not live, the corset fitter has not yet been born, who can give you the lines attained by standing and walking correctly. Try as these two experts will, they cannot hide the defects which follow a "sloppy" carriage and a slouching walk. Learn how to hold yourself and how to walk, and you can snap your finger at the changes decreed by those who make fashions.

The new corset, fitting like a relentless harness from bust to far below the hip-line, will make you woefully uncomfortable, but it will not give you an attractive figure nor yet bestow upon you that eternal blessing—"style." You can attain that only through good carriage which provides the perfect structure upon which good clothes may be hung, and look smart.

Give the woman who slouches or lounges or "slumps" the latest triumph from Paquin's or Worth's and she will yet look like a frump.

Do you know how to stand correctly? Perhaps. But knowing, do you put your knowledge to practical use?

The other night at a smart playhouse I saw a willowy actress in one of those new hipless gowns of glistening rose-colored satin. That is, she thought she was willowy—but she was only angular. She actually thrust out one shoulder when she stood and walked, until it looked like a hook on which to hang a hat.

After the play a pretty girl who preceded me up the aisle ruined the effect of a beautiful pearl-gray opera cloak by walking with one shoulder fully an inch and a half higher than the other.

Few of these defects are due to actual physical deformities. They are due to habit, and a habit which can be cured. A most common cause of bad carriage in women is none but habit contracted when going to school. Perhaps you carried your books in the crook of your right or left arm, bracing them on the hip. Naturally, you threw out the hip to support the books without any weight on the arm. As a result your one hip is more prominent than the other. If you are young, you can correct the defect by eternal vigilance, holding the protruding hip in, you never fail to glance at the mirror as you pass it in elevator, store, or shop window. And what do you study? The angle of your hat, the set of your veil? Let them go from this time on, and take a quick glance at your figure. See how you are carrying yourself. Just about three or four of these illuminating views of yourself as others see you, will set you to thinking about your carriage. The angle of your hat, the powdering of your nose will sink into insignificance compared to the fashion in which you miscarry your clothes.

"But," perhaps you exclaim, "how can I tell when I am standing or walking correctly?"

Here is a simple test. Take a heavy book, weighing not less than two pounds, and place it on your head. If it falls off when you think you are standing in an absolutely correct position, then there is something wrong. If you can balance it when walking, your carriage is at least erect.

In the correct standing position the head is in a line with the rest of the body, not thrust forward nor held backward. The chin is in, the chest is thrust out, the abdomen is depressed and the knees are straight, not wobbly or uncertain. The heels are together or with one just an inch in advance of the other and at an angle of not more than 15 degrees nor less.

To thrust the head forward is an affection. The sunken chest and round shoulders indicate poor health. The abdomen thrust forward suggests slovenliness.

I would not attempt in this small space to tell you how to walk correctly, for if you have an awkward or slochy walk, you need actual lessons from an expert, and I consider a first-class dancing master, an expert teacher of correct walking. He will show you how to step forward on the toe and ball of the foot first, instead of on the heel. He will correct the unsightly habit, acquired by some women, of throwing the feet out toward the side when walking and the equally bad habit of dragging the feet. He will give you lessons in calisthenics by which you will secure balance. If you do not stand or walk correctly, by all means spend less money on your clothes and more on physical culture. Ten dollars' worth of lessons along these lines will make a tenfold what presents they may accept or give and scores of similar inquiries. Often I wonder if all these girls are motherless, or is the American mother so absorbed in making both ends of the family income meet or getting through with the fall sewing, that she cannot be troubled with questions.

Just for a half-hour I mean to usurp the place of these mothers who must be so very, very busy, and talk frankly with their girls.

One girl writes: "I spoke of an acquaintance the other night as a gentleman friend, and a lady who was visiting us laughed. Why?"

Not having been present, I cannot explain just why the guest laughed, but I can imagine. It was because this girl spoke of a man as her gentleman friend. That little phrase is obsolete, fallen into disuse. In the good old days we had gentlemen and ladies who were in a class by themselves and deserved the titles, but of late years the words have been so abused that they are no longer good form. The poor little sweatshop girl whose escort to the Hackman's Annual Ball may be a third-rate pugilist, always calls him her "gentleman friend," consequently girls who are up-to-date have "men friends."

Dollar frock look smart, and the lack of the lessons may ruin the appearance of a gown costing fifty dollars or more.

Learn how to sit properly. Do not slouch or slump down in the chair with the middle of your back touching the back of the chair, your entire frame sunken and your head hanging forward. The spine must be erect in sitting, and the support should come at the base, not in the middle of the spine. Remember that your waist line forms the hinge on which you bend, never your shoulders or the small of your back, as some girls seem to think.

And if you are round shouldered or have one shoulder higher than it ought to be, send me a self-addressed and stamped envelope, and I will send you some exercises to correct the habit which is endangering the Frenchiest frock ever designed.

Katherine M. Norton

acquaintance advance further, and yet she dislikes to appear inhospitable. A man will show in little ways his desire to continue the acquaintance. A girl does not invite a man who is clearly indifferent to her. And the simplest mode of invitation is to say, "We are always home Sunday afternoon and evenings," or whatever time you and your mother arrange to be at home together.

SIMPLE SCHOOL DRESS.

WHEN THE TROUBLE BEGAN

Preacher Holds the Church Must Reach the Poor to Save the Nation.

He that humbleth himself shall be exalted.—St. Luke xiv. 11.

The 25th of October happened to be St. Crispin's Day. Crispin, with his brother, Crispinian, attested his faith with his life in the year 285. He was beheaded at Soissons, France, in the persecution under Maximian.

The most significant fact concerning him is that he was a shoemaker and the patron saint of shoemakers. It is only the Christian church which makes saints of cobblers. To-day, when an enterprise is to be projected, efforts are made to enlist in its support the great, those who by wealth and birth are natural leaders.

The Christian church was established amid the humblest and poorest classes of society; its shoemakers, its washwomen, its fishermen, its laborers became its saints. In a world cursed with aristocracy it found its home and won its success among the plain people. It was not until the lapse of 300 years that it converted an emperor and brought an empire under its sway, and the moment it did these things trouble began.

A CHURCH OF CLASS.

To-day it is largely grown to be a church of class again. The plain people, the laboring people, find themselves at fancied odds, if not with its teaching and preaching at least with its practice. They are not irreligious, the people; they are anxious and wistful for something which will spiritually uplift. They want amelioration of those conditions which everybody deplures. They do not find the church fulfilling its divine mission and doing its great work. It seems to them to be a church of the world to-day, a church of the so-called higher and more leisurely sections of society. They do not feel that the great substratum of humanity upon which the foundations of the world are laid has any right or place in the church.

Those who are high in the councils of the church must be made to realize these great facts, that the salvation of the church is the salvation of the religious life of the nation, and therefore of the nation itself, for I cannot conceive of any separation between them, and that this salvation depends upon going back to the people with the simplicity and sincerity of a gospel of self-sacrifice which Jesus both preached and lived, so that men may comprehend that this religious organization is the one body in which the rich and the poor, the high and the low, the weak and the strong, meet together for the Lord is alike

THE MAKER OF THEM ALL.

The church will find its saints again among the shoemakers of society, rather than draw them from the dominant Croesuses of to-day.

At a banquet the other night I observed far above the heads of the guests a sparrow which had somehow wandered into the room. During three hours, from time to time, I watched that indomitable bird beat itself upon the ceiling to seek an exit to the upper air. I could not but admire the unwearying persistency with which it strove to escape to freedom, but its efforts were futile. Not that way lay the upward path. It was necessary to come very low, close to the frightening mass of humanity, with its babble and clamor, to go through the doorway or the window which would give access to the high heavens and the bright stars.

The church must go back to the humble people of this land if she is again to lead the nation to the high heavens and the bright stars and what lies beyond. She must humble herself in order that she may be greatly exalted.

Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady.

EARTH WILL BE A DESERT

WATER WILL THEN BE AS DEAR AS GOLD.

A Boston Scientist Draws Conclusions from Conditions in Mars.

"It is the doom of the earth," said Professor Percival Lowell in his lecture before the College Club, Boston, "to be covered with deserts like Mars, and the time will come when water in this world of ours will be far more precious than gold."

With the aid of stereopticon views, many of them photographic transparencies, Mr. Lowell sketched the fresh evidence which has been obtained at the Lowell observatory in Arizona of the existence of intelligent beings on the planet Mars.

tations from a home. ing he: In b der to men u to res play. If a tant of come e coming enterta is wri girl is a str his dng arrange her act posing trace c A gl counting Mr. Sn el as him as must t sers, dibly Save e letters. A m not ca a girl. not et tion o A gl into f exchange music the gl tagrap cover that a enterts The st And "What unawa this, b ship" My try to the to worth long, loose ulsters. Dark blue is a popular color and a deep red, called "dregs of wine," is very fashionable just now. Nothing but French serge or French fannel will answer for such a suit. The braid should be sewn on by hand. It should be in contrasting color, preferably black or a novelty braid combining black, white and a color matching the dress itself.

SWEET SIXTEEN

The blouse which gives the sloping shoulder effect is the one the young girls are seeking just now, and nothing simpler than the one shown today could be found. It has enough fullness over the bust to make it becoming to the undeveloped figure, and no better material than Surah silk could be suggested for it. It would take about four yards of silk to make this blouse. A goods now found in smart shops, called wool taffeta, is admirably suited for such a garment, and the blouse can be trimmed with bands over the shoulders, neck and cuffs, or simply finished off with silk stitching.

There is a new fabric which is quite the rage for misses just now and presents a very stunning effect. It is a shepherd's plaid in red, blue, brown or black, and this is overlaid with a broad stripe of soft broadcloth in the dominant color. Another smart combination was seen the other day in tan French serge, trimmed with a soft red and white braid. One of the newest shades for misses' house gowns is known as mignonette green. Such a gown set off with a little green and black trimming with a touch of gold through it is most effective.

Among the novelties seen in the shops particularly for misses are:

Large beaver sailors with brims turning down in a modified mushroom style. They are worn without any trimming save the band of matching ribbon about the crown.

Windsor ties in every possible shade, made of heavy surah silk. These ties are worn with Peter Thompson suits, or any blouse with a Peter Pan collar. Dogskin gloves for rough and ready wear. These gloves have but one button—a large white button sewed on, as the patent clasp has proven impractical for many reasons.

Ready-made bloomers for long walks and general outdoor wear. They are found to be a great saver of laundry. These bloomers are made of pongee silk or soft woolen materials.

A new hair ribbon sold under several fancy names, and which does not crease with tying. This ribbon has rather a wirey quality, which tends to make the bow stand out and keep in place.

Mary Dean

FRIENDS

If the new caller is an American man, you may introduce him to your parents, who are then at liberty to retire from the parlor to the library or sitting room, and leave you to entertain the man. This is a custom in all American homes, but first he should certainly meet your mother, or father, in case your mother is dead, whoever is socially the head of your house.

But if he is a foreigner, do not take this chance. In Europe a chaperon is always present during a man's call, and the breezy, easy ways of the American girl often mislead the foreigner.

No young woman accepts any invitations to the theatre, dances, etc., from a man who has not called at her home. He must call before entertaining her away from the house.

In both cities and towns girls under twenty go to the theatre with men unchaperoned, but they do not go to restaurants for supper after the play.

If a young man comes from a State

A SMART SUIT OF SERGE

Flora McFlimsey Up-to-Date

POLLY is going to a dance to-night and her gloves have not come home from the cleaner's. I must hurry down-town for a new pair because the shops are all closed when she gets away from the office."

This was Mrs. Blank's excuse when coated and hatted, she met a caller at her front door. Away she rushed to the Elevated Railway station, and the caller glanced after her pittingly. "I never knew the time that Polly did have anything to wear—and yet or blotting paper and with an indamable cleansing fluid rub out the stain. The longer she leaves a stain in fabric, the less liable it is to come out.

If her gloves are not badly soiled, she will rub them with magnesia and lay them away in blue tissue paper. Slight soil will come off twenty-four hours later with brushing. If they are very much soiled the very next morning, she will stretch them on a cloth-covered board outdoors and rub them with gasoline, then leave them

THE S. S. LESSON

INTERNATIONAL LESSON,
NOV. 22.

Lesson VIII. Solomon Anointed
King. Golden Text, I.
Chron. 28. 9.

Verse 1. David was old—Perhaps about seventy years old at this time (compare 2 Sam. 5. 4; 1 Kings 2. 11). The phrase, stricken in years, would seem to indicate that the aged king was already confined to his room and possibly to his bed.

5. Adonijah—The oldest of David's living sons. His mother's name was Hagith.

6. Displeased—Rebuked. The parental discipline in the royal household had apparently been somewhat lax.

Born after Absalom—And like his brother, a spoiled child.

7. Joab—David's nephew and trusted military commander. Zeruiah—David's sister.

Abiathar the priest—The son of Ahimelech, who with all his family except Abiathar had been put to death at the command of Saul for showing kindness to David (1 Sam. 21. 22).

8. Zadok—A direct descendant of Eleazar, the son of Aaron.

Benaiah—Commander of David's household troops (2 Sam. 8. 18), and later the chief military commander under Solomon.

Nathan—The faithful prophet of Jehovah and adviser of the king. He had once severely rebuked David for a wrong he had committed. Concerning Shimei and Rei nothing is known.

9. The stone of Zohelath—A rock-hewn stair on the side of the Mount of Olives, beside En-rogel, a spring identified by some with the Virgin's Pool just south of the city at the junction of the Kidron and Hinnon valleys.

11. Path-sheba—At one time the wife of Uriah, the Hittite, and since her marriage to David, the favorite wife of the king. Her son, Solomon, seems to have been of finer grain and better bred than some of his half-brothers. As the counselor of her son she demonstrated her sagacity and wisdom.

18. Adonijah reigneth—Is being proclaimed, and will be accepted unless David himself interferes.

27. Is this thing done by my lord the king—Nathan's ignorance concerning the true state of affairs is feigned for the purpose of arousing the king to a sense of his own responsibility in the matter.

29. As Jehovah liveth—A solemn oath, indicating the importance which the king attaches to what he is about to say. For the form of the oath, compare 2 Sam. 4. 9.

32. And king David said—Once thoroughly aroused to the situation, the aged king promptly gives minute and explicit directions for the immediate installation of his favorite son, Solomon, as his successor.

Gihon—Apparently a sanctuary in or near Jerusalem.

34. Anoint him—This was the essential and decisive feature of the coronation ceremony. Its significance seems to have been that it symbolized the establishment of a relation between the king and Jehovah, in virtue of which his person and royal office were considered inviolable.

yet
e. A de-
A o is the say.
ter-time
e at

No young woman accepts any invitations to the theatre, dances, etc., from a man who has not called at her home. He must call before entertaining her away from the house.

In both cities and towns girls under twenty go to the theatre with men unchaperoned, but they do not go to restaurants for supper after the play.

If a young man comes from a distant city to see a girl, he does not become a guest at her home upon his own suggestion. If he writes of his coming and the girl's family desire to entertain him, the letter of invitation is written by the mother or by the girl in her mother's name. If he is a stranger to the family and this is his first trip to see the girl, he should arrange to stop at a hotel and call on her after registering at the hotel, disposing of his luggage and removing all trace of travel.

A girl writing to a mere man acquaintance addresses him as "My dear Mr. Smith," and not until he is counted as an old friend does she address him as "Dear Jack." Her subscription must be equally unaffected and impersonal. "Yours sincerely," or "Very cordially yours," never "Lovingly yours." Save something for your engagement letters, do!

A man who is merely a friend does not call oftener than once a week on a girl, and if they are living in different cities they do not write oftener than once a week.

A girl never accepts expensive presents from a man to whom she is not engaged. Flowers, books, bonbons and music or some trinket pertaining to the girl's particular hobby, like photography, golf, etc., are permissible, never jewelry. And the never suggests that a man take her to any place of entertainment, theatre, driving, etc. The suggestion must come from him.

And last there is the girl who writes, "What shall I do if a man kisses me unaware? I do not want him to do this, but I do want to hold his friendship."

My answer to this girl is, "Do not try to keep his friendship. He is not the kind of man whose friendship is worth while."

Prudence Standish

Light and her gloves have not come home from the cleaner's. I must hurry down-town for a new pair because the shops are all closed when she gets away from the office."

This was Mrs. Blank's excuse when coated and hatted, she met a caller at her front door. Away she rushed to the Elevated Railway station, and the caller glanced after her pityingly "I never knew the time that Polly did have anything to wear—and yet she draws a good salary. I wonder what's the matter?"

"The matter" is Polly's mother, who has not taught Polly how to take care of her clothes.

Polly has a lovely evening frock which demands twenty-button white gloves. She bought a pair of gloves especially to wear with that frock, but one Sunday afternoon when she wanted to pay some calls she found that her twelve-button white gloves were soiled, also her tan colored gloves, also her chamolli gloves—so she rumpled up her party gloves and forgot to send them to the cleaner. Her mother paid four dollars for another pair of shoulder gloves—all because Polly forgot to send them to the cleaner in time.

Then Polly had a lovely old-rose house frock of softest cashmere. Around the bottom it became discolored. Polly said, "Oh, let it go. When it gets real dirty, I'll send it to the cleaner." This she did—and the cleaner made a mistake, used the wrong cleansing fluid, rotted the pretty cashmere, and closed the incident by paying Polly just about one-third of what the gown was worth.

Now do you understand why Polly never has anything to wear?

Perhaps you think that taking great care of her gowns makes a girl fussy and old maidish, but she can do this without being objectionable or priggish.

When she comes home from the party at midnight or later, she need not fling her dress across a chair. Instead she should put it in place upon the padded coat-hanger and leave it out where she will see it first thing in the morning. If she is not too tired she will look it over before retiring, and if there are any bad spots show rub a little magnesia, which costs five cents a cake, on the spot. In the morning, if the spot does not come off with brushing, she should place the fabric over some folds of old cloth mable cleansing fluid rub out the stain. The longer she leaves a stain in fabric, the less liable it is to come out.

If her gloves are not badly soiled, she will rub them with magnesia and lay them away in blue tissue paper. Slight soil will come off twenty-four hours later with brushing. If they are very much soiled the very next morning, she will stretch them on a cloth-covered board outdoors and rub them with gasoline, then leave them to dry in sun and air, and finally lay them away in blue tissue paper with sachet bags.

She never puts away a hat without brushing it thoroughly. A hat well cared for will last an entire season. Any reputable milliner will refurbish the hat purchased from her for a song. A good felt or beaver can be re-blocked, broken wings can be mended or renewed, ribbon can be sponged and made into fresh knots. But if you toss your hat all covered with dust into the box, the dust will become ground into fabric and shape, and neither can be renovated.

Girls are more apt to abuse their shoes than any article of clothing. Never put shoes away wet or muddy. Put them on shoe trees, rub them with vaseline to remove the mud or prevent hardening and have them polished the first thing next day.

MARY DEAN.

SALAD ASTORIA.—This is the successor of the Waldorf salad, and like the long-popular relish, is the invention of "Oscar," of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. It is at once a decoration for the luncheon table and a delicious morsel. Split a head of romaine salad lengthwise—after discarding the tough outer leaves. Lay a half of the romaine heart on a plate—the cut surface up. Have ready quarters or sections, pared and cored or seeded, of oranges, grape fruit and Bartlett pears. Lay these close together, almost overlapping on the romaine, and finish off at each end with half a pickled walnut. Decorate the top of the fruit with thin strips of green and red peppers arranged to imitate baby ribbons. Pour over this French dressing and serve ice cold. Firm canned peats may be substituted for fresh ones.

in or near Jerusalem.

34. Anoint him—This was the essential and decisive feature of the coronation ceremony. Its significance seems to have been that it symbolized the establishment of a relation between the king and Jehovah, in virtue of which his person and royal office were considered inviolable.

Piped with pipes—The earliest Greek version of the Old Testament reads "danced in dances" which would seem to be preferable to the reading of our text.

41. Adonijah and all the guests—Nearing the end of their protracted carousal at En-rogel, the usurer and his followers, including Joab, are suddenly made aware of the fact of Solomon's anointing at the command of David.

41 to 49. These verses contain the record of the utter collapse of Adonijah's conspiracy.

50. The horns of the altar—The sanctuary because of its sacredness afforded at least temporary protection to anyone in danger of his life.

53. Go to thy house—A command to retire into private life.

2. 2. Be thou strong therefore—The remaining verses of our lesson contain the last charge of the aged king to his son Solomon, and a brief mention of the death and burial of the king.

2. 3. Prosper—Or, "do wisely."

2. 5. Thou knowest also what Joab did unto me—A suggestion to Solomon that he inflict upon Joab the just punishment for the wrongs he had committed during David's reign, but which the latter for some reason had not himself cared to avenge. In the same way, Solomon is exhorted to show kindness unto Barzillai the Gileadite, to whom David was indebted for protection and assistance at the time of his flight before Absalom.

2. 10. Slept with his fathers—A common Old Testament expression for the decease of a person.

o the
if she o the stars must t she udy.

"Schinparelli," he said, "saw these lines in 1877, and his map of them promptly met with universal condemnation. But the world made a rash step in denying his observation of the canals, for time was perfectly sure to prove their existence. In 1877 only one man saw them, but we have now a dozen men who have not only seen them, but have seen them very much better than he did. We have much better instruments, we have accumulated the knowledge of what to look for, and our observers are better trained. We have pushed Schinparelli's researches very much farther, and now the curious thing is the complete disappearance of the men who ten years ago denied the very existence of the canals."

POLAR CAPS SNOW.

Having shown, against objections, that the polar caps of Mars are snow, and not solidified carbonic acid, and that the temperature of the planet is such as to enable it to support life. Professor Lowell went on to say.

"The Knetic theory of matter reminds us that a small body will lose its gases rapidly as compared with a larger one, and that is why the moon has already lost its air. For like reasons the seas pass away, and though Mars once had seas, there are none on the planet now, and no accumulations of water more than twenty miles across. The only water left in Mars is that which is gathered semi-annually at its polar caps. Mars thus lacks water supply, and leaving out the question of canals, we are led to recognize from the general conditions of the planet that it supports some form of organic life—a form which is peculiarly and manifestly beholden to the polar caps.

"The light areas of Mars, of a rose-ochre color, exactly resembling in hue the deserts of Arizona, are the deserts of the planet; the dark areas are unquestionably areas of vegetation.

DARK REGIONS OF WATER.

"Then there are the canals, which show a surprising network of lines connecting with one another and with the polar caps. At the Flagstaff observatory these canals have been greatly multiplied as well as greatly reduced in size. The better the lines are seen the more absolutely straight and geometrical they become and the narrower they turn out to be. The canals are in the dark as well as in the light regions, showing that the dark regions cannot be water. The lines are about ten miles in width, and not more than fifteen. They always appear in the same places.

"There are many markings on the planet like dots and the canals run into the dots, sometimes fourteen lines centring in one of them. None of the dots is isolated, and there is no canal which is not connected with its neighbor and eventually with one of its polar caps.

"In one season the canals are mere gossamer lines, only to be seen with great difficulty. But six weeks or a month later, after the melting of the polar snows, the lines come out with insistence, and their increasing visibility makes a regular progression down the disk of the planet.

WAVE IN SUCCESSION.

"There is evidently a wave which starts from the polar cap and sweeps over the disk of Mars, and is succeeded six months later by a contrary wave from the opposite pole. The lines show bluish-green as the water brings out the vegetation; they turn gold-brown toward autumn."

Professor Lowell also speaks of the mysterious doubling of the lines concerning the cause of which nothing is yet definitely known. Only about one-eighth of the canals, said he, are seen to be double at the proper season, and they occur only in the equatorial, never in the polar regions. One of these doubles is 400 miles from side to side, and another is connected in a curious way with the polar cap.

A BITTER DISAPPOINTMENT

Belle—Did Fred find marriage as elevating as he thought it would be?

Jack—No; it failed to lift him out of debt.

THE SULTAN'S CIGARETTES.

Probably the most particular smoker in the world is the Sultan of Turkey, whose recent granting of a constitution to his subjects has attracted universal attention. His cigarettes must be of the finest possible quality, and to ensure this, they are made in a small factory in the Royal palace itself. Some half-dozen workmen, the most skilled to be found, are daily engaged in a light, airy room, containing a couple of hand-cutting machines of the simplest pattern, and here they examine the bales of Turkish-grown tobacco raised for the Sultan's use. The best crops in the country are marked for his special benefit, and what is not actually selected for making into cigarettes must be destroyed. A hundred-weight of leaves may be turned over before a pound sufficiently fine and flawless for the Royal lips is found. And the flavor is undeniably superb.

BRUDDAH BEN'S PHILOSOPHY

"Wimmin folks am queer institutions," said Bruddah Ben.

"In what way?" asked Bruddah Hickey.

"Why, during yo' courtin' days dey am always ready to fall on yo' neck, an' aftah de wedding ceremony dey am always ready to fall on yo' pocket-book."

ERT

3 AS oncluurth,

ell in

Club.

1 dese

e will rd of s than ptican

raphic

ketch

h has stence

planet

SHE HAD TO HAVE THEM FROM BONNIE SCOTLAND

LADY WHO BORROWED GOWNS FROM MAKERS.

How She Was Able to Shine at a House Party for the Prince of Wales.

It is fast becoming a case of beg, borrow or steal for the woman who aspires to be smart and in the swim, writes a London correspondent. It is more imperative to-day for a woman to be exquisitely robbed during the country-house visiting season than during the London season. In crushes and crowds in town frocks pass muster which won't stand the more limited space in a country house, and the sharp eyes of one's dearest enemies. At this season women with dress allowances of $50,000 per annum are often driven to desperation to keep pace with the sartorial art of their rivals.

A story is just now being told of a lady who was one of the guests recently invited to meet the Prince of Wales at a famous country house in Scotland. She did not consider that her wardrobe was up to the essential standard demanded by the prince, who fancies himself a connoisseur in gowns, so she immediately phoned to two swagger West End ateliers. She explained that she was in a violent hurry and must have the garments on approval. They were accordingly forwarded, without demur. They included dinner frocks, teagowns, tailor-made suits and so forth. The same night they were packed in my lady's boxes and dispatched to Scotland. She wore each in turn for a week, and at the end of the visit it was again carefully packed in its tissue paper and returned from her ladyship's London house by her maid to the firm which supplied it.

My lady's rival, who was furiously envious of the unique display of creations her ladyship had exhibited, realized that there was only one house in Dover street which could turn out a rose-leaf charmeuse teagown of the order her ladyship had worn for the prince. She immediately repaired to the particular house, therefore, at which she was well known, and said she wanted such a robe.

"We have the identical thing you desire," they said. "It is one of Doucet's," and forthwith the garment was produced.

"Why," she explained, "that is the identical garment Lady A. wore at the Duke of G.'s house party a few days ago. Beautiful as it is, I should not think of wearing a model which was repeated."

Shop assistants in the smart houses are as perfectly trained never to show surprise as the best servants. The young shopwoman merely remarked that she was sure "Mrs. X. was mistaken."

People are now wondering what attitude the house in question will take up against her ladyship. The teagown was a $500 one, and it is a recognized fact in the trade and to the best dressed women that a great house like Doucet never turns out two models alike.

MRS. JONES'S ECONOMY.

"Maria," said Mr. Jones, upon one of his worrying days, "it seems to me you might be more economical."

NOTES OF INTEREST FROM HER BANKS AND BRAES.

What is Going on in the Highlands and Lowlands of Auld Scotia.

There are 20,535 houses in Govan, of which 1,819 are empty.

At present the population of Patrick is estimated at 67,695 and of Govan at 92,171.

Lord Kinnaird, at the Lord's Day Congress, deprecated the spread of Sunday golf.

The annual hiring market — one of the largest in Perthshire — was held in Crieff recently.

A stag weighing 224 pounds was shot recently in the Monachyle Mor Glen, Perthshire.

Mr. Donaldson, editor of the Fraserburgh Herald, has obtained a journalistic appointment in Calcutta.

Heriot parish is so sparsely populated that it is difficult for the parish minister to get elders for his kirk.

During the six months ending February over 3,000 articles were left by passengers in the tramcars of Glasgow.

The extended buildings of the Students' Union at Glasgow University were opened recently by Lord Newlands.

During August 4,340 passengers left the Clyde for places out of Europe, making 20,304 since the beginning of this year.

The city water engineer of Glasgow recommends an expenditure of $11,426,250 on additional pumping machinery, mains, etc.

The Right Hon. John Sinclair, Secretary for Scotland, opened on the 8th inst. the new school at Stobswell, erected at a cost of $150,000.

A pike of 22 pounds was caught with the fly on the Delvine water of the Tay recently. A sea trout 14 inches long was in the pike's throat.

Major-General Boswell, C.B., died recently at Darnlee, Melrose. Deceased, who had seen considerable service in the Indian army, came to live at Melrose about 20 years ago.

Mrs. Annie Soutar Hardie, Forres, has just died in her 100th year. She leaves a numerous body of surviving descendants, viz.: 3 sons, 3 daughters, 26 grandchildren, 40 great-grandchildren, and 1 great-great-grandchild.

A runaway Highland heifer caused a sensation in the central and western parts of Dundee on the 6th inst. A young lad was knocked down and a chimney-sweep was tossed by the infuriated animal, which was ultimately shot.

Lochmaben has a claim to distinction which is probably not known outside its boundaries, for there still lingers in "the four towns"—Smalholm, Hitae, Heck and Grenthell—a unique system of land tenure which, prior to the Reformation, obtained largely throughout Scotland.

HUNGARIAN JUDGE TRAPPED.

Convicted of Accepting Bribe and Fled.

M. Latoczy, vice-president of the Supreme Administrative Court, Budapest, Hungary, is accused of having received $12,500 as a bribe LUCINDA'S EXPERIENCES.

She's Always Finding Things, but Never Finds Anything Valuable.

"I'm the greatest one to find things that ever was," said Lucinda, "but I never find anything valuable. And why do you suppose that is?"

"People must lose valuable things don't they? Why certainly; but it doesn't seem to be my lot to find that sort. Other people find the valuable things and all that I get is what my brother Claude calls the junk."

"And the way I find the brass things is astonishing. It's mostly baby pins that I find, and I discover them on the sidewalks and in the street; everywhere, in fact."

"I see something glistening under the edge of a fence and I pick it up, and it's another baby pin. Beautifully carved, and all that, but worth nothing."

"Sometimes the pins I find thus are new and bright, sometimes old and battered; but always they are worthless so far as actual value is concerned. Why do I never find a gold baby pin? I did find one once that a jeweller said was ten karat filled, the nearest I have ever come to it, but even that was of no money value."

"Rings? Why, yes; I've found rings, too. Sapphire rings and turquoise rings and emeralds, and once I found a diamond ring, but the precious stones in these were all of the same material, namely, glass, and like the rings in which they were set, of no value whatever."

"And it has always been just the same with the various other miscellaneous items of jewelry I have found. The good things appear all to have been picked up before I come along and all the brass goods left for me, and I certainly do find them."

"And when it comes to finding money it's just the same. Somebody else appears to find all the money. Don't you know how you read in the papers how somebody found a pocketbook containing seven hundred and eighty-two dollars and ten cents? And how somebody else found a pocketbook containing eleven thousand dollars, and things like that? But nothing like that ever happened to me—somebody else always finds the big sums of money."

"I never found any money but twice in my life, and once it was a cent, and once a dollar. The cent I kept; the dollar I was very glad to be able to give up within two minutes after I found it."

"I was walking along a street when I found this dollar. I spied it ahead of me lying on the sidewalk, and when I had come to it and picked it up I found that it was a really and truly good dollar bill. I laughed to myself gleefully; I couldn't help it; I had finally found something of the value actual good money. And then I wondered where the dollar came from."

"Walking on along the sidewalk ahead of me was a little girl carrying a pitcher, and of course all I could see of her was her back, but she seemed to me a pleasant little girl and she seemed to be walking along cheerfully, and then all of a sudden she stopped short and seemed to get sort of stiff all over right in a jiffy, and then she turned around and started back toward where I was, and now she was crying and about as distressed a little girl as one could ever expect to see; and of course I knew what was the matter with her now, she had

FROM ERIN'S GREEN ISLE

NEWS BY MAIL FROM IRELAND'S SHORES.

Happenings in the Emerald Isle of Interest to Irishmen.

The Local Government Board has sanctioned a loan of $17,500 for the purpose of laying out a town park for Lurgan.

The goods store at Cashel railway station on the Great Southern and Western Line, was totally destroyed by fire recently.

Extensive improvements to Ballyboro' Model School and teachers' residence have just been completed at a cost of over $3,000.

The King has conferred the honor of Knight of the Order of St. Patrick upon Lord Pirrie, in room of the Earl of Rosse, deceased.

At a meeting of the Enniskillen Technical Committee, Mr. A. W. Kerr, Derry, was appointed principal, at a salary of $800 per annum.

A verdict of accidental drowning was returned in the case of James Kernaghan, 30, whose body was recovered from the River Erne at Belleek.

The Earl of Antrim ridicules the report that the Giant's Causeway is to be quarried. There is, he says, only a small area of rock, and it is worthless for quarrying.

The death of Mr. Thomas Davison, J.P., Lisroan House, Moy, a well known and exceedingly popular member of the Irish Land Commission, took place recently.

The mayor of Waterford, at a meeting of the corporation, presented a vellum certificate from the Royal Humane Society for gallantry, to Austen Farrell of Waterford.

Mr. William Marrison, who for over a quarter of a century was stationmaster at Miltownmalabay, County Clare, and was much esteemed by all classes locally, died recently.

In a health prosecution in Belfast, concerning the overcrowding of a house, it was stated that 15 persons lived in a three roomed house, one of which was the kitchen.

The death has occurred at his residence, Rock House, Portstewart, Derry, of Mr. James McKnight, Warner, who was inspector of national schools, and had retired.

Edward Doyle, of Martinstown, was, at the Curragh Sessions, sentenced to three months imprisonment for assisting Private James Wilson, Third Dragoon Guards, to desert.

About 150 head of cattle, the property of Mr. Thomas Crowde, D. L., Dromore, and 50 sheep, the property of Colonel Tottenham, D. L., were driven from their lands recently.

The main drainage works in Clontarf and Dollymount are nearly completed. About fourteen miles of new sewerage have been constructed and three ejector stations are provided.

The death is reported from Newtown Butler, county Fermanagh, of Mrs. Kierans, Ireland's oldest inhabitant, who had attained the remarkable age of 113 years, 80 of which she spent on a lonely island on Lough Erne.

As a result of the splendid inaugural meeting of the Belfast Irish College recently, nearly 140 students for the coming session have

THE M

FASHIO

The Inqui—the

The ti writes a tor, to in order none, or are fort suggests question such in thinks ti in the tion, lie the inw serve h skin is grey?" The h women the adv beauty bition. trine th beautif she will that are she mus inclin making chaims, pared to

MA Some and two maid th tricacie ladies v ties, bu return them n the bea for one the rav paired. Think steamed for six tired he to be a men m Spartar or they worth t

The 1 then co means three h go to b sleep v their lo poundi in itel mended "Beaut sible to failing such ur I

A ca my not sought constar she dre enlarge a woma ly, mar and is It ha for mar sex. (ciety w in the lity fo earned teagown was a SMOO one, and it is a recognized fact in the trade and to the best dressed women that a great house like Doucet never turns out two models alike.

MRS. JONES'S ECONOMY.

"Maria," said Mr. Jones, upon one of his worrying days, "it seems to me you might be more economical. Now, there's my old clothes. Why can't you make them over for the children instead of giving them away?"

"Because they're worn out when you're done with them," answered Mrs. Jones. "It's no use making over things for the children that won't hold together; you could not do it yourself, smart as you are."

"Well," grumbled Jones, "I wouldn't have closets full of things mildewing for want of wear, if I was a woman, that's all. A penny saved is a penny earned."

That was in April. One warm day in May Mr. Jones went prancing through the closets, looking for something he couldn't find, and turning things generally inside out.

"Maria," he screamed, "where is my grey alpaca dust coat?"

"Made it over for Johnny?"

"Ahem! Well, where's the brown linen one I bought last summer?"

"Clothes-bag," mumbled Mrs. Jones, who seemed to have a difficulty in her speech at that moment. "Just made it into a nice one."

"Maria," asked the astonished man in a subdued voice, "would you mind telling me what you have done with my silk hat; you haven't made that over for the baby, have you?"

"Oh, no, dear," answered the wife, cheerfully; "I've used that for a hanging-basket. It is full of plants, and looks lovely."

Mr. Jones never mentions the word economy, or suggests making over—he has had enough of it.

SOMETHING APPROPRIATE.

She hustled into the shop as though she hadn't a moment to spare.

"I want a book for my husband," she grumbled. "It's his birthday, and I want it for a present. Show me what you have, and be quick, please. Nothing too expensive, mind you, and I don't want anything too cheap, either. He's a mild-mannered man, and not fond of sports, so don't show me anything in that line. For goodness' sake don't offer me any of those trashy novels, and, no matter how much you try to persuade me, I won't take anything in the line of history or biography. Come, now, I'm in a dreadful hurry, and I've already wasted too much time here. Of course, you don't know my husband, but from all I've said, can't you suggest something appropriate?"

"Yes, ma'am. Here is a little volume, entitled 'How to Manage a Talking Machine.'"

"I would be willing to work," said Tyre Dunt. "If I could get the sort of job I want." "What would that job be?" "Well, I wouldn't mind calling out the stations on an Atlantic liner."

A quaint writer says—"I have seen women so delicate that they are afraid to ride for fear of the horses running away, afraid to sail for fear the boat should overset, and afraid to walk for fear the dew might fall; but I never saw one afraid to get married."

throughout Scotland.

HUNGARIAN JUDGE TRAPPED.

Convicted of Accepting Bribe and Fled.

M. Latkoczy, vice-president of the Supreme Administrative Court, Budapest, Hungary, is accused of having received $12,500 as a bribe to use his influence to obtain a license to practise as a chemist for a chemist's assistant named Korbuly. The go-between is alleged to have been the wife of M. Francis Kretz, herself a cousin of M. Latkoczy, and a niece of the once-famous Minister of Finance, Charles Kerkapoly. M. Latkoczy undertook to secure the license by next February at latest.

He was trapped by a trick. The money was given him in the form of marked notes. Detectives, who were in waiting at his home, seized the money and confronted him with the marks on the notes.

M. Latkoczy has been obliged to resign his position, his pension as an ex-Secretary of State, his title of Privy Councillor, and his membership of various clubs.

"Police officials allege that M. Latkoczy was in the habit of undertaking similar manipulations. It he was successful he kept the money, but in the event of the failure of his intervention, returned the bribes."

A letter purporting to be signed by Count Julius Andrássy led to the belief that several prominent persons were implicated in the Latkoczy affair. The letter, however, proves to be a forgery, committed, it is alleged, by M. Latkoczy.

It is stated that the accused judge has fled to America.

NEW GOLDFIELDS FOUND.

Uganda Believed to be Rich in the Precious Metal.

A report by Mr. Coates, the Government geologist, published in the Uganda Official Gazette, states that in the territory west of Lake Albert Nyanza gold has been found in Kakoi River gravels up to a point crossing the boundary of the Lado Enclave.

In the Adiz Valley gold has also been found in conspicuous quantities in gravels at point below a large dyke crossing the stream. On the lower course of the M'bago and Adzi Rivers the gravels show a considerable amount of fine gold in the upper layers, and indications of the probable existence of payable auriferous strata. The country is easily accessible and close to Lake Albert.

The country is in British territory, in proximity to the rich Congo gold fields. The new discoveries prove the existence of gold over a vast area—and probably in the disputed territory lately surveyed by the Anglo-Congolese Boundary Commission. This territory Great Britain should refuse to relinquish.

COSTLY PARLIAMENT HOUSE.

Parliament House, Melbourne, which has been rushed by "the unemployed" of the Commonwealth capital, is the costliest legislative palace in Greater Britain. Five million dollars have been expended on it, and it is not yet completed. It belongs to the Parliament of Victoria, but since Federation it has been the meeting place of the Parliament of the Commonwealth, its owners moving to a wing of the exhibition building close by.

girl and she seemed to be walking along cheerfully, and then all of a sudden she stopped short and seemed to get sort of stiff all over right in a jiffy, and then she turned around and started back toward where I was, and now she was crying and about as distressed a little girl as one could ever expect to see; and of course I knew what was the matter with her now, she had lost a dollar.

"When she came along to where I was I said to her, 'What's the matter, my dear?' and she answered very tearfully and solemnly: 'I've lost a dollar.'"

"Well, don't you worry any more over that, my dear," I said to her, "here it is."

"And I handed it over to her, and my gracious! I've seen a few quick changes, but I never did see shadow succeeded by sunshine quite so suddenly as it was now on this little girl's face; and I knew that I got more fun out of giving the little girl back her dollar than I ever did out of any little thing in my life."

"But really, now, why is it, do you suppose, that I find so much of that stuff that my brother Claude calls the junk, but never anything of value?"

BANK NOTES IN A DUST BIN.

How They Were Discovered and Returned to Their Owner.

Ten 1,000 franc bank notes, representing the savings of a woman who lived at Nanterre, near Paris, were hidden by her in an old envelope, which was placed in a drawer. In a moment of forgetfulness the envelope found its way into a dust bin.

In the morning the ragpickers turned out the bin, but tossed aside the tattered envelope without inspection. Some carters happened to pass that way. They picked up the now mud splashed piece of paper, one remarking to the other: "Perhaps there is a fortune inside." They drew out the notes. "This is some fool's pleasantry," they said; so by way of revenging themselves on the unknown joker and not believing the notes were genuine they tore them to pieces and threw them aside.

Two market women came along shortly afterward. With the shrewdness of their class they recognized the scattered pieces of paper and gathered them up and took them to the Commissary of Police.

There they were pieced together and it was found that none was missing. Two hours later the notes so curiously discovered were restored to their owner.

A NEW SWORD.

Recent wars have proved, so people have been told, that the cavalry sword has ceased to be an effective weapon on the field of battle, but evidently those in authority at the British War Office do not share that view. The Army Council has just approved a new cavalry sword which has been submitted by a Birmingham firm. The new weapon is made entirely for thrusting. It has a perfectly straight tapering blade instead of a curved and broader blade which has been in use in the British army, with little modification, for over half a century. In the new grip there is an ingeniously made recess whereby the user obtains power for thrusting. The grip is checkered, providing an excellent hold. The manufacture is to be begun at once.

The death is reported from Newtown Butler, county Fermanagh, of Mrs. Kierans, Ireland's oldest inhabitant, who had attained the remarkable age of 113 years, 80 of which she spent on a lonely island on Lough Erne.

As a result of the splendid inaugural meeting of the Belfast Irish College recently, nearly 140 students for the coming session have already been enrolled, many of them coming from districts upwards of 40 miles distant.

DOGS WILL AID POLICE.

Bloodhounds Will be Introduced in English County.

The police authorities in England have at last decided to follow in some degree the customs of the Continent and recognize bloodhounds as a permanent agent in the detection of crime.

Major Richardson, who has for years been breeding—wholly with a view to perfection of scent—cross-bred bloodhounds, the other day received a formal notice that his dogs are to be retained by the Hertfordshire police. Major Richardson will keep the dogs and train them, but they will be sent for by the Hertfordshire authorities on the occurrence of any crime in the detection of which they may be useful.

A great number of the other county authorities are discussing the employment of dogs, and the idea has particularly appealed to those in Scotland. It is probable that in a short time this special breed of dogs—whose heredity is as yet a secret—will be generally recognized as an arm of the detective service, as in Beran, where a motor car, specially built for carrying a dozen or more bloodhounds, is kept always in readiness.

Some of Major Richardson's hounds have already done service in Turkey, on behalf of the Sultan, and the Paris authorities, who have just imported some pups, find the dogs much more faithful to a scent than any variety yet produced.

IRELAND WINS THIS TIME.

Has Distinctly the Best of Old-Age Pensions.

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer says that the total number of claims received by an old-age pension officers up to the 10th inst. amounted to $468,164, of which 273,862 came from England, 131,610 from Ireland, 49,077 from Scotland and 13,615 from Wales.

Mr. Asquith's estimate in his budget speech was for half a million pensions in the first year. The applications up to now nearly reach that figure, but it is possible that a considerable number of claims will be rejected on scrutiny.

The relatively large number of applications from Ireland, probably, is due to the fact that there are more persons of sixty-five years of age and upwards in Ireland than in England and Scotland. In the report of the census for 1901 the proportion per thousand of the total population is given as follows with respect to persons of sixty-five years and upwards; England and Wales, males 42, females 51; Scotland, males 41, females 56; Ireland, males 64, females 63.

The high proportion of old people enumerated in Ireland is, says the report, mainly accounted for by emigration.

SLE THE MARTYR OF BEAUTY

IRE-FASHIONABLE WOMEN UNDER- GO TORMENTS.

The Inquisition Was Not in it With the Methods of Complex- ion Specialists.

The time, trouble and expense, writes a well known English doctor, to which women put themselves in order to get beauty if they have none, or to enhance any which they are fortunate enough to possess, suggests to the masculine mind the questions: "Are her looks really of such infinite importance as she thinks they are?" and, "Is she not, in the quest for external perfection, liable to forget to cultivate the inward qualities which might serve her in good stead when her skin is wrinkled and her hair grey?"

The highest ambition of most women is to be pretty, and it is to the advantage of the professional beauty specialist to foster this ambition, and to inculcate the doctrine that every woman who is not beautiful may become so if only she will give the time and money that are necessary to this end. But she must sacrifice herself and her inclinations to a large extent in the making and keeping of these facial charms, and this many seem prepared to do.

MAIDS AS MASSEUSES.

Some patients of mine, mother and two daughters, have had their maid thoroughly trained in the intricacies of face massage. They are ladies with innumerable social duties, but no matter how late they return from ball or opera, each of them must respectively submit to the beautifying process at her hands for one whole hour, in order that the ravages of the day may be repaired.

Think of it! To be washed and steamed, creamed and massaged for sixty long minutes, when the tired head asks nothing better than to be allowed to rest. These women must have something of the Spartan spirit in their composition, or they would not think the game worth the candle.

The mother has "first turn," then come the girls. This, of course, means that it takes the last one three hours before she may finally go to bed. Personally I think that sleep would really do more for their looks than all this rubbing and pounding, which, though excellent in itself, is hardly to be recommended at such unearthly hours. "Beauty sleep" is so rarely possible to the society woman that, failing this, she falls back on some such unsatisfactory substitute.

BLINDED HERSELF.

A case was recently brought to my notice in which a woman had sought to improve her eyes by the constant use of belladonna, which she dropped into them in order to enlarge their pupils. She is now a woman of forty—with, presumably, many years of life before her—and is totally blind.

It has been said that the instinct for martyrdom is innate in the fair sex. Certainly many modern society women, if personal suffering in the quest for beauty could qualify for canonization, have well earned the patronymic of saint.

WAS TORTURED TO DEATH

DOINGS OF A BRUTAL GERMAN OFFICER IN AFRICA.

Limbs of Native Who Committed Theft Were Racked Until Man Died.

Some sidelights were shown in German colonial administration, at the trial in Berlin, recently, of Herr Horn, an official recently recalled from Damaraland. The evidence showed that once when Herr Horn was on a tour of inspection in 1903 the treasury at Sokode was rifled and £30 stolen. The theft was traced to a native called Zedu, and £9 of the money was recovered.

Zedu was summarily sentenced to five years' arrest in chains and two birchings of twenty-five strokes each. After the first whipping Herr Horn ordered the man to be tied to a flagstaff. His arms and legs were bent backwards and fastened with iron chains, and his feet were fastened together with an iron ring.

SCREAMED FOR MERCY.

The man screamed without cessation, and declared he would show where he had hidden the money if they would release him. He was released, but then refused to carry out his promise. This was repeated several times, and at last Herr Horn ordered no notice to be taken of any further appeals, and Zedu was left tied to the flagstaff for twenty-four hours without food or drink.

DIED FROM TORTURE.

Soon after he was taken down he died. At the Lome District Court Herr Horn was afterwards charged with causing the man's death, but was acquitted. The case was taken further till it reached the German court, where Herr Horn was sentenced in May last.

In appealing against the sentence Herr Horn brought several witnesses, who declared that Zedu was not in pain when tied to the flag staff, but only cried out when Europeans were within hearing.

200 VARIETIES OF CHEESE.

Experts Make a List of the Differ- ent Kinds.

Experts at the United States Department of Agriculture have been at work again and the result is an interesting, if somewhat technical, dissertation on cheeses, how they are made, what they are made of, and all the details connected with the business, says The Omaha Bee. The experts announce, in an introductory note, that there are 229 known varieties of cheese and that no two of these are at all alike except that they have milk in some form as the basis. Milk is the foundation of all cheese, but the superstructure may be made of anything from sage to soapstone, depending upon the whim of the cheese builder and the taste of the consumer.

Cheese making is one of the oldest arts, or trades or habits, under whichever classification. It was an article of diet back in the hazy times of history, and has never lost out with changing fashions. It is found in the plains of South Africa, on the shores of the Mediterranean, in the passes of the Alps, on the banks of the Rhine and the Rhone, on the steppes of Siberia,

ESKIMO GAMES.

Pastimes of Children on the Shores of Bering Sea.

Although the Eskimos have no national game, they lack neither in number nor in variety the diversions suited to their life. In the pages of Mr. Herbert L. Aldrich's "Arctic Alaska and Siberia" is an account of games which he found played by children along the shores of Bering Sea. He remarks that "It is not all a sober struggle for existence," and it is pleasant to think that where the conditions of life are so hard, children can still find pastimes that put them on an equal footing with those of more favored races.

Football is played with a bag stuffed with hair. "Tag" is the same game the world over. Children are fond of "teetering" standing upon the end of a plank instead of sitting down. Another amusement, which requires skill, is the being tossed up in a blanket. A walrus hide is used, and the trial of skill is to see who can stand on his feet and be tossed into the air the highest.

Small children have miniature sleds which they load with mice skins and all sorts of trinkets, so as to play trader. Boys practise archery.

Of course they slide down-hill, but the sled is the seat of a stout pair of deerskin trousers.

Athletics are also much indulged in. One difficult feat is to walk on the hands, the legs being outside of the arms and held straight out in front, parallel with the ground.

Lifting-matches are frequent, but very few natives are as strong as the average white man. Hurling the spear is also practised; and small darts guided by goose feathers are thrown with great accuracy, so that they often hit a mark at thirty feet. The faculty to throw a stone is innate in every boy. In fact, the small boy is the same the world over.

Girls play with dolls carved out of ivory, which they dress up, after their own fashion, in clothing of ermine, mice or other skins. One of their games is to kick a ball of ice or snow about the size of a baseball, the object being to keep it in the air all the time without touching it with their hands.

They also toss pebbles very skillfully, some being able to keep six or seven in the air at a time with one hand. They frequently wear bracelets of sinew, on which are strung bits of iron, brass, or anything that will jingle. Stones are tossed in the air, the hands crossing each other between the tosses, jingling the bracelets, keeping time and accompanying the play with a sort of chant.

TRAGEDY ON AN ISLAND.

An Evicted Tenant's Last Terrible Revenge.

An extraordinary affair is reported from Whiddy Island, off the coast of Kerry, Ireland. A young man named John Groggin, who, with his family, was evicted from his farm on the island a year ago, waylaid the present occupiers of the farm, who are paternal cousins of his, as they were returning from a neighbor's. He fired several shots from a revolver, but only one took effect, shattering the arm of Christopher Goggin.

He then went to the farm, and fired a number of shots through the doors and windows, killing a horse in a stable after which he set fire

IN MERRY OLD ENGLAND

NEWS BY MAIL ABOUT JOHN BULL AND HIS PEOPLE.

Occurrences in the Land That Reigns Supreme in the Com- mercial World.

It is estimated that the men of Great Britain spend $1,250,000 a year on silk hats.

$22,500 a year is the average earning power per locomotive all over Great Britain.

Seven oxen were roasted whole at the annual hop fair at Stratford-Avon last week.

It is agreed that there have never been so many visitors in London as there have been this year.

The Carnarvon borough magistrates have directed the police to prevent boys attending their court.

The lawn at Buckingham Palace is large enough to allow ample room for over 2,000 men to manoeuvre.

An oyster from the River Fall has been dredged, the shell of which is firmly fixed in the bowl of a clay pipe.

Over a thousand trees are to be planted in Hammersmith streets at a cost of $2,550 by unemployed labor.

Mr. Richard Peter, of Launceston, the oldest magistrate in the county, has entered upon his 100th year.

The Great Western Railway has 2,879 miles; London and North-western, 1,947 miles, and the Great Northern, 847 miles.

At the funeral of Mr. George Baxter Smith, the squire of Laxfield, the coffin was conveyed to the church-yard on a farm waggon.

Burglars who visited an East Ham shop and got away with a number of watches left a note stating, "We are unemployed and starving."

Clergy and ministers of all denominations in Willesden have issued a manifesto to the ladies of their congregations, urging them not to shop after 8 p.m.

Nearly 200,000 persons have paid for admission to the famous maze at Hampton Court Palace during the season. The receipts amount to more than $4,000.

The foundation stone of Britain's first sky scraper has just been laid at Liverpool. The building will be 300 feet high, and is being erected on a site overlooking the Mersey.

Dr. Greenwood, medical officer of Blackburn, says, of 20,000 houses specially visited in the town recently, 16,000 contained only two bedrooms, only 16 were to let, and only 182 had bath-rooms.

The president of the Board of Education has consented to receive at an early date a deputation from the National Union of Teachers on the subject of the employment of uncertificated teachers.

In the grounds of Earl's Court Exhibition the Empress Hall is being turned into a roller skating rink, which, when completed, will have one of the largest maple skating floors known.

The offer of three branch libraries for Bolton by Mr. Andrew Carnegie, at a cost of £5,000 each, providing the sites be found and the library rate be increased from 1½d. to 2d., has been accepted.

A Macclesfield wedding has had to be postponed owing to the bridegroom forgetting the time of the ceremony. While the bride was ready at the church, the bridegroom

New-gh, of st in-he re-80 of island inau-Irish stu-
have ny of wards
E. ed in gland ow in
the lood-in the s for with cross-er day
t his Hert-hard-train or by on the e de-use-other issing
l the d to balle ocial is as y re-lecte-e arryinds.
son's ice in ditan, have l the scent
d.
IE.
l-Age
f the num-10th of land,
from es.
budillion e ap-reach that laims er of obab-e are rs of an in e repro-total with y-five and Scotland, peosays
or by

ly, many years of life before her and is totally blind.
It has been said that the instinct for martyrdom is innate in the fair sex. Certainly many modern society women, if personal suffering in the quest for beauty could qualify for canonization, have well earned the patronymic of saint.

Serpent Saved Boy's Life.

India Village School Story Quite Oriental in Details.

A strange story is given by a subscriber of a drama said to have happened in a Jubbulpore (India) village school, says the Paisa Akhbar.

A few days ago one of the teachers detained a Mahajar boy, wearing ornaments, after school hours, saying that he would not be allowed to go home till he had prepared his day's lesson. When the rest of the students had gone away and there was none to watch them the master shut the boy up in a small room and demanded all his ornaments.

On the latter's refusal the master gave him several cuts with a blunt knife. As the knife was too bad to kill the boy and the boy also was suffering from excruciating pain, he requested his teacher to kill him by a stone lying in the school compound. No sooner said than the master agreed to it and went to bring the stone. The master had hardly lifted the stone when a black serpent rose up and coiled itself round his arms.

The half dead boy, seeing that his master did not come back shouted and some passersby came there. Seeing the boy in this state, they informed the police, who reached there immediately. The unfortunate master was still in that condition. Seeing the police, the serpent left his prisoner and the master was arrested.

STUDENT AS A LAMPLIGHTER.

Many hardships endured by students attending university or college in Scotland have been brought to light from time to time, says the Glasgow News. A student of Anderson's Medical College some years ago fulfilled the duties of lamplighter during his spare hours in a neighboring burg. He had no other income than the few shillings he received weekly for lighting, extinguishing and cleaning the burg lamps, and from this he paid his college fees and kept himself fairly respectable. On one occasion he applied for an increase of wages and was called before the committee. One of the bailies remarked that an able bodied, healthy looking young man like the applicant might find some other employment instead of wasting his time as he was doing. The application for an increase was refused. One may conceive the bailie's surprise at a subsequent meeting when the town clerk read a letter from the lamplighter tendering his resignation, as he had passed his final examination as a fully qualified doctor.

"No, sir," said the stern parent, "I cannot give my consent—at least not now. Before I will think of confiding my daughter to your care you must succeed in doing something." "Oh, I've done that. I succeeded in kissing her last night, after she had assured me that I never could until you had given your approval."

Cheese making is one of the oldest arts, or trades or habits, under whichever classification. It was an article of diet back in the hazy times of history, and has never lost out with changing fashions. It is found in the plains of South Africa, on the shores of the Mediterranean, in the passes of the Alps, on the banks of the Rhine and the Rhone, on the steppes of Siberia, and in the cottages of the peasants, in the palaces of princes, and on lunch counters of the civilized and semi-civilized world. Age does not wither nor custom stale the infinite variety of cheese. There are cheeses in existence and growing stronger every day that are older than any existing Government. One particular cheese is mentioned as being over two hundred years old, and reflecting great credit on the family that possesses it. Over in Switzerland they have a pleasant custom of making a cheese at the birth of a child and eating it at his funeral feast or at the funeral of his son or grandson.

A GIRL QUEEN'S TACT.

How the Late Queen Victoria Put an End to Heavy Drinking.

When Queen Victoria ascended the throne it was considered no reproach for men to drink themselves senseless after dinner. Noblemen of the highest rank joining the ladies after dinner in a state of semi-intoxication apparently created no disgust, and the habit of heavy drinking continued. Frank Hird in "Victoria, the Woman," says that the queen herself ended it, at least as far as the court was concerned.

Girl though she was, Victoria set her face against the practise the moment she became her own mistress, and expressed her disapprobation with great tact and skill.

When she went to the drawing-room with the ladies after dinner, she remained standing until the gentlemen came into the room. The knowledge that her majesty was standing until the gentlemen left the table made it impossible for them to stay behind longer than the few minutes necessary for the drinking of coffee.

This quiet but significant action of the girl queen had a most beneficial result, and by the time she married society was already beginning to look askance at "one-bottle" and "two-bottle" men.

MOTOR CARS RUINED.

Acids Thrown Over Many Vehicles by Paris Toughs.

A new form of crime is now attracting the attention of the Paris, France, police. Within the last ten days no fewer than twenty-seven motor cars—in nearly every case cars of expensive make and luxurious upholstery—have been seriously damaged by corrosive acids poured or thrown over them by unknown persons.

In every case the painting and varnish has been ruined, the brass work deeply corroded, the leather work injured and the tires eaten away. The cases have all occurred in one district—that known as the Opera Quarter, in the very heart of Paris—and the corrosive liquid appears to have been thrown from a window or other elevated position on to the cars. The police have, however, found it impossible to locate any particular street as the scene of the outrages.

his farm on the island a year ago, waylaid the present occupiers of the farm, who are paternal cousins of his, as they were returning from a neighbor's. He fired several shots from a revolver, but only one took effect, shattering the arm of Christopher Goggin.

He then went to the farm, and fired a number of shots through the doors and windows, killing a horse in a stable, after which he set fire to the house.

The flames were noticed on board the battleship Britannia, and an officer and twenty men landed, and succeeded in extinguishing them after great damage had been done. In the darkness one of the sailors missed his footing, and fell into a moat running round an adjacent battery, being killed instantly.

Meanwhile Christopher Goggin and his brother had notified the police on the mainland, whereupon a strong party, under Head Constable Looney, obtained a boat and went out to the island. They reached the old pier at midnight.

Almost immediately afterwards one of the officers heard a man approaching him. He went towards him, but as he did so the man, who proved to be John Goggin, put a revolver to his mouth and fired, falling dead into the constable's arms.

Goggin lost his wife and baby a week ago, and the fact that the cousin whom he wounded was to have been married, and to have lived on the farm, from which he had been evicted, is said to have preyed on his mind.

A FEW FIGURES.

There are 481 systems of shorthand.

The best ostrich feathers bring $25 a pound.

Two peacocks a year become extinct in England.

The world's annual coffee crop is 700,000 tons.

Twelve marriages in every hundred each include a widow or a widower.

The sweepings of London's chimneys make annually 50,000 tons of scot, which sells as fertilizer for $200,000.

In India, in the healthy neighborhood of Negapatam, living is so cheap that beef costs only three cents a pound, mutton two cents, chickens from two to five cents apiece, eggs four cents a dozen, butter five cents a pound, and fruits and vegetables in the same remarkable proportion—as, for instance, pineapple, ten cents a dozen, and new potatoes, five cents a peck.

HOME MADE BAROMETER.

Those who love experimentation may try the following method of making a cheap barometer, practised in France. Take 8 grams of pulverized camphor, 4 grams of pulverized nitrate of potassium, 2 grams of pulverized nitrate ammonia, and dissolve in 60 grams of alcohol. Put the whole in a long, slender bottle closed at the top with a piece of bladder containing a pin-hole to admit the air. When rain is coming, the solid particles will tend gradually to mount, little star crystals forming in the liquid, which otherwise remains clear; if high winds are approaching, the liquid will become thick, as if fermenting, while a film of solid particles forms on the surface; during fair weather the liquid will remain clear and solid particles will rest at the bottom.

ing floors known.
The offer of three branch libraries for Bolton by Mr. Andrew Carnegie, at a cost of £5,000 each, providing the sites be found and the library rate be increased from 1½d. to 2d., has been accepted.
A Macclesfield wedding has had to be postponed owing to the bridegroom forgetting the time of the ceremony. While the bride was ready at the church, the bridegroom was leisurely washing at home.

FLEAS CARRY PLAGUE.

Important Discovery by U. S. Government Officers.

That fleas have been discovered to be the agent for the spread of bubonic plague, conveying it from rat to rat, and thus to human beings, is one of the most important statements contained in the report of Dr. Walter Wyman, chief of the Bureau of Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, Washington, issued recently. In the discussion of the efforts being made by the Government to stamp the bubonic plague out of San Francisco, U. S. Surgeon-General Wyman says:

"A case of fatal plague was reported in San Francisco in May, 1907, but no other case was reported until August 8. Up to date of the report (November 19, 1907) there had been 96 cases and 69 deaths. As yet it has been impossible to discover the origin of the present outbreak.

"By request of the local and State authorities, the President directed the Surgeon-General, through the Secretary of the Treasury, to take charge of the situation. The disease is reported as diminishing, evidently due to the measures enforced by the large corps of officers assigned to that duty, but the Surgeon-General asserts that it will of necessity require a long time for complete eradication.

"This is better understood by reason of the fact that the disease prevails among rats, and that the fleas on the rats convey the disease from one rat to another and to human beings."

WOULDN'T HAVE BABY KISSED

Rules Signed by Father and Mother Makes Visitors Think.

Living with his parents at Bridford, England, is a nine-months-old baby boy who has never yet been kissed.

Hanging in a conspicuous place just inside the entrance to the house is a set of rules addressed to visitors and signed by the father and mother. The following are extracts from the rules:

- Don't kiss the baby.
 - Don't handle baby unless your hands are very, very clean.
 - Don't bring baby's face close to your own or to your hair.
 - Don't allow baby to touch your face or hair.
 - Don't talk, breathe, whistle, blow, cough or sneeze into the baby's face. We want him to live.
 - Don't use your handkerchief to baby's hands, face or mouth.
- At the foot of the rules is written: "To some these rules will appear comical or stupid, but they are not written as a joke or without thought. Therefore, any person infringing these rules after having read them will incur our displeasure extremely."

SHOE BARGAINS!

We have a few odd lots placed on sale to clear at following prices:

- 30 PAIR of Children's Dongola Kid, Lace Boots, solid leather throughout. Made by Winn & Co., sizes 10 and 10½. A very reliable boot. 85 cts
Sale Price
- 30 PAIR of Spring Heel Boots, just the thing for school and house wear, sizes 2½, 3, 3½, 4½, 5, Regular $2.00. $1.50
Sale Price
- 12 PAIR of Men's Oil Tan Moccasins, waterproof, sizes 8 and 9 only. $1.25
Sale Price
- 12 PAIR of Men's High Laced Felt Boots with heavy pegged soles, sizes 5 and 7 only. $1.90
Sale Price

THE J. J. HAINES SHOE Napanee, Belleville, HOUSES, and Trenton.
Largest Dealers in this Section of Canada.

THE BEST FLOUR. DAFOE'S NONESUCH DAFOE'S MANITOBA PATENT

By numerous tests by the best Bakers the above mentioned grades have been proven to be the best Flours in the market. When buying Flour ask for Dafoe's, and patronize your home mill, thereby producing Bran and Shorts that you can purchase cheaper than the product of the Western mills, which has to be transported thousands of miles at great expense, and usually, when it reaches you, of inferior quality.

The grocer complains if the farmer or the mechanic sends to Toronto or to outside points for an article he can get at the home store just as good, but he does not hesitate to buy Flour from mills hundreds of miles away, and sell you an inferior Flour for more money than you can purchase the home product for, every bag of which is guaranteed.

CHOICE CORN MEAL and BUCK-WHEAT FLOUR always on hand.

FEED GRINDING a specialty, with the best feed mills known to the trade.

A full stock of the best ANTHRACITE COAL. Also in the market for the purchase of all kinds of Grain.

Ask for prices at the big Mill before purchasing your Flour, Feed or Coal.

REMEMBER

Cambridge's Confectionery.

Where you can procure the best brand of Oyster during the coming Oyster season. The Oysters we sold so many of last season gave entire satisfaction, and we will still continue to handle all the best brands this season. Sold in any quantity.

Oysters served in any form to suit the taste.

TRY OUR HOME-MADE BREAD.

Just received another shipment of Lowney's and McGregor Harris high grade Chocolates, both in bulk and fancy boxes. All goods guaranteed fresh at CAMBRIDGE'S, Phone 93.

Next A. E. Paul's, and The Robinson Company, Limited.

C || Anthracite

When it is Underwear

you are looking for come to us.

WE HAVE THE BEST LINES MADE

and give the closest prices in the trade.

A.E. Lazier.

ROYAL HOTEL BARBER SHOP
F. S. SCOTT, Proprietor.

First-Class Workmen.
Lightest and Brightest Shop in Napanee.

GIVE US A CALL.

JOHN T. GRANGE
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES
Grange Block, John Street,
Strictly Private and Confidential.

FRED CHINNECK
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES
Chinneck's Jewellery Store
Near Royal Hotel
Napanee
Strictly Private and Confidential. 39

F. W. SMITH,
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.
Strictly Private and Confidential.
Smith's Jewellery Store,
30-32m Napanee.

The County Council meets on Tuesday next, November 24th, at 2 p. m.

On page one of this issue will be found two Board of Health Notices in reference to typhoid fever and smallpox.

Be sure and read the Public Health Notices on page one of this issue in reference to Typhoid Fever and Smallpox.

Taft's victory over Bryan is not of as much importance to the people of Napanee as the fact that you can get 25% discount off any Japanese article in Paul's Japanese Store.

A special sale on pocket knives, butcher knives, carving knives, table knives, forks, spoons. Good goods, good prices.

BOYLE & SON.

Itch, Mange, Prairie Scratches, Barber's itch, and every form of contagious Itch on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Wolford's Sanitary Lotion. It never fails. Sold by—T. B. Wallace

His Lordship, Bishop Mills, of Kingston, administered the rite of confirmation to twenty-one candidates in St. Mary Magdalene's church at the Sunday morning service. Nearly all of the candidates were past the middle age, and the Vicar, Rural Dean Dibb, is to be complimented on this large addition to the communion of the church. Large congregations listened to His Lordship's powerful sermons, both at the morning and evening service.

An Onion Breath.

Is not so offensive if you use the Breath-Smax, that are sold at Wallace's Drug Store, 5 cents.

Napanee General Club

J. N. Osborne's

Barber Shop is on the north side of Dundas street near Steacy's. Call and see how well he can suit you.

Trinity Church.

Rev. G. W. McCoil will occupy the pulpit on Sunday morning and evening. Everybody welcome to church and Sunday school.

Hogs Wanted.

Will ship hogs on Tuesday, Nov. 24th. Highest prices paid for good hogs.

J. W. HALL.

A Good Lantern Globe.

We cannot guarantee it not to break but we can recommend it as being a better globe than you ordinarily get for 10 cents. Sold only at Wallace's Drug Store.

An At Home.

The Woman's Hospital Aid Society is arranging to give an At Home at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Young, Centre street, on the afternoon of December 8th. Please keep this date free and come and bring your friends.

Sec.

Pianos and Organs.

The place to buy your pianos and organs is at VanLoven Bros., Napanee, where you will have your choice of 4 or 5 different makes. See the different styles, hear the different tones, and take your choice. Open every Saturday, rooms opposite Madill's store.

VANLOVEN BROS.
Napanee and Moscow.

Destroyed by Fire.

Tuesday morning about 8 o'clock the home of Mr. William Ashley, Petworth, was totally destroyed by fire, together with the contents, practically nothing being saved. Mr. Ashley was helping a neighbor to thresh, and Mrs. Ashley was out at the barn. Miss Ashley, who was not feeling well, was still in bed and barely escaped with her life. How the fire originated is not positively known, but is supposed to have started from the stove. The loss will exceed over $1000, with only $300 insurance.

Napanee Ladies Musical Club.

The next meeting of the Napanee Ladies' Musical Club will take place in the Town Hall, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 2nd. The Sherlock Male Quartette of Toronto, has been engaged and a good programme is assured. This will be an open meeting and the fee for non-members has been placed at 35c. Will those desirous of becoming members of the Club kindly secure their membership tickets from the Secretary, Mrs. Ward, before the next meeting.

A Fine Concert.

Tuesday night the Ladies' Aid of the Western Methodist church held their annual concert. Madame Annie Don Cochrane, Belleville, assisted by local talent, rendered the programme which undoubtedly was one of the finest ever given in the church. Madame Cochrane rendered the following songs in a very clear, sweet, and pleasing manner: "Angus MacDonald," "The Ninety and Nine" and "Annie Laurie," and responded to hearty encores after each number. Mrs. Alice Gibson gave two recitations in her usual fine style. H. E. Collins rendered a violin solo in an able manner. Trinity church orchestra also rendered some choice selections. The attendance was good and although the admission was only fifteen cents, the affair netted the ladies a neat sum.

WE SELL GOOD.....

BOOTS and SHOES
at Low Prices

On well, after by you enter ten days.
his ts (Frid be he River

Ar died was even noon mon
no fa
Mon
daler
in Ri

W away day week nurs ance
the Sids
and two siste

At suffer on F year which came cease child
The Susk Win Nelli days cease
a sto was Sunt take tern

Fe Court
and ty to Lowrey's and McCregor's make high grade Chocolates, both in bulk and fancy boxes. All goods guaranteed fresh at CAMBRIDGE'S, Phone 96.

Next A. E. Paul's, and The Robinson Company, Limited.

COAL Anthracite Steam Smithing
and Cannel
—ALSO—
DRY SLABS AND HARDWOOD FOR SALE.

Office, West Side Market Square, Phone 104 Yard: Foot of West Street. 1-11
CHAS. STEVENS,

Wedding Gifts

We are able to supply any want in the wedding gift line from a $1.00 present to the highest. You will travel many miles before you find an assortment of cut glass and sterling silverware equal to ours. The newest designs at enticing prices. Engagement rings and wedding rings, our specialty.

Marriage Licenses Issued.

Smith's Jewelry Store

STR. REINDEER,

LOCAL TIME TABLE.
Daily, Sundays Excepted. Five times Wednesday, April 2nd, 1918. Subject to change without notice.

	A. M.	P. M.
Napance	Leave 6:42	Leave 1:15
Deseronto	7:10	2:04
Hough's	7:20	2:25
Thompson's Point	7:30	2:35
Glen Island	7:40	2:45
Glenora	7:50	2:55
Pictou	8:00	3:05
Pictou	Leave 8:20	3:10
Thompson's Point	10:10	3:40
Hough's	10:20	3:50
Deseronto	Arrive 11:00	4:20
Deseronto	Leave 1:15	4:35
Hough's	2:04	4:45
Thompson's Point	2:25	4:55
Glen Island	2:35	5:05
Glenora	2:45	5:15
Pictou	2:55	5:25
Napance	3:05	5:35
Stop on signal.

CONNECTIONS.
At Deseronto with Bay of Quinte and Grand Trunk Railway Trains for all points East, West and North; with Steamer Ella Ross for Upper Bay Ports. At Pictou with Central Ontario Railway.

JAS. COLLIER, Captain.

Lax-ets 5 C Sweet to Eat.
A Candy Bowel Laxative.

SOLD BY
M. S. MADOLE,
Phone 13.

Owing to the Increase of my Grocery Business

I am obliged to sell my

BOOTS AND SHOES

to make room for my stock. Now is the time to get your winter's supply

at Costs.

Come early and get the choice at

W. H. KELLY'S.

The steamer Reindeer will make her last trip of the season from Deseronto on Saturday and from Napance, if the ice permits.

The W. A. Rose Co., have their stock of over two thousand different kinds of fancy goods marked down in price and ready for sale. All must be sold. Come and get first choice.

W. A. Rose.

An accident happened on the K and P Railway at Sydenham, on Wednesday afternoon. The train from the north was just entering the station when one of the wheels on one of the coaches slipped upon the axle derailling the car, smashing it into kindling wood against the side of a small rock cut and severely injuring a number of passengers, principally returning hunters from the north country. Had the accident happened a few feet nearer the station the car would have rolled down the embankment into the lake and a greater disaster would have been probable.

A. S. Kimmery will sell 25ct pkg.
Banner or Saxon Oats 20c; Salada black or green tea 25c or 25c off;
Handy Ammonia 8c; 50 clothes pins 5c; 22 Nutmegs 5c; Redpath's best granulated sugar $1.70 per 100; Royal Yeast Cake 1c; Electric Stove Paste
5c; Black Jack 8c; box 1 pkg. Corn Starch 25c; Coal Oil 1c; gal; Cow
Brand Soda 1c. Our 25c Tea has no equal in this town. Pressed hay wanted, also good oats.

Last Friday morning flames were seen issuing from St. Andrew's church, a Presbyterian mission on the York Road, a couple of miles west of Deseronto, and before daybreak all that was left of the pretty little house of worship was a pile of ashes. It is not known how the fire originated, but it looks as if it had been set on fire, as there had been no fire of any kind around the place for quite a while.
The loss is complete, except for an insurance of $1,000. St. Andrew's church was built in 1898 as an outlying mission of the Church of the Redeemer. Divinity students from Queen's College have always conducted the services there. The first missionary was Mr. McIlroy, who also superintended the erection of the church. He was followed by Messrs. Sharpe, Mc-Millan, Thyme, Yeomans, Shaver, Salisbury, Little and Ammesley. Of the above Rev. Mr. Yeomans was a retired minister, who took the charge for a season. The building was of frame construction, the interior being finished in wood of varying shades, making it one of the prettiest little churches imaginable. The loss is a severe one to the congregation, as it is improbable that it will be rebuilt.
During the nine years of its life, however, much good was done through the services held there.—Deseronto Tribune.

Dean Dobb, is to be complimented on this large addition to the communion of the church. Large congregations listened to His Lordship's powerful sermons, both at the morning and evening service.

An Onion Breath.

Is not so offensive if you use the Breath-Smax, that are sold at Wallace's Drug Store, 5 cents.

Napanee Choral Club.

At a general meeting of the Club held on Wednesday evening, November 18th, it was decided to engage Mr. Dan Cameron, of Albert College, Belleville, as Director for the coming season. Mr. Cameron hopes to meet all the old members on Tuesday evening, November 24th, in the Town Hall, at 7.30 p. m. New members made welcome.

Secretary.

Liquid Veneer.

The best polish in town, yes, in Canada, for removing grease, dust, dirt, stains, and all foreign matter. It can be applied with a piece of cheese cloth, and will carry this dust and dirt away and not distribute it. Try it on your piano, furniture, woodwork and carriages. Nothing better for cleaning your hardwood floor. Your money back, if all we advertise is not correct.
M. S. MADOLE.

Historical Meeting.

The November meeting of the Lennox and Addington Historical Society will be held in Historical Hall, Library Building, on Friday evening, November 27th, at 8 o'clock. Prof. J. L.
Morrison, of Queens University, Kingston, will lecture, taking as a subject
"Sir Walter Raleigh, the Pioneer of English Colonization. This meeting is open for the public. Entrance free, and the Society extends to all a cordial invitation to attend. Friday evening,
Nov. 27th, 8 p. m.

CLEVER STORIES.

In the Family Herald and Weekly Star this week, there begins a series of short stories entitled "The Old Home House" which are very clever. A complete story appears in each week's paper. There are eleven in all. Every paragraph means roars of laughter and enjoyment. The Family Herald and Weekly Star certainly gives big value for one dollar in a whole year's reading of that great paper. It is said the Family Herald and Weekly Star rarely loses a subscriber, and old subscribers this season are renewing months ahead so as not to miss a single paper. The Family Herald and Weekly Star becomes more valuable every year and it should find a place in every Canadian home.

OBITUARY.

Maurice N. Asselstine died in Minneapolis, Minn., on Tuesday morning, November 3rd. He was the third son of Samuel N. Asselstine, of Hawley.
Being of a sunny disposition, he was a favorite with all who knew him. He was a good dutiful son and a loving brother. His life was full of promise, being in his twentieth year and a splendid type of young manhood.
This dear boy came to his death under particularly sad circumstances, his death being caused by an accident in an elevator in the city where he died.
The "Wide Awake Circle" and the "Hawley Football Association" to which he belonged, each sent beautiful floral offerings besides many other floral offerings from friends. Besides his parents he leaves three sisters,
Mrs. Elgin Ungar, of Minneapolis, Minn., Miss Elizabeth Asselstine, of Chicago, Adah and two brothers,
Tollison and Isaac Asselstine at home.
The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. De Mille at the Hawley Bethel church in the absence of their pastor.

CRESOLENE ANTISEPTIC TABLETS

A simple and effective remedy for

SORE THROATS AND COUGHS

They combine the germicidal value of Cresolene with the soothing properties of slippery elm and licorice. Your druggist or from us, 10c in stamps.
LESLIE, MILLS CO., Limited, Agents, Montreal, 401

ladies a neat sum.

WE SELL GOOD.....

BOOTS and SHOES

at Low Prices

The Peoples' Shoe Store,

Hawley & Maybee,

Opposite Royal Hotel.

Curling Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Napanee
Curling Club was held in the Public Library, on Thursday evening of last week. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Patron—F. S. Richardson.
Pres.—U. M. Wilson.
Vice-Pres.—H. Daly.
Sec'y.—R. G. H. Travers.
Treas.—J. W. Robinson.
Executive Committee—J. S. Ham,
W. A. Bellhouse, C. I. Maybee, J. L.
Boyes, W. C. Smith.

Ice Committee—W. C. Smith, C. I.
Maybee, H. Daly.
The prospects are that the membership of the Curling Club will be larger this year than usual. The list is now in the hands of the officers, and those desirous of signing should do so at once, in order that the making up of the rinks and the appointing of skips may be completed as early as possible.

A few suggestive articles that are useful, carpet sweepers, table kettles, tea or coffee pots. Every article we sell is good.

BOYLE & SON.

Another accident happened at the new Brisco Opera House on Thursday morning.
A farmer driving past the scaffolding on the east side displaced two of the supports of the scaffolding and shortly afterwards when Messrs. Ed. Hayes and Frank Mar-acle went up on the scaffold it sank down and they fell with it, receiving a bad shaking up, but no serious injuries.

SPECIAL!

25 Ladies' Fur Lined Coats

at Special Prices.

See our Leader at $50.00

Graham & Vanaalstyne.

BUTTONS COVERED

AT SHORTEST NOTICE

Mail Orders

for same given Prompt Attention.

JAMES WALTERS,
Merchant Tailor, Napanee.

DEATH'S HARVEST

HAROLD ROCKWELL.

Only son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rockwell, died on Wednesday, of typhoid fever, after a few weeks illness. He was employed by The Robinson Co., and was a bright young man and a general favorite, and just entering into manhood, being aged nine years, one month, and twenty five days. The funeral will take place from his father's residence, John street, this (Friday) afternoon at 2 o'clock, services to be held at the house, and the interment at Riverside cemetery.

RICHARD JONES.

An employee of the Campbell House died suddenly on Saturday. Deceased was taken with convulsions on Friday evening and died the following afternoon. He was thirty years and eight months of age and leaves a widow but no family. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon to St. Mary Magdalene's church and the remains placed in Riverview cemetery vault.

HATTIE E. VANDEWATER.

Wife of Morley H. Shibley, passed away in Belleville hospital on Wednesday of typhoid fever, after a few weeks illness. Mrs. Shibley had been nursing several fever patients in Napanee and vicinity and succumbed to the same disease. She was born in Sidney township about 43 years ago and leaves besides her husband, two children, two brothers and five sisters.

JOHN GAULT.

After ten years of illness and untold suffering, Mr. John Gault passed away on Friday, November 13th. About ten years ago he suffered a stroke, from which he never recovered and death came as a relief to his sufferings. Deceased leaves besides his wife, four children, one son and three daughters. The son, Perry Gault, is in Battleford, Sask., Nellie in Toronto, Winnie in Winnipeg and Jessie at home. Misses Nellie and Winnie arrived home a few days before their father's death. Deceased was fifty-eight years of age and a stonemason by trade. The funeral was held at the family residence on Sunday afternoon last and the remains taken to Deseronto cemetery for interment.

STEPHEN GIBSON.

For many years Registrar of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, and known from one end of the county

PERSONALS

Mrs. Dr. Leonard is spending a few days in Toronto.

Agnes Alderdice, Princess street, Kingston, has returned home, after spending a very pleasant time in Odessa, the guest of Mrs. W. C. Babcock.

It is published in the western press that Rev. Father Hogan, of Perth, is a choice for the bishopric of London, Ont., vacant by Bishop McEvoy's transferral to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Asselstine and family hereby tender their thanks and appreciation of the many kindnesses shown them by their friends and neighbors in their recent affliction.

A. G. Burrows is home from Cobalt, where he acted as inspector of mining claims for the government.

Mr. J. J. Minchinton is still seriously ill in Kingston General hospital suffering from Locomotor Ataxia.

Robert Anderson, Tanana, Alaska, arrived in town last week and spent a few days the guest of his cousin, Mrs. William Vine, after an absence of twenty years.

Mrs. Ostrander and daughter, Ruth, of Picton, spent a few days last week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Laidley.

Miss Minnie Carr has been obliged to return to her home in Guelph on account of the serious illness of her mother.

Miss Collins, of Toronto, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. E. I. Boyle.

Mr. E. W. Grange, of Ottawa, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Grange.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Lapum returned to their home in Mexico on Wednesday.

Mr. W. S. Herrington, K. C., was in Montreal on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. R. Travers, Toronto, spent Tuesday the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. H. Travers.

Messrs. T. G. Carcallen, M. L. A., and J. W. Paul, M. L. A., are spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. Calver, of Bath, is spending a couple of weeks in town, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. N. Osborne.

Judge Clute, of Toronto, and Mr. John Gibson, of London, attended the funeral of Mr. Stephen Gibson last Tuesday.

Mrs. S. D. Clark, of Cherry Valley, left for home last Monday.

Dr. David J. Smith and his mother, Mrs. Darius Smith, went to Toronto on Kingston excursion last Friday.

Mr. Ernest Hall, of Montreal, in the C. P. R. office, is having his holidays, two weeks, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hall.

Miss Luella Hall spent last Sunday in Toronto with friends.

Mrs. Sylla Johnson, of Dakota, formerly of Moscow, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Rockwell.

Miss Edna Fraser presided at the organ in Trinity church on Sunday, in the absence of Miss L. Hall.

Mr. Harold McGreer left for Boston on Wednesday of last week.

Miss Maria Grange is spending a month in Toronto with friends.

Miss Jean Gibson spent the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Downey and family, Whitby. She also enjoyed a trip to Toronto with Mr. Downey and Miss Ruth Downey.

Mr. Sam Howard spent a few days last week in Toronto.

Chief of Police Graham returned on Wednesday from his hunting trip. He brought home two deer.

Mr. Ernest Bann, Hamilton, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. James Graham.

Mrs. John Watson, Melita, Man., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Taylor, Richmond.

Mr. W. A. Rockwell, Wellington, is in town for a few days.

Mr. John Lowry returned from Daubigh on Wednesday.

Mr. F. S. Wartman, Colebrooke, spent a few days this week in Ottawa.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ROYAL is the only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar. Makes the food more healthful and delicious

NO ALUM. NO PHOSPHATE OF LIME

Alum and phosphate powders are made from caustic mineral acids, which are injurious

IN ORDER THAT U

may have the opportunity of choosing a gift from our new Christmas goods before they are partially sold, we have opened our entire stock, consisting of the latest styles and best quality in

French Ebony Brushes and Hand Mirrors, Manicure Sets, Toilet Cases, Ladies' Hand Bags and Purses, Cuff and Collar Boxes,
French Perfumes (in fancy boxes from 25 cents to $5.00), Hill's Christmas Cards and Calendars, Fine Stationery, Lamps, Thermometers, Fancy Combs, etc.

NOTE.—It will not be necessary for you to purchase now, we will be pleased to reserve any article for you.

Leave your order with us for CUT FLOWERS from the Dale Estate Florists.

THE MEDICAL HALL

NAPANEE'S LARGEST DRUG STORE

FRED L. HOOPER.

days before their father's death. He ceased to fifty-eight years of age and a stonemason by trade. The funeral was held at the family residence on Sunday afternoon last and the remains taken to Deseronto cemetery for interment.

STEPHEN GIBSON.

For many years Registrar of the Counties of Lennox and Addington, and known from one end of the county to the other, passed away at Montreal on Saturday night, aged seventy years and eight months. Deceased had been ill for some time and a couple of weeks ago he went to Montreal, where an operation was successfully performed and Mr. Gibson was progressing towards recovery as well as could be expected, when he contracted pneumonia, and in his weakened state it proved more than he could stand and he passed away about 10 o'clock at night.

Mr. Gibson was born at St. Martins, Scilly Islands, on March 23rd, 1838, and came to Canada in 1858, settling first at Cobourg, where he studied law in the office of the late Wm. Kerr, K. C. After graduating he formed a partnership with the late W. H. R. Allison, K. C., of Picton, and practiced his profession there. Removing to Napanee in 1868, he entered into partnership with Mr. Jas. S. Cartwright, Esq., the present Master in Chambers at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. About twenty years ago he was appointed registrar, which position he occupied until his death. Deceased was married in 1873 to Mary, daughter of the late R. R. Clute, Esq., of Stirling, and sister of the Hon. Mr. Justice Clute, Toronto, who survives him.

Deceased was one of the most prominent members of Trinity church and a strong supporter of the Sabbath school, where he will be greatly missed. Deceased leaves a widow in delicate health, and a family of five children, four boys and one girl, to mourn the loss of a loving husband and indulgent father. The boys are all in the west and could not get home for the funeral, but his daughter, Miss Edith, arrived home from Trinity University on Saturday. The remains were brought to Napanee on Sunday noon and the funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, services being held at his late residence, Bridge street, and the remains placed in the family plot in Riverside cemetery.

GAS!

You know there's nothing like Gas Light to make your home or store look cheery. But do you know Gas is the cheapest of lights. It lights, warms, and ventilates. You can have a good white light of 50 candle power sufficient for most rooms at a cost of half a cent per hour.

Gas for Light, 15½c.

Per 100 Cubic Feet.

Gas for Fuel, 13c.

Per 100 Cubic Feet.

A light will consume from 2 to 3 cubic feet per hour.

A gas range from 10 to 12 cubic feet per hour.

A water heater from 10 to 12 cubic feet per hour.

Gas Log from 10 to 15 cubic feet per hour.

The Napanee Gas Co.

Mr. Ernest Lynn, Hamilton, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. James Graham.

Mrs. John Watson, Melita, Man., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Taylor, Richmond.

Mr. W. A. Reckwell, Wellington, is in town for a few days.

Mr. John Lowry returned from Denbigh on Wednesday.

Mr. F. S. Wartman, Colebrooke, spent a few days this week in Ottawa.

Mrs. Wilkinson, wife of the rector of Ferrie, is ill with typhoid fever, a result of the unsanitary conditions created by the loss of houses in the great fire. She is a daughter of W. H. Montray, of Stella.

Sheriff Hawley and Mr. W. A. Grange were in Bath on Thursday.

Mrs. M. C. Bogart returned this week from a visit with friends in Belleville.

Just a Word.

We have just to hand another large consignment of Lipton's celebrated tea at prices ranging from 25c, 10c, and 50c. They are fine, try our 25c, Ceylon Tea, it has no rival and is becoming more popular every day.

THE COXALL CO.

BIRTHS.

DAY—At Bath Road, Ont., on Nov. 4th, 1908, to Mr. and Mrs. H. Day, a daughter.

HAMBLY—At North Fredericksburgh, on Wednesday, Nov. 4th, 1908, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hambly, a daughter.

HEARNS—At Napanee, on Nov. 8th, to Mr. and Mrs. William Hearn, a son.

MARRIAGES.

HOWARD—DETJOR—On Nov. 11th, Annie Isabella, eldest daughter of William Detlor, Ernestown, to Percy Mortimer Howard, Amherst Island.

DEATHS.

GAULT—At Napanee, on Friday, Nov. 13th, 1908, John Gault, aged fifty-eight years.

JONES—At Napanee, on Saturday, Nov. 14th, 1908, Richard Thomas Jones, aged 31 years and eight months.

GIBSON—At Montreal, on Saturday, Nov. 14th, 1908, Stephen Gibson, born March 23rd, 1838.

HAMBLY—At North Fredericksburgh, on Saturday, Nov. 7th, 1908, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hambly.

AMEY—At Odessa, 7th Nov., Charlotte Homan, wife of Damon Amey, aged fifty-three years.

REES—At his sister's residence, Mrs. O. D. Lewis, Odessa, Nov. 16th, 1908, Charles Frederick Rees, son of the late Samuel John Rees. The funeral took place on Wednesday to Catarqui cemetery.

ROCKWELL—At Napanee, on Wednesday, November 18th, 1908, Harold Rockwell, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rockwell, aged 19 years, 1 month and 25 days.

Dunlop's Cut Flowers.

Order Dunlop's choice cut flowers at Wallace's Drug Store. Special prices to lodges, clubs, etc., for funeral designs.

VOLUNTEER BOUNTY ACT. 1908.

WARNING TO PURCHASERS.

EVERY assignment of the right of a South African Volunteer entitled to a land grant must be by way of appointment of a substitute and must be in the form provided by the Act.

Special attention is called to Sub-section 3 of Section 5 of the Volunteer Bounty Act, 1908, which provides that no assignment of the right of a volunteer by the appointment of a substitute shall be accepted or recognized by the Department of the Interior which is NOT EXECUTED AND DATED AFTER THE DATE OF THE WARRANT FOR THE LAND GRANT issued by the Minister of Militia and Defence in favor of the Volunteer.

J. W. GREENE, Esq.,

Commissioner of Dominion

Lands, Ottawa.

28th September, 1908.

THE MEDICAL HALL

NAPANEE'S LARGEST DRUG STORE

FRED L. HOOPER.

The Napanee Express

will be sent to any address in Canada from now until January 1st, 1910,

—for—

$1.00.

Send it to your friends.

Subscribe Now.

Agents Wanted at Every Post Office.

"AS GOOD AS DEAD."

Heart Disease that Baffled the Cleverest Physicians Gives Up the Fight—Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Wins Again.

It isn't a bit of boast to say that Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart works miracles every day. A Toronto lady, living on Queen street west, was given by her doctor "till morning at most to live," and when the life cord seemed just about to snap this great remedy was suggested as a last resort—and it saved the life—stopped the pain inside of 30 minutes, and today she is enjoying excellent health, free from all heart suffering. (19)

Sold by T. B. Wallace

WOOD FOR SALE.

CORD WOOD, STOVE WOOD,
SLAB WOOD.

Lindsay's Wood Yard

Leave orders at Fred Lloyd's Store.

S. LINDSAY.

500 Oak Children's Savings Banks

TO BE GIVEN AWAY

AT FISHER'S MUSIC :: STORE

In order to make this store more widely known, we shall give away, to each purchaser of the value of 10c, an Oak Child's Savings Bank, neatly and strongly made. This offer is good from 8 a. m. on Tuesday the 15th inst., and will continue until the 500 are given away.

No matter what you buy. Sheet Music, Post Cards, Stationery, Books, Pictures, Wallpapers and a host of other goods.

This is an advertising offer pure and simple, and there are only to be distributed, so those who come first will get them.

500 Savings Banks

FISHER'S MUSIC :: STORE

(Opposite Madill's)